BLUEBEARD HEARS DEATH SENTENCE WITHOUT EMOTION

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

VERSAILLES, Nov. 30.—Henri Landru, who has been on trial for more than three weeks in the Assizes court here, charged with the murder of ten women and a boy, was found guilty of murder in the first degree tonight. Landru was sentenced to die by the guillotine.

To all the forty-eight questions which the court submitted to the jury on the question of the guilt, innocence or mental capacity of the prisoner there was a verdict of guilty of premediated murder. No extentuating circumstances were included in this verdict. Landru heard the sentence of death without emotion.

The jury required three hours, including a brief respite for dinner to prepare replies to the forty-eight questions the court submitted to it.

M. Moro-Giafferi, defense counsel, finished his summing up this afternoon, after which Judge Gilbert read forty-eight questions to the jury. The first was whether Landru was guilty of murder with premeditation in the case of Mme. Cochet. Questions also were put as to his mental condition.

NOT LEGALLY DEAD.

M. Moro-Giafferi cast doubt on all the prosecution's evidence. He reminded the jury that a person could be proclaimed legally dead only when missing thirty years. He cited cases of missing persons having returned years afterward.

"A white slaver, yes; an assassin, never!" he exclaimed, pointing toward Landru. He added that the possession by the prisoner of papers identifying his alleged victims corroborated the theory that Landru probably had sent the women abroad with false papers in "white slave" traffic.

"These women all are alive," he said, referring to the ten women Landru was charged with killing, "but they are ashamed to make their whereabouts known."

SHOUTS TO JURY.

"I am innocent!" Landru shouted to the jury. This was the first time in the thirty-two months since he was arrested that he had used the word "innocent" in public. Heretofore he had contented himself with saying: "Show me my guilt." Today, however, he was showing more emotion than at any time during his trial.

During the short address he made to the jury, Landru declared: "I have never killed anyone; I am innocent. Jurors, do your duty!"

JURORS GET CASE SOON.

Arbuckle's Trial Nearing End.

Evidence Presented to Aid Los Angeles Woman Who is Facing Charge.

BY OTIS M. WILLIS.
Staff Correspondent of "The Times."
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The Arbuckle case may be handed to the jury late tomorrow afternoon. It will positively be presented to the jury before noon Friday. These facts were definitely established late today when Arbuckle's attorneys rested his defense and expressed eagerness to refer the case to the jury without arguments. The state demanded a four-hour argument and the defense announced that it, too, would consume this much time.

The closing of Arbuckle's defense was announced by Chief Counsel Gavin McNab, after he had called only one rebuttal witness, Dist. Atty. Brady and his corps of prosecutors were dumfounded. The prosecution had girded itself to meet the onslaught of a whole flock of rebuttal witnesses, but the defense only announced it was through.

McNab was willing to submit the case to the jury without argument.

INTEND TO ARGUE.

"We intend to argue the case," said Deputy Dist.-Atty. U'Ren. The defense then said three hours would be sufficient, but the State demanded at least four hours and won.

"There are over 2000 pages of transcript in the report of this case," U'Ren said, "there are 1400 pages of testimony which must be digested in place before the jury. Four hours will be required to do this."

Attorneys U'Ren and Friedman will argue for the prosecution. McNab will present the defense side. He may be assisted by Nat Schmulowitz.

The morning session tomorrow will be taken up with the report of three medical experts who were assigned to determine whether or not the bladder of Miss Rappe was healthy or diseased at the time of the girl's death.

MEDICAL EVIDENCE.

Two additional medical experts for the prosecution also are to present rebuttal testimony for the prosecution. They were unable to appear in court today. After the introduction of their testimony and the presentation of the report, arguments will be opened.

Mrs. Lulu Corey was the lone rebuttal witness called for the defense. She took the witness stand this afternoon to rebut the testimony of Mrs. Mary Paulin, hostess at Wheeler Hot Springs. Mrs. Paulin had rebutted the testimony of Mrs. Minnie Neighbors. Mrs. Neighbors had declared on the stand that she had seen Miss Rappe at the resort last August. Mrs. Paulin testified that Miss Rappe had never visited the resort at all. Mrs. Corey supported the testimony of Mrs. Neighbors.

Mrs. Corey is in charge of the lounge at Wheeler Hot Springs. She stated she had rented a bathing cap to Miss Rappe, that she had seen the girl in the plunge with a party of young persons, and had conversed with Mrs. Neighbors at that time regarding Miss Rappe.

Judge Louderback at 3:30 announced a recess until 10 a.m. tomorrow.

REBUTTAL TEDIOUS.

Rebuttals this morning fogged the entire trial and inspired many yawns. In attempting to impeach defense witnesses the prosecution repassed almost the entire testimony.

JAPANESE STAND PAT FOR INCREASED NAVAL RATIO.

Insistence Halts Progress of Arms Meet; Creates Delicate Situation; America Won't Yield.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Japan's proposal for a 70 per cent fleet as necessary to her national security, instead of a 60 per cent fleet, has been formally presented to the United States and Great Britain. Admiral Baron Kato, senior Japanese delegate, has communicated it to Secretary Hughes and A. J. Balfour. It is said in Japanese quarters to have the full support of the Japanese Cabinet and diplomatic advisory council in Tokio.

American and British naval experts, standing together on Secretary Hughes's 5-5-3-plan as the only one fair to all, regard the Japanese proposal as unacceptable. In the opinion of some American delegates, the situation is delicate, but not without hope that the Japanese ultimately will accept the original plan.

The seriousness of the turn of affairs in the opinion of the Americans is that Japan in persisting in her request for a 10-10-7 ratio, makes a stroke at the fundamental idea on which Secretary Hughes's proposal is based.

BASED ON NECESSITY.

Japan's proposal, it was disclosed, was based on her estimate of necessity for national security. It was pointed out that if consideration of national security were to be submitted for a continuation of fleets at reduced tonnage but in the same ratio as now exists, the whole basis of the conference would be upset.

On the basis of national security it was said, neither the United States nor Great Britain would agree to the 60 per cent ratio, which the Hughes plan would allow Japan.

Secretary Hughes and his three colleagues spent nearly three hours tonight debating the situation.

TECHNICAL QUESTIONS.

Baron Kato's action swept away the deliberations of the experts considering American limitation plans. They have had to do only with technical questions of tonnage estimates involved in the American proposal to limit fleets on the basis of existing relative strength in capital ships. Japan has now taken the matter out of that field.

British experts are in full accord with the Americans that the 5-5-3-proposal is the only possible road to an agreement that is fair to all, particularly in view of the enormous disproportion of the sacrifices in ships and money the United States has offered to undertake. The two powers are agreed also that previous efforts of the Japanese to base their claim for 70 per cent on a calculation of existing strength which would exclude ships under construction, are

SHANTUNG HAS FLOOR.

America, Britain Takes Hand.

China and Japan Accept Hughes and Balfour as Friendly Advisors.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Bringing with it some of the sharpest issues of world diplomacy, the Shantung controversy took its place today at the Arms Conference.

The result was an offer by the United States and Great Britain accepted by Japan and China to assume the role of friendly advisors in a new attempt to solve the problem and end the long and bitter debate.

The plan for an exercise of American and British "good offices" is understood to have originated with the American delegation after it became apparent China had resolved to raise the question in the conference.

Secretary Hughes and A. J. Balfour, as the heads of the American and British groups, will meet tomorrow with the Japanese and Chinese to lay the basis for the negotiations.

CHINA WON'T YIELD.

The Chinese delegates announced tonight they would go into the discussions prepared to accept nothing less than unconditional withdrawal of the Japanese claims in Shantung. It was assumed the Japanese spokesman would contend for the reservations insisted on in the diplomatic exchange between Tokio and Peking.

Advent of the Shantung question at the council table followed a debate on the maintenance of foreign troops in China. Speaking for Japan, Vice-Foreign Minister Hanihara declared withdrawal of the Japanese troops from several parts of China outside Shantung must await definite assurances that the Chinese authorities would take more effective steps to maintain order.

REPEATED DISORDERS.

At Hankow, said the Japanese delegate, repeated disorders had justified Japan in keeping her troops where they now are stationed. He declared garrisons in North China were remaining under specific authorization of the Boxer protocol and that those along the Chinese Eastern Railway were acting under the inter-Allied agreement of 1919. Willingness of Japan to withdraw her troops from Shantung, he asserted, was dependent on the establishment of an acceptable Chinese police force.

The conference reserved its decision until Friday. Among the American delegates the belief was that some general declaration of principle might be adopted finally, setting forth the opinion of the powers that all foreign troops in China, without treaty sanction should be withdrawn when conditions warrant.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

Along with the general subject of foreign troops the problem of foreign telegraph and radio facilities installed in China without her specific consent were brought up with the argument apparently tending toward a reference of that feature of the negotiations to a more general conference on Pacific communications to be held next year.

In its approach to the Shantung problem, the conference is said to have been influenced by many intricate considerations. China's representatives have indicated that

LETTERS OF WHITTLESEY ARE FOUND.

Captain of Steamer Given Missives to Mail; Says Act Was Premeditated.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HAVANA, Nov. 30.—What compelling motive sent Lieut.-Col. C. W. Whittlesey, commander of the "Lost Battalion," overboard into the sea only a few hours out from New York Saturday night, may be revealed in letters to his family and business associates, which he left for Capt. Grant of the steamer Tolon to deliver.

Nine of these letters were in the captain's possession when the Tolon docked tonight. He also received a note from Col. Whittlesey, which he declared he regarded as confidential.

"I can say, however, that from all appearances the act was premeditated," he declared.

"The first intimation I had that he had disappeared was Monday. It appears he had struck up an acquaintance with A. Maloret, a passenger, and conversed with him until 11:15 Saturday night, when he left suddenly, saying he would retire. He was not seen afterward.

"On Sunday Mr. Maloret inquired for him, but thought he was ill, as we were meeting heavy weather."

STONE AXES IN IRELAND

London Expects Normalcy Soon.

All Government Business Giving Way to Gravity of Situation.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—All government business is giving way to the gravity of the Irish situation. Both government and Irish circles express the feeling that only a miracle can avert collapse of the conference and renewal of warfare.

It had been intended to hold a Cabinet council tonight to consider German reparations, but this was postponed to permit the special Cabinet committee dealing with Irish affairs to assemble. Lord Birkenhead, due to speak at a political meeting in Liverpool, was obliged to stay here. He sent a message of apology, explaining his absence was owing to the "grave public affairs."

SINN FEIN FIRM.

A spokesman of the Sinn Fein declared there was no intention by the Sinn Fein to alter its attitude toward either the unity of Ireland or allegiance to the crown. Sinn Fein representatives denied the statement of a London paper that the Sinn Fein had consented to agree to a plan whereby Ulster would contract with an all-Irish Parliament, retaining her existing rights until, or unless, she changes her mind; to form an allegiance "which ought to be satisfactory to any British Minister who is not purely a formalist," to the appointment of a boundary commission to delimit the present political and religious frontier of Ulster, in order to distribute the populations between the north and the south on a more satisfactory basis.

TAKE NEW SCHEME.

Regarding the suggestion that the government will propose a new scheme to Ulster, Sinn Fein delegates say they are not concerned with it and refuse to share the government's responsibility for it. There was another session tonight of the British delegates, but nothing was forthcoming.

"Whatever the result, Mr. Lloyd George will go to Washington," one official said.

It was stated at Sinn Fein headquarters that such a move by the Premier would not be viewed with patience or without suspicion, for the reason that if Irish-American support was weakened, in consequence of the Premier's visit, the Sinn Fein might be forced to modify its demand, on which it feels now in a position to persist.

The impossibility of maintaining the truce long after the breakdown of the conference is realized. The view expressed by the Sinn Feiners is there would be no formal denunciation of the truce, but that it would "quickly decay."

ENNIS (Ireland) Nov. 30.—Eamon de Valera today, in an address here declared if peace in Ireland was not brought about it would not be because "there is not the will on the part of Ireland to make it, but because those opposed to us in Ireland do not want to make peace with us."

"I may tell you," he continued, "that we stand today exactly where we stood, and for the principles for which we stood four years ago. We have gone as far as we can go consistent with those principles, for peace; we cannot, and will not, go further. If we go further, it would be for us to betray those principles which have been fought for by generations of Irishmen."

NAB MAN, GIRL; MORE ARRESTS EXPECTED SOON

Round-up of "The Wrecking Crew," asserted gang of desperate robbers, was instituted by the police last night following the capture of Taylor (Tommy) C. Conway, 28, on a charge of burglary, and Hazel Summers, alias Blonde Lillian, 22, on suspicion of burglary.

A determined search for Conway, who is wanted by police in connection with the series of fur and gem robberies, ended last night when Detective Sergeant William Cahill took him single-handed after the man made a lunge for his automatic revolver.

The arrests are in the order of a sequence to the recovery of $100,000 worth of stolen furs by Detective Sergeants Cahill, Cline and Cato last week and the booking of two Los Angeles business men on charges of receiving stolen property. The two men in question are Samuel Jacobson, 57, wholesale fur agent, and Joseph Rosengarten, 27, proprietor of the Bear Fur Company, Seventh and Hope streets. Rosengarten is still in jail under $12,500 bail, on an additional charge of embezzlement filed by Isidore Allen as the outgrowth to the finding of 385 ermine skins, consigned to the former and reported stolen from his shop.

OFFICER'S CLEVER COUP.

Detective Cahill engineered a clever coup last night in effecting the arrest of Conway and "Blonde Lillian." He spotted the girl downtown and followed her to an apartment-house at Thirtieth and South Flower streets. Then he placed her under arrest, having located Conway's residence, and cautiously made his way to the suite of rooms rented by the couple.

He says that when he entered the room where Conway was, the long-sought prisoner made a dive for his automatic revolver. He disarmed him, he said, and took him to Central Police Station.

Conway is alleged to have been one of the "wreckers" who helped steal $30,000 worth of furs from the Neumann Fur Company, 136 South Western avenue, on the night of May 14. He also is accused by the officers of having disposed of the furs to Jacobson and Rosengarten. He is implicated, according to Detective Cahill, in the looting of six other fur establishments, in the robbing of a millionaire's mansion, and in the rifling of the safe in a downtown office of bonds and money.

GIRL KNOWS MUCH.

The girl arrested with him is strikingly pretty. She is believed by police to have considerable information concerning recent big robberies and the disposal of the loot. She has been posing as Conway's wife for several months, police said.

Conway was belligerent when arrested. He made sharp inquiries in an attempt to discover who had given information as to his whereabouts.

"This will all come out in the wash," he remarked significantly to Detective Cahill.

The "wreckers," eight in number, have terrorized Los Angeles since last winter. The majority came to Los Angeles from San Francisco. Detective Sergeants Cahill, Cline and Cato announced last night that they are confident of arresting the remaining members of the gang within a few days

BANKS ARE SWINDLED.

Bold Adventurer Gets $128,000.

Forged Stock and Pledged Bogus Securities for Loans From Others.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Four banks, two of them in this city, are out $128,000 through the financial operations of Monte Berg, adventurer, revolutionist in Venezuela, and American soldier in France, it was charged today by State Banking Superintendent Jonathan Dodge.

Berg, who was president of two Mountain county banks, is alleged to have forged stock of his banks and pledged the bogus securities for loans from other banks. The swindled banks are: The Union Trust Company of San Francisco, $50,000; Bank of Italy, $35,000; Bank of D. O. Mills, Sacramento, $12,000; Bank of Washoe County, $41,000.

BERG HAS DISAPPEARED.

Berg has disappeared, it is charged and the State Banking Superintendent has heard it rumored that he is on his way to Honduras, he said.

According to Dodge, Berg, 33 years of age, is of prepossessing appearance and a clever talker. About a year and a half ago he married Mrs. Adkins, a widow of a shipping man, who was wealthy and possessed a fine home in Oakland.

His first venture in banking was when he bought 233 shares of the Indian Valley Bank of Greenville, Plumas county. Soon after he made this investment he was made president of that institution.

It is supposed that he used his wife's money in this investment. With 233 shares of genuine stock of the Indian Valley Bank, he went to the Angio and London Paris Bank in this city and borrowed $23,000. That looked so easy, he told Dodge after the investigation began, that he decided he would make some stock. First, however, he bought stock in the Sierra County Bank of Loyalton, which institution also made him president.

FORGED CERTIFICATES.

Then, according to the State Superintendent of Banking, Berg began to forge stock certificates. So far as known, he turned out 400 shares of bogus stock of the Indian Valley Bank and also manufactured stock of the Sierra County Bank. With these worthless securities he borrowed in rapid succession $50,000 from the Union Trust Company; $25,000 from the Bank of Italy; $12,000 from the Bank of D. O. Mills and, $41,000 from the Bank of Washoe County.

About three weeks ago, through banking reports, Supt. Dodge learned that Berg was borrowing money on stock certificates. These were soon found to be spurious, and Dodge removed Berg from the presidency of both his banks.

Recently the Bank of Washoe began suit against Berg to recover $41,000 obtained by hypothecating bogus stock certificates. The facts of Berg's operations were laid before the District Attorneys of both Plumas and Sierra counties, but before either they or the California Bankers' Association could take action, Berg disappeared. Mrs. Berg and her 6-months-old baby by Berg are still in Oakland.

TWO BANKS ARE SAFE.

Supt. Dodge said that the Indian Valley Bank and the Sierra County Bank suffered no loss. Both have elected new presidents of unquestioned financial standing and are, says Dodge, entitled to the confidence and support of their communities.

Of the five outside banks with which Berg dealt, all are swindled except the Angio London and Paris Bank, which advanced money on genuine stock. This stock was recently redeemed by officials and depositors of the Indian Valley Bank.

While Berg was president of the Sierra County Bank at Loyalton, a report was made that the bank had been held up and robbed. A Japan Becoming Storm Center of Whole Armament Conference.

TOKIO HAS NO INTENTION OF QUITTING MANCHURIA

Delegate Explains the Reasons for Keeping Great Force in Chinese Territory.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—That Japan has no intention of withdrawing from Manchuria was disclosed today at the session of the Conference Committee on Far Eastern Questions. In response to China's proposal that all foreign troops be withdrawn from China, Mr. Hanihara of the Japanese delegation stated that Japan is ready to agree upon conditions for withdrawal of forces from those parts of China, exclusive of Manchuria, in which they are now stationed.

In Manchuria, however, Japan insists upon the retention of Japanese soldiers and police and Hanihara defended the attitude of his government in this particular at length. That Japan will refuse to yield and will retain her control in Manchuria, while compromising on other Chinese questions, is now regarded as a foregone conclusion.

THERE UNDER TREATY.

Hanihara said that the maintenance of Japanese troops along the South Manchurian Railway is recognized by China under the treaty of Peking of 1905, and continued:

"It is a measure of absolute necessity under the existing state of affairs in Manchuria—a region which has been made notorious by the activity of mounted bandits, even in the presence of Japanese troops, bandits have made repeated attempts to raid the railway zone. In a large number of cases they have cut telegraph lines and committed other acts of ravage.

"Their lawless activity on an extended scale has, however, been effectively checked by Japanese railway guards, and greater security has been maintained for civilian residents in and around the railway zone. The efficiency of such guards will be made all the more significant by a comparison of the conditions prevailing in the railway zone with those prevailing in the districts remote from the railway.

AT MERCY OF BANDITS.

"The withdrawal of railway guards from the zone of the South Manchuria Railway will no doubt leave those districts at the mercy of bandits, and the same conditions of unrest will there prevail as in remote corners of Manchuria. In such a situation it is not possible for Japan to forego the right, or rather the duty of maintaining railway guards in Manchuria, whose presence is duly recognized by treaty."

The Japanese delegate stated that Japanese troops would be withdrawn from Shantung when China is able to protect the railway from Hankow, and restores order there, and from North China, where foreign garrisons are stationed under the Boxer protocol, when the powers agree on conditions warrant it. The Japanese troops along the Chinese Eastern Railway in Siberia, he said, would be withdrawn "as soon as the evacuation of Siberia by the Japanese troops is effected."

JAPAN'S DEFENSE.

Hanihara's defense of the maintenance of Japanese police in Manchuria follows:

(1.) Such police do not interfere with Chinese or other foreign nationals. Their functions are strictly confined to the protection and control of Japanese subjects.

(2.) The most important duties with which the Japanese police are charged, are, first to prevent the commission of crimes by Japanese, and second, to find and prosecute Japanese criminals when crimes are committed.

"In view of the geographical proximity of the two countries, it is natural that certain disorderly elements in Japan should move to China and taking advantage of the present conditions in that country, should they undertake unlawful activities. When these lawless persons are caught in the act of crime by Chinese police, it is not difficult for that police force to deal with the case. The culprits are handed over as early as possible to the Japanese authorities for prosecution and trial.

"But when the criminals flee from the scene of their acts, it is in many cases hard to discover who committed the crimes and what were the causes and circumstances that led up to their commission. This is more difficult for the Chinese authorities, as they have no power to make domiciliary visits to the homes of foreigners, who enjoy extraterritorial rights, or to obtain judicial testimony in due form from such foreigners.

MANY ESCAPE PUNISHMENT.

"Without the full co-operation of the Japanese police, therefore, the punishment of crime is, in a great many cases, an impossibility, and those who are responsible for law breaking, escape trial and punishment.

"This tendency is especially evident in Manchuria, in which region hundreds of thousands of Japanese are residents. In places where the Japanese police are stationed, there are far fewer criminal cases among Japanese than places without Japanese police. Lawless elements constantly move to districts beyond the reach of Japanese police supervision.

"Apart from the theoretical side of the question it will thus be observed that the stationing of Japanese police in the interior of China has proved to be of much practical usefulness in the prevention of crimes among Japanese residents without interfering with the daily life of Chinese or of other foreign nationals. The Japanese policing provides a protection for the Chinese communities which, at present, their own organization fails to provide."

SHANTUNG HAS FLOOR AT MEET

they wanted the questions raised openly for all of the nine nations to debate and one Chinese delegate, Dr. Wang, declared that the "good offices" negotiations by no means meant the subject was "outside the conference."

Japan has indicated reluctance to debate Shantung at the regular conference sessions, because she accepted the invitation to Washington with the understanding specific subjects should be considered only by the nations directly concerned.

ANOTHER COMPLICATION.

Another complicating phase is that Japan bases her claim to Shantung on a direct grant contained in the Treaty of Versailles which has been ratified by five of the nine nations represented, but which China refused to accept because of the Shantung section. Great Britain, France and Italy also are parties to the secret treaties by which, during the war, they promised to support Japan's claim to the Kiao-Chow lease. The American delegation is said to have felt that the proper way to deal with the question at the present stage would be through the tender of "good offices."

Although maintaining liaison with the conference, it is expected that for the most part the negotiations will be carried on directly between the Chinese and Japanese delegates.

ARMS PARLEY IN NUTSHELL.

"Times" is Issuing Special Edition Weekly on Historical Conference.

Every Friday during the Disarmament Conference now in progress in Washington The Times will reprint from its daily issues a special illustrated four-page edition giving all the important developments of the history-making parley of nations for the week preceding. The first was issued Friday, November 18.

The Times has arranged for exhaustive reports on the proceedings of the conference to be written by experts of international reputation. These reports, which are those appearing daily in The Times, will be conveniently arranged and edited and will all appear in this weekly summary of the conference without the interpolation of other extraneous news matter. For the many persons who desire to preserve a complete record of this peace parley of the world powers, incomparably the most important one in history, these special editions will be of immense value.

The four-page sheets will not be included in the regular editions of The Times, but are on sale at the Los Angeles main and branch offices of The Times at the nominal price of 5 cents, or will be mailed to any address on receipt of that sum in stamps. They will be furnished free to any schoolteacher on application.

ARBUCKLE CASE IS NEAR CLOSE.

avenue, Hollywood; George Mehan, a cameraman of 1522 Rodney Drive, Hollywood, and Mrs. Minnie Buck, a nurse from Los Angeles, all testified that to their knowledge Miss Rappe had always been in good health.

Mr. White directed Miss Rappe in "Twilight Baby." Mr. Meehan "shot" her scenes. Mrs. Buck was employed for ten days as her companion. Mr. White is to be recalled as a defense rebuttal witness.

Then the prosecution began paging three of its medical experts. They were to rebut the testimony of the defense expects, but all three had gone A.W.O.L.

Mrs. Mary Paulin, hostess at Wheeler Hot Springs, was called back by the defense. Mrs. Paulin's testimony on the previous day had caused the District Attorney to arrest Mrs. Minnie Neighbors, wife of James T. Neighbors, a former Los Angeles policeman, on a charge of perjury. Mrs. Neighbors had testified she had met Miss Rappe in August, 1921, at the resort, and that the girl had been seized with an abnormal paroxysm.

Mrs. Paulin testified later that Miss Rappe had never been at Wheeler Hot Springs. Mrs. Paulin said her memory was perfect; that she could remember every person who had visited the resort, for she was the official greeter and handshaker. Yet when Attorney Schumlowitz, for the defense, asked her to name every guest who had visited the springs during August, she replied she could not do so.

Schumlowitz read many names from the hotel register. She only recalled a few of the parties. She could not even recall any of the transient guests, including about 500 persons, and all of whom she declared she had greeted.

Dr. Rufus Rigdon, one of the A.W.O.L. medics, had returned. A fight over a hypothetical question asked him was being waged when noon recess was announced.

Mrs. Neighbors appeared before Police Judge Jacks this morning to answer to the perjury charge. An immediate trial was demanded by her attorney, Ernest L. Brune, but the case was set over until Friday.

Similar steps to impeach Irene Morgan, the wounded British war nurse, who testified that Miss Rappe had several paroxyms in her presence, were begun today by the prosecution. Deputy Dist.-Atty. O'Ren does not believe she told the truth on the witness stand and has ordered an investigation of her service overseas.

"If there's a case against Miss Morgan and it is no stronger than their case against Mrs. Neighbors, they are welcome to go ahead," said Attorney McNab.

Declares Newly Found Planet Only Asteroid.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Nov. 30.—The "planet" reported Monday in dispatches from South America to have been discovered by Prof. Hartmann of the University of La Plata, Argentina, is merely an asteroid, one of the innumerable small bodies which revolve in the solar system between the orbits of the planets Mars and Jupiter, it was stated today at the Harvard College observatory.

The largest asteroids ever discovered are estimated to be not more than 400 miles in diameter and the Harvard astronomers judge that the Hartmann asteroid is undoubtedly much smaller than this. There are more than 600 asteroids already known and as new ones are being detected at the rate of something like thirty a year, no great importance is attached to such discoveries on account of the fact that the smaller asteroids appear only as points of light even with the most powerful telescopes. Nothing like a measure of their size is possible, but many of those already discovered are believed to be not more than fifteen or twenty miles in diameter and there may be countless others too small to be detected with our present instruments.

JAPAN BLOCKS ARMAMENT MEET

Stands Pat for Increased Naval Ratio.

Insistence Creates Delicate Situation.

not within the scope of the agreement.

On a national security basis, the extent of American and British coast lines as compared to Japanese, American and British interests and obligations in the Far East, as compared to Japanese, the commercial enterprises of American and British citizens over the world as compared to Japanese, would have to be weighed, it was said. The comparison, it was added, would not admit of even a 60 per cent status for Japan.

Experts of the "big three" naval powers agreed today that they could not reach an accord on the basis of calculation to be used in measuring Japan's existing relative naval strength. They gave up the task and turned the problem back to their respective arms delegations. Upon its solution hangs the fundamental principle of the American proposal, the 5-5-3 capital ship ratio.

AGREES ON ACCURACY.

The experts were substantially in agreement as to the accuracy of estimates of naval strength of each power originally submitted by the American conference group, if the American plan of including all ships actually under construction in arriving at the ratio was followed. Japanese experts, however, insisted that this was not the proper basis of calculation, proposing instead to disregard all ships now building by either power in determining relative naval strength.

The plenary delegates of the two powers will continue the discussion from this point.

Firm determination of the American delegation to insist upon the 5-5-3 ratio and inclusion of ships building in any estimate of naval strength was reiterated tonight.

MIGHT BE DELAYS.

Since no call for an executive session of the conference delegates or for further meetings of the experts was issued, it was assumed an attempt to settle the point by informal interchanges between the American and Japanese delegates was in progress and might last several days.

The subcommittee of naval experts quit where they started, at the capital ship ratio. It is known that in two weeks of discussion they have not touched on any other point. Such items as the ten-year holiday, submarines, proportional allotments of tonnage in auxiliary craft were deferred until the capital ship ratio problem was solved. The arms conference still stands tonight, so far as its major objective—the naval agreement—goes, at that point.

In Japanese circles pleas to support the Japanese claim for a 70 per cent ratio were put forward, but they were based largely on questions of national security and not on claims as to present strength of the two navies. The only compilation of figures presented to support the 70 per cent estimate was that already authoritatively rejected by the American delegation, exclusion of all ships under construction from the calculation and inclusion by Japan of pre-dreadnaughts over twenty years old.

POINTS OF DIFFERENCE.

For the American delegation, the situation was described authoritatively as an agreement of the experts as to points of difference. These include minor questions relating to percentage of completion of ships under construction, whether battleships over twenty years old can be included in estimates of strength of modern navies and similar points. All of these, in the American view, are minor because they are questions of fact.

The major point of difference, however, the Japanese proposal to disregard ships under construction in calculating naval strength, is viewed as a matter of policy, and a suggestion that is not open to debate so far as the United States is concerned. Neither the American government nor the American people will consent, it was stated, to scrap fifteen capital ships, averaging 50 per cent complete, and on which more than $330,000,000 has been paid out as the equivalent of Japan's four new ships to be scrapped.

WIDE CONCESSION.

On every other possible basis of calculation considered by the experts, Japan could show not even the 60 per cent ratio proposed for her in the American plan. Application of the capital ship tonnage measurement to fix the ratio itself, is a wide concession to Japan, it is said.

Admiral Baron Kato, active leader of the Japanese delegation, refused tonight to throw any light on what his group planned to do. In view of the authoritative statement from the American delegation that the 70 per cent ratio suggestion would not be entertained, it appeared likely compromise offers from the Japanese were in order.

Great Storm Due to Cause Bad Weather.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The largest storm in area of the season, is tonight centering over interior Canada, due to cause unsettled weather in all parts of California tomorrow, according to the Weather Bureau officials here.

The storm extends from the Northern Pacific States to the Ohio Valley, running north into Canada's central sections and as far south as Texas, with attendant unsettled weather.

Rain is scheduled for Northern California and Northern Nevada, and snow will probably fall in the next twenty-four hours in the mountain ranges.

INVADING ARMY OF HOBOS BREAKS ALL RECORDS, SAYS CALIFORNIA RAILROAD MAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The number of hobos this year is greater than in any other year in the history of the Southern Pacific Company, Dan O'Connell, chief special agent for the railroad, said today. He said that 20,634 men stealing rides were put off the company's property in the month of October.

"A younger generation of hobos has arisen, not so wise to the ways of hoboing, with the result that many more lives are lost than formerly," he said. "The old-timers with their blanket rolls are disappearing and most of those beating their way on trains are under 30 years of age, many in their early twenties."

Sixty trespassers met their deaths on property of the railroad from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31, 1921. Of this number, according to the railroad official, twenty-two were killed by falling under wheels from trains and thirty-eight lost their lives by being struck by engines or cars.

"Trespassers generally are killed or maimed for life in accidents," said R. J. Clancy, in charge of safety work on the railroad. "The percentage of minor injuries is small."

TURIN ASKS DIVORCE FROM PRINCESS WIFE.

MOTION-PICTURE ACTOR FILES ACTION; MARITAL TANGLE EXPLAINED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BOSTON, Nov. 30. — Victor Turin, motion-picture actor, who recently appeared in support of Anita Stewart in "The Glory of Ulanda," today filed suit for divorce in Suffolk Superior Court against his wife, Nadine, formerly Prinness Najeda V. Troubetskey of Russia, alleging improper relations with Capt. Wallace Strait Schutz.

The charge in the suit grows out of a marital tangle of the thrice wedded former Princess, now living in Providence, R. I. While married to Turin, who was fighting with the American Army in France, she contracted a marriage with Capt. Schutz in April, 1920.

It is upon this marriage that the charge is based. Turin, when he returned from abroad, was told by a friend that his wife was being introduced as the wife of Schutz. He begged an introduction to Schutz.

JAP POSITION EXPLAINED.

Reasons for Keeping Large Bodies of Troops in China; Promises to Leave.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The position of Japan on dispatching and maintaining Japanese troops in China, to which China has presented objections, was roughly outlined tonight as follows:

Troops were originally sent to the Kiau Chau leased territory, in Shantung, because Japan had entered the war, and it was of first necessity to reduce the German fortress at Tsing Tao. This was accomplished. It was found that Germany was using the railroad between Tsing Tao and Tsin-Anfu to send munitions to Tsing Tao. To secure her position Japan occupied the railway.

PROMISE TO WITHDRAW.

The military forces will be withdrawn, as has been repeatedly said, when direct negotiations with China for the restoration of the former German rights in Shantung are concluded, and will be withdrawn sooner if China organizes an adequate police force.

Concerning troops in Manchuria, stationed as guards along the South Manchuria Railway, Japan contends they were sent there under a treaty with China, signed after the Russo-Japanese War, China agreeing Japan should succeed to all rights and privileges as to stationing of troops previously held by Russia. Japan also holds that all troops in the Liao Tung Peninsula, the lease of which Japan inherited from Russia, are there under treaty justification.

MILITARY NECESSITY.

Japanese troops along the Chinese Eastern Railway, between Chang-Chun, terminal of the South Manchuria Railway and Harbin, are explained as being there because of a military necessity.

The small contingent of Japanese soldiers at Chengchiatung, Manchuria, which was sent under treaty authorization, according to the Japanese, is maintained because of disturbances on the frontier of Mongolia.

The Japanese garrison at Hankow, in Central China, it is explained, was dispatched during the setting up of the Chinese republic to protect lives and property of Japanese.

HARDING GETS TARIFF ADVICE.

Urged to Take Strong Stand for Legislation.

Elimination of Valuation Plan Advocated.

Would Also Strike Section on Anti-dumping.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—President Harding has been urged to take a strong stand in his address to Congress next week in behalf of pending tariff legislation. Confidence was evidenced among many Congressional leaders today that the power of the Executive would be put behind the bill now in the Senate Finance Committee.

The suggestion was said to have been made to Mr. Harding that he recommended, in the interest of speedy disposition of the measure, elimination of the American valuation plan from the House bill and the writing of a tariff law on the basis of the method of invoice prices. He was understood to have been urged to ask Congress then to include a provision empowering the Executive to apply American valuation basis of assessing duties where, after surveys, it is shown added protection is needed.

Another suggestion reported to have been given Mr. Harding was that the House bill provisions regarding antidumping be stricken out and a law described as "having teeth" be enacted supplementary to the tariff.

EXPECT LONG DELAY.

Some Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee declared today that even with a call by the President for more speed, there could hardly be a tariff law before March. One declared it would be May before the bill became a law.

The suggestion that separate legislation be enacted giving the Executive authority to impose the American valuation basis in cases where additional protection was found necessary, was said to embody a plan for making customs duties variable to meet fluctuations of the depreciated currency of exporting countries.

Those who advanced the plan hold that the fixing of tariff duties at any definite figure in the present disorganized state of international currencies, would make it impossible to protect adequately American industries and later from competition since low prices of foreign money allow goods to be purchased abroad in American dollars at far below costs in American markets.

EQUALIZE DISADVANTAGES.

It was proposed that the President, presumably through the Tariff Commission, be given power to determine to what degree the currency of a given country has depreciated, to what extent that fact has made American producers unable to compete with its imported products and to fix the import duty at a percentage which will equalize somewhat these disadvantages. Similar goods from a country with stable currency and undistorted production costs would be allowed to come in at lower rates.

Carefully worked out estimates of the effect to be anticipated under operation of the plan have been submitted to President Harding. The American valuation system, also advanced to meet fluctuating currency values, would fix the level of duty not on cost price to the importers, but on the value of similar products produced in the United States, on American markets at the moment of importation.

PARDONED, BUT MUST PAY UP.

Convicted Murderer Ordered to Give Victim's Widow $15,000 Balm.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) Nov. 29.—Hale Chenowith, convicted in 1919 of slaying Claude McDowell and pardoned after serving a year in the State penitentiary, today was directed by a jury to pay $15,000 damages to Mrs. Edna McDowell, widow of the slain man. Mrs. McDowell had filed suit for $50,000.

MRS. KONDOLF IS SEEKING DIVORCE.

HUSBAND IS BROTHER OF TYPEWRITER MAN—BOTH SOCIALLY PROMINENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—That Olive Kondolf, formerly prominent in Rochester, N. Y., had brought a suit for absolute divorce from Henry E. Kondolf, brother of Frank N. Kondolf, president of the Remington Typewriter Company, Inc., was disclosed today in the Supreme Court, when her attorney, G. D. Zahn, sought to have the action placed on the calendar for an early trial. Mr. Zahn said today that the case would probably come to trial in six weeks.

Henry E. Kondolf is connected with the Fi-do-pak Company, which makes light boxes suitable for shipment of fruits, and he spends much of his time in Florida. He was the best man at the wedding of his brother, Frank N. Kondolf, at the St. Regis Hotel in this city on Dec. 20, 1915, when the president of the typewriter company became the husband of Mrs. Pauline Doyle Carter, widow of John M. Carter, socially prominent in Baltimore.

Frank N. Kondolf is also president of the Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Manufacturing Company of Rochester, where he and his brother Henry are well known.

Before going to Rochester these two men were prominent as manufacturers. At the wedding of Frank N. Kondolf, at which Henry was best man, the bride was given away by her brother, Louis F. Doyle of Rochester.

FILIPINOS OBJECT TO FORBES REPORT.

WOULD NULLIFY POWER OF ISLAND SENATE, CLAIM COMMISSIONERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Recommendations embodied in the Woods-Forbes report on the Philippines has the tendency of "practically nullifying the power of the Philippine Senate in case of disagreement between that body and the Governor General," J. C. Deveyra and Isauro Gabaldon, resident commissioners, declared today in a statement.

"To a subject people like us," the statement said, "the power of the Philippine Senate to confirm or not to confirm appointments submitted to it, is a bulwark against possible tyranny on the part of the Governor General. Under the circumstances, therefore, we cannot surrender it."

The commissioners "recognized in the authors of this report a lofty interest and profound sympathy for our people," but they refused to accept the conclusions of the report "because they are contrary to the ideals and aspirations of the Filipino people."

MARINES TO CONTINUE AS GUARDS.

Hays Explains Government's Attitude in Letter to Wisconsin Governor.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Marines will not be withdrawn from mail trains while the necessity for their presence as mail guards continues, and a letter explaining the department's position in the matter, has been addressed to Gov. Blaine of Wisconsin, Postmaster-General Hays announced today.

"Only the necessities of the situation justified this extraordinary measure of using the marines," Mr. Hays said, "but the mails must be inviolate, and the department will go to any lengths to keep them so.

"Reasonable care has been and will be exercised, no marine or other mail guard has fired upon anyone on suspicion only, and without warning. The marines especially are careful and experienced. But effective protection of the mails necessarily goes further than waiting until after the mail is actually stolen before the guard shall be allowed the reasonable use of the firearms."

WITHDRAW ONLY BID FOR CHICAGO BONDS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—The only bid that the city of Chicago received two weeks ago when it offered $8,000,000 of bonds designed to meet the deficit in the city's revenues incurred in 1920 was withdrawn today. In effect, the city now has no offer for these bonds, which repose in the traction fund as collateral for money withdrawn from that fund, and must again seek a buyer.

The single bid received for these bonds was made by a banking syndicate headed by the Guaranty Company of New York, and was conditioned on the city furnishing an opinion as to the legality of the issue by either Wood and Oakley of Chicago or former Judge John O. Thompson of New York, both regarded as authorities on municipal bonds.

This legal opinion was to be obtained within ten days from the time the bid was in effect, which was two weeks ago today. Wood and Oakley previously had advised Chicago banking institutions that in their opinion there was doubt of the legality of the bonds, and relying on this opinion, the Chicago banks unanimously declined to submit bids.

The Guaranty Trust Company, as managers of the bidding syndicate, waited until today, thus giving a day or two of grace, for the city authorities to obtain and offer a favorable opinion. When this opinion was not forthcoming this morning the Chicago representative of the Guaranty Trust Company notified the city that its bid was withdrawn.

BANKER KAHN HITS AGRICULTURAL BLOC.

BUSINESS MEN MUST ORGANIZE TO OVERCOME BANEFUL EFFECTS, HE SAYS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Business men must organize and defend themselves "to overcome the baneful effects of the agricultural bloc in Congress," Otto H. Kahn, banker, declared in a letter to the Committee of American Business Men, made public today.

Business, he asserted, stands in need of a spokesman and organizer, but he added he did not contemplate forming a business bloc in Congress. Blocs, he said, "are pernicious and not conformable to the genius and the very underlying conceptions of our institutions."

CALL IS ISSUED TO RAIL COMMISSIONERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Nov. 30.—A conference of State Railroad Commissioners of all Northwest and Western States to be held in Washington December 13, was called today by F. W. Putnam, of the Minnesota Railroad Commission, according to a statement announced today.

The conference is being called, he said, in connection with the hearing December 14 by the Interstate Commerce Commission, of representatives of carriers who wish to present facts as to general reductions in rates and fares.

ARMY UNIFICATION PLANS DISCUSSED.

THIRTY DAYS FOR TOTING HALF-PINT.

LUCKLESS MARINER, WHO WAS NEVER TRIED, FINALLY GAINS FREEDOM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The offense charged against Charley Mason, scow captain, was a popular one, but he made the mistake of getting caught committing it. And so the skipper today finished serving a term of thirty days in the Tombs for toting a half-pint of gin—or the remains thereof—in a hip-pocket flask. He served the term although he had never been tried nor sentenced and he might have gone on in jail indefinitely had he not objected to further prolonged incarceration.

October 30 a policeman arrested Mason on a charge of disorderly conduct, but a magistrate liberated him. However, the policeman had found a partly filled flask of gin in the skipper's pocket and charged violation of the State Prohibition Act. This violation served to hold the skipper in $500 bail and he was sent to the Tombs in default.

But yesterday the skipper protested. Warden Hanley learned he had been locked up thirty days without a call from counsel or friends and without advice from the District Attorney concerning his case. He appeared before the grand jury today and was dismissed in a couple of minutes and Judge Talley promptly discharged the luckless mariner.

FILIPINOS WANT TO REFUTE COMMISSION.

[BY CARLIN AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MANILA (P. I.) Nov. 30.—President Harding will be asked to take no action on recommendations of the Wood-Forbes mission until representatives of the Filipino people have had an opportunity to be heard, a legislative caucus decided tonight. The conclusions and recommendations embodied in the report, made public today, were read at the caucus and a decision was reached to submit to a joint session of the Legislature a resolution setting out the views of the Filipinos.

Several speakers criticised the report as unjust to Filipinos. Sergio Cumena, Speaker of the House, characterized the report as "a severe criticism of Philippine affairs expressed in courtequs language."

PREP ELEVENS ACT UP TODAY.

Chaffey Connects With Santa Ana at Fullerton.

Teams Battle for Chance at San Diego High.

Harrison's Squad is Given Edge on Dope.

BY CHARLES WEST.

Two undefeated prep pigskin squads, hailing from Santa Ana and Chaffey Union, are scheduled to tear up the Fullerton High gridiron this afternoon in the semifinal conflict of the Southern California championship playoff. Both teams are primed for the fray, and as the winner will meet San Diego for the title next week, a wild and woolley scrap is anticipated.

Santa Ana won a place in the playoff by capturing the Orange League title, and advanced to the semifinals by disposing of Van Nuys and Santa Monica. Chaffey's only bid to notoriety in the Citrus Belt championship, which Halfback Manker won for his alma mater by scoring a pair of field goals against Riverside. Monrovia, champs of the Central League, obligingly forfeited their game with the Ontario eleven, which put Chaffey in the semifinals.

FAVOR SANTA ANA.

Although comparative dope on the teams is missing, due to the fact that Santa Ana and Chaffey have not played against the same teams, Santa Ana is the general favorite.

Early in the season San Diego journeyed up to Santa Ana, and returned with the oval end of a 14-to-0 score. From the class that the San Diegans displayed in walloping Manual Arts last Saturday one concludes that Spud Morrison must have a real live football team, although it must be admitted that his men didn't extend themselves much in their amusement with Santa Monica.

Coach Malley of Chaffey Union dropped into town on Thanksgiving Day and after witnessing Santa Monica's slow death at the hands of Santa Ana, he decided that his team had an excellent chance of subduing the Orange county capital's title aspirations. But he figures without Spud Morrison.

Immediately after their game last week the Santa Ana athletes were all shifted around, with the result that only three of the team that played against Santa Monica will start today's game with Chaffey. While it was quite evident that a new set of backs was sadly in need, the announcement that Morrison has changed his line is surprising. Santa Ana's forwards seemed to be about the smoothest working line in the south in their

PREXY McCARTHY TO ATTEND CONFAB.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—William H. McCarthy, San Francisco, president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, today is on his way to Buffalo, N. Y., where he will attend the annual meeting of the Association of Minor Baseball Leagues December 6-9.

"I don't look for anything of consequence at the meeting," McCarthy said before leaving. "An address by Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, probably will be the most important feature of the meeting."

Engineers Are Preparing for Casaba Season.

With the opening of the conference basketball season less than two weeks away, the Caltek casaba tossers are orking nightly under the supervision of Coach Tennison for a title team. The Engineer squad at present consists of sixteen men, two of whom are veterans. Schneider and Vesper, both star men on the Beavers' five last year, have tacked down their old places at guard and forward, respectively, while the Tarson brothers, of L.A.A.C. fame, and Alles at center, complete the tentative team.

Other men who show signs of real ability are Rico at center, Garver, Banks, Whittington and Maltby. The Engineers will be seen in action for the first time this season Saturday night when they hook up with the Pasadena High squad at the Pasadena Y.M.C.A.

Basketers Are Getting Down to Hard Work

With Rabbit Mallett doing the heavy superintending, aspirants for places on the Lincoln High basketball squad are getting down to hard work in the new gym recently completed at the Railsplitters' institution.

Two veterans of last year's five, Pete Thompson and Jimmy Renny, form the nucleus of the squad, while Coach Mallett is tuning up a lot of green material to fill out the team.

Basketball seems to have taken the Lincoln football men by storm, for in addition to Thompson and Renny, both of whom starred during the pigskin season, Tex Dyer, Long and Scott have taken up the sport.

Harold Vaughn, tennis demon, is showing up well among the recruits. Vaughn is trying out for a forward position, and has an excellent chance of making the team.

WASHINGTON STATERS A RUGGED RANGY BUNCH.

Cougars Get Real Grid Workout at Tournament Park and Make Very Good Impression.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Known as the Cougars, we would be inclined to liken them more to lobo wolves.

They lack the feline grace of the cougar, but suggest the rugged, shaggy, rangy strength of the lobo, capable of tremendous endurance or the ability to develop much meanness in a close-up fight and who would follow the ball with the willingness of a wolf pack pursuing its quarry.

These in a general way are the impressions given by the Washington Staters when they swept onto the Tournament Park field for their first real southern workout yesterday afternoon in preparation for their battle with U.S.C. Saturday afternoon.

Gus Welch had his men on the field at 3:30, and gave them a fairly energetic and varied workout lasting until dark. Welch took personal charge of the first eleven with Harry Applequist, assistant coach, putting the reserves over the hurdles. Mr. Applequist is a bald-headed gentlemen, who, except for his 16½ collar, might be mistaken for a member of the faculty. But this premature baldness was not brought on from deep thought in the study room, but from butting the opposition. He will be remembered as having done some heroic butting against Brown in 1916.

REAL INDIAN.

Welch, formerly a great quarterback with Carlisle, is a real Indian with as much pep as an auctioneer. He doesn't say a great deal, but his actions are energetic, and it is difficult to imagine any team under his direction playing dilatory football.

Washington State is strong for having the noble redman teach his paleface brethren how to tackle and buck and ambush the enemy. We still cherish fond memories of Lone Star Deitz and his plug hat wilting in the rain when the Cougars defeated Brown.

Frankly, at first glance, Washington State hardly strikes you as impressive as the Oregon Aggies. They lack the compactness and symmetry of the Aggies, but they must be toughter, judging from their record. In fact, to the writer they suggested more than anything else the Ohio team which played California a year ago, alike in size, actions and general appearance, and also in the matter of speed.

MORE FLASH.

We have seen elevens which appeared to charge faster and had more all-around flash, but it hardly would be safe to pass judgment on the strength of yesterday's rather preliminary workout.

Their passing, at least as much of it as was let loose, was accurate and effective, rather than sensational, with good receiving. The Cougars appear to rely mainly on the short pass, and this may in a measure explain the large number which they were able to complete against California. Although the Bears found the Washington line so tough that they finally resorted to aerial tactics, it is a matter of record the Cougars far exceeded them in the number of completed passes.

LUCK ELEMENT.

Just how effective a defense the Trojans will be able to show against the fast, accurate passing of the Cougars, remains to be seen. Personally, we have never seen a perfect defense against the passing game, except theoretically. Breaking up a pass, like the completion of one, embodies a large element of luck.

Unquestionably Washington will miss Eldon Jenne, fullback and punter, but they do say that Ford Dunton, the massive lineman, carries an ugly hoof. When Jenne is not on the job, Mr. Dunton drops back and pastes the pigskin with his best foot. Yesterday he was punting fifty yards without any great effort.

HAS A HUNCH.

Incidentally, we have a hunch that the line battle between Mr. Dunton and our own Johnny Boyle will be almost as exciting as the main event. Fate, in a bone-crushing mood, and desiring to stage a man's-sized fracas, tossed these two Brobdingnags into the opposing lines directly fronting each other, and be it known they occupy considerable frontage. Dunton stands over 6 feet in his hole proofs, and is admitted to weigh 190, but appears to approximate at least 200. Boyle confesses to 210 pounds, and is still growing at 6 feet 2 inches.

This pair was pitted against Dan McMillan, the California tackle, who won a place on Walter Camp's second All-American eleven, an honor for a Westerner, which means he is good enpugh for the first, but lives in the wrong pew.

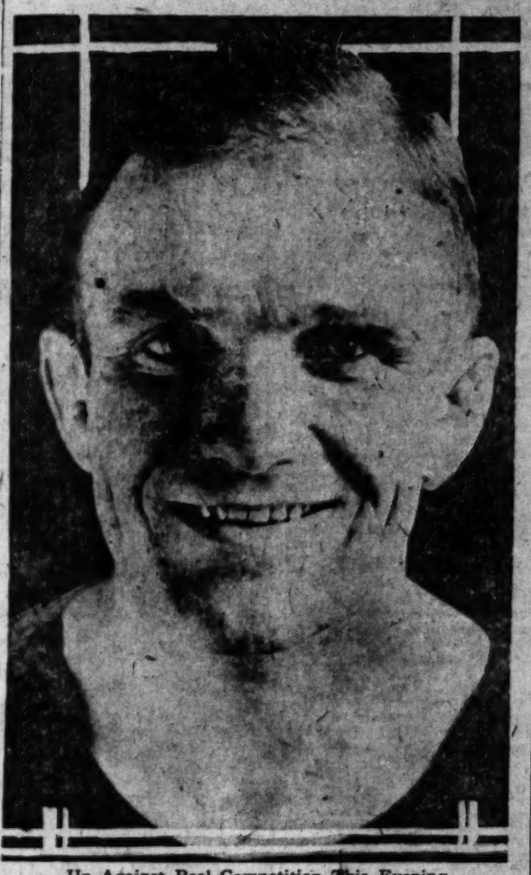
Pride of the Local Toe-Twisters.



Up Against Real Competition This Evening.

The distinguished-looking map above belongs to Walter Miller, wrestling impresario of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, who will tackle Pinky Gardner this evening in the Mercury gymnasium in a finish mat bout, first two out of three falls. Miller is in great shape for the go. Gardner never felt better in his life. So the local wrestling colony ought to spend most of its time on its toes tonight.

TIJUANA RESULTS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 30.—The one-mile race, feature event on today's card at Tijuana, was taken by Plum Blossom, the mare winning by a nose from the favorite Deck Hand. Plum Blossom raced under restraint for three-quarters and when given her head just managed to beat the favorite to the wire.

Another favorite that went down to defeat was Ermitana, in the fourth race, Old Homestead getting up in the stretch and holding his own in a hard finish.

Jockey Hunjamer brought in three winners today, Dr. Stevenson, in the first; Plum Blossom, in the fifth, and Smiling Maggie, in the sixth. He also placed with Joe Underwood in the third event.

Results:

First race, five and one-half furlongs—Dr. Stevenson won, Ask Jamie second, Missouri third. Time 1:09 2-5.

Second race, six furlongs—No Wonder won, Mastrena second, Chick Barkley third. Time 1:10 1-5.

Third race, six furlongs—Evelyn Harrigan won, Joe Underwood second, Goon third. Time 1:10.

WARM EVENING FOR MAT FANS.

Miller-Gardner Fracas Has a Promising Look.

Many Think Pinky Will Walk Away With Title.

But Local Wrestling Champ Isn't Losing Sleep.

The fans are doing a lot of guessing as to the relative merits of Walter Miller, middleweight wrestling champion, and Carrol (Pinky) Gardner, all-around athlete and college grappling instructor, who will battle on the mat at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tonight. It is to be a finish match, best two out of three falls, for the title, and promises thrills and surprises. It is certain that the L.A.A.C. man hasn't a cinch, despite his usual cocksure assumption of superiority, Pinky is not an unknown quantity by any means. His record is exceptionally good.

NATURALLY GOOD.

Gardner, whose physique excels that of the famous Sandow according to some authorities, is an expert tumbler and has the reputation of getting out of precarious holds in a flash, leaping like a steel spring. His strength is enormous, as has been observed by those who have watched him toss a 190-pound man around with ease, his muscles playing like writhing snakes. He gave a demonstration of his remarkable power sometime ago in a successful match with Joe Turner. In bridging Joe grasped him about the neck, jumped on him and attempted to crush him to the mat. Pinky slowly and surely lifted the prostrate body of the aggressor, and both came up to a standing position. Then Pinky took a fall and followed it with a second.

The challenger was a trifle overweight when he reached here Sunday, but has worked down to 158, required at noon today, and is in great shape. He is an aggressive worker, boring in constantly and worrying and wearing an adversary to the limit.

LOOKS GOOD.

Miller has trained harder for this contest than for any in a long time and looks good. He is four pounds under weight but a trifle like that doesn't bother the little marvel. It appears rather to be an advantage to him, increasing his speed. Walter knows he is going up against the real thing and he is likely to proceed with extreme caution.

George W. Retzer will referee the main event.

TITLES CHANGES HANDS.

Two new Southern California swimming champions were crowned last night at the L.A.A.C. aquatic festival, Miss Helen Vernon annexing the honors in the women's 220-yard event, and Walter Grace taking the 50-yard dash title from Jack Kilburn in a sensational finish.

Miss Vernon, ho is only 13 years of age, overcame Miss Marie Curtin's substantial lead in the last twenty yards of the race and won by a matter of a few drops of water. The time was 3m. 18s. flat.

Kilburn, who has held the Southern California championship in the 50-yard event since 1915, lost to Grace in slower time than he won the title last season, Grace's time being 25 3-5s., while Kilburn has navigated the distance in 25c flat.

Ralph Summerill captured a leg of the Snub Pollard diving trophy with some fancy work on the ten-foot board. Krissel took second place, and Swendson was awarded third honors.

DATES FOR POLO GAMES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DEL MONTE, Nov. 30.—Dates for California's four big annual polo tournaments next year were received here today from the polo association committee in charge of the schedule.

The first tournament will be an invitational affair here January 28 to February 5. Next the players will journey south and participate in the Midwick Club tournament at Pasadena February 17 to March 2. Coronado's tournament, March 11-20, will come next and after that the teams will return to Del Monte for the annual spring tournament, March 18 to April 2. Riverside and San Mateo may be put on the circuit later.

Efforts are being made to get a crack eastern team for the tourneys. Soldiers at the Monterey Presidio, near here, and players of the Del Monte Club are practicing for the meets.

HOW ABOUT MORE FOOTBALL, NOT SO MUCH COACH?

BY JOE PUNT.

Are the coaches spoiling college football?

In view of the fact that the crowds attending the rah-rah games all over the United States are getting bigger and bigger every year, anyone claiming that there is something wrong with football certainly is faced with pretty strong evidence to the contrary.

Nevertheless and notwithstanding the writer is willing to go on record as one who thinks that the growing predominance of the coach in football is doing a good deal to rob the game of the spontaneity and spirit that it once possessed. In other words, football is becoming less of a game and more of a science, less of a contest between players, and more a contest between coaches.

TAKES FUN OUT.

Science is appreciated by the experts, but not so much enjoyed by the general public. Too much science takes all the fun out of any kind of sport. Ask Jack Doyle about it. A boxing match between Johnny Kilbane and Abe Attell may be a rare treat for some expert like De Witt Van Court, but if you want to please the crowd the thing to do is to throw a couple of spontaneous combustibles like Ad Wolgast and Bat Nelson, into the ring.

That's why the crowd that attends high school games enjoys them more than the crowd that attends college games. High school games are, as a general rule, played on the merits of the two teams. The coach may be the boss right up to the opening whistle, but when the referee toots the opening toot it's just a case of eleven fire-eating youngsters from one school trying to wallop the same number of equally superheated youths from the other school.

CAST TO WINDS.

Instructions and prearranged programs are cast to the winds and the team with the most inherent ability and the most fight usually wins. The coach may have ordered the quarterback to do this or that, but in nine cases out of ten when the opening thud of cowhide against pigskin echoes across the field the quarterback forgets everything the coach told him to do and is guided only by his own instinct, his own judgment and his team's ability.

That's why you always get your

NO BED OF ROSES, AT THAT!

Selecting an opponent for the California football team to tackle at Pasadena, New Year's Day, is not the easiest thing in the world, as Tournament of Roses officials will tell you if you happen to ask them. What with last-minute dope upsets, examination schedules and a hundred or so other trifles to buck, the Pasadena football committee is having an interesting time.

But the long-distance telephone wires between here and the East are being burned up, telegraph messengers in Pasadena are mere shadows of their former selves and action is impending.

"An eastern or middle western grid team will be invited today and the invitation will be accepted," is the ultimatum from headquarters. Rah!

WANT TROJANS IN CONFERENCE.

Colleges Would Like to See U. of S. C. Admitted.

Subject to be Discussed at Portland Confab.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 30.—Northern colleges would like to see the University of Southern California admitted to the Pacific Coast Conference. It is understood that the admission of the Trojans is to come up for consideration at the conference meeting which is to be held in Portland on December 10. So far as has been heard all four of the Oregon and Washington institutions will be favorable. They were for it last year and have had no reason to change their attitude.

It was a great surprise to the northern schools when Southern California was turned down last year at the Berkeley meeting. Reports at that time were that Stanford had dropped in the little black ball when a ballot was taken. It is reported here that Stanford is now ready to vote the Trojans in, and it is to be hoped in the interests of fair play that she is.

WELL SPREAD.

The conference, of course, will be pretty well spread out if Southern California is included. For that matter it covers a good deal of territory already. Inasmuch as several sectional games are played in Los Angeles or Pasadena now, the northern schools cannot see why these games should not be made at regular part of the conference schedule.

A plan that has been several times suggested hereabouts is for Oregon and Washington to be in one conference and the California schools in another, with a stipulation for playing off the championship between the best schools in the two conferences. This has been vigorously opposed by the University of Washington, which wants a game every year with the Bears. Washington at present does not belong to the Northwest Conference at all, and that has been the cause of friction with the other schools.

OFF HIGH HORSE.

Washington is off its high horse this year and, it is said, will apply for admission in the Northwest Conference at the Portland meeting. It will be accepted and by-gones will be by-gones. There is no indication, however, that any change will be made in the status of the Coast conference. There undoubtedly will be somewhat of a squabble over the schedules, but that is the usual thing and to be expected.

The real difficulty in making a schedule that is satisfactory to all lies in the fact that the California colleges refuse to make more than one trip north each season. Obviously that means that all of the northern schools cannot get a crack at the southerners, and they all want to, particularly at California.

REALIZE IT.

They realize that sooner or later one of them must beat the Bears if they are going to annex a Coast championship and each school wants to be the one to do it. Sometimes the prospect of accomplishing it looks rosier a year ahead than it does after the season opens and Andy Smith gets his players into action.

A peculiar circumstance is that the two schools that looked weakest at the beginning of the 1921 season now appear to have the best prospects for 1922. These schools are the Universities of Oregon and Washington. Both the Oregon Aggies and Washington State are suffering heavily by graduation. Oregon will retain most of its present team and have a promising bunch of first-year grads to draw from.

Washington will lose somewhat by graduation, but the general opinion is that the more members of her present team she loses in this way the better for her. To this there are, of course, several exceptions. But Washington's hopes lie in next year's sophomores. That is what Bagshaw is depending on and those who have given the present freshmen the once over feel that he is right. There won't be any such overwhelming scores against Washington next year if one may judge by the material that is in sight.

performance here, last week, particularly on the defensive, and the Santa Ana mentor is undoubtedly planning to send his former lineup in if things don't pan out just right.

WATCHING WILCOX.

Quarterback Eny Wilcox is being counted on by supporters of the Orange champs to supply the bleachers with thrills, and the scoreboard with digits, and it is a safe bet that he will come through. Jabs, who specializes on line bucks, will start the game at fullback, while Buston and Black have been picked for the halfback jobs.

Chaffey will have to do without the services of Capt. Dingen, who broke his shoulder in the Riverside game. Dingen's place at center will be filled by Horsch.

Krehbiel, Greene, Manker and Stiver, Chaffey's backs, are noted chiefly for their speed, Greene excelling in this department, while Quarterback Krehbiel is said to be a hard youngster to hang on to. Manker does the booting for the Ontario eleven.

ELKS' TOURNAMENT.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—The next annual tournament of the Elks' National Bowling Association will be held here beginning February 4, it was announced today.

HACK MAY BE IN RIGHT FIELD.

Los Angeles fans need not be greatly surprised if they see Hack Miller in right field for Los Angeles, or at least battling Sam Crawford for the job.

A good many of the players themselves to see Miller sent to Los Angeles by the Chicago Cubs. Hack's hitting may get him by in the majors, but some figure he lacks the requisite speed and fielding finesse. Chicago gave Oakland, Don Brown and Bill Marriott for Miller. Should Hack fail to stick it is regarded as practically certain he would come to Wrigley's Los Angeles Club.

Stanford is to Make Bid for Swim Honors.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 30.—Coach Ernie Brandsten's Stanford swimming team will try for honors with the Olympic Club of San Francisco Saturday afternoon in the Cardinal tank.

In a meet in salt water two weeks ago the Olympics were victorious though all of the events were closely contested. In fresh water Brandsten believes his men may turn the trick.

The diving competition between Clarence Pingston, Olympic games and world's fancy diving champion, and White, comparatively unknown diver who has been showing much class in the North lately, will feature the meet.

WASHINGTON RANGY BUNCH.

Washington Staters here say that the afternoon which Dunton passed with old man McMillan's biggest boy was something akin to light recreation, while Boyle all but turned Dan wrong side out.

BEST IN WORLD.

So on Saturday Boyle and Dunton will meet in an event to decide who is the best tackle on the Coast, which means in this case the best tackle in the world. Also, may be solved for the first time what actually happens when an irresistible force comes in concentrated contact with an immovable body.

No football synopsis would be complete without mention of Moe Sax, quarterback, field mathematician and open field runner extraordinary. Moe is as hard as a pebble, and as active as a wire-haired fox terrier. Where most quarterbacks call signals, Moe barks them, and it is a bark which makes you draw in your ankles. You feel that something is about to snap at them. Moe's barking of the multiplication table alone is calculated to make the enemy nervous. It may be that the Trojans will have chronic trouble with this Sax person.

Much has been spoken and written concerning Mike Moran, fullback. We will merely mention that Mike has a cauliflower ear, which is more eloquent than a column of comment. Plainly, Mike is not what is technically known as a lounge lizard, and his ear didn't get that way playing bridge. Imagine a guy with a cauliflower ear whose first name is Mike, and you have a perfect description of the Cougar fullback.

BASKETBALL IS IN HIGH FAVOR.

Many Stanford Lads Show Up for Practice.

First Workout Characterized by Much Snap.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 30.—Sixty-one candidates for varsity basketball turned out for first practice under Coach Gene Van Gent at the Stanford Encina Gymnasium yesterday.

At the initial workout there were Dick Richmond, Harry Austin and "Lefty" Rogers of previous experience with the Cardinal basketers. Richmond has played regular forward for a year and is noted for sensational "pinch" shots. Austin worked at guard two years ago, but was out last year. Rogers was a substitute forward. Capt. Jimmy Davies is in the East at present and will not return to the squad until after Christmas vacation.

VERY SNAPPY.

The first workout, though snappy, was characterized by the absence of three players who were largely responsible for the Cardinal position leading coast basketball fives for the last two years. California, the only coast team threatening Stanford's leadership, was defeated decisively in the three-game series both years. "Swede" Righter, forward; Bert Mills, center, and Freddy Adams, guard, all tall, heavy, athletic fellows with unusual basketball skill, carried the brunt of the team's work through two conference seasons, and the loss of their aid this year renders the present Cardinal chances somewhat uncertain.

COURT SYSTEM.

A change in system will of necessity be introduced this year too, which always makes for uncertainty. Two years ago the Stanford five learned to work the Bob Evans court system, considered by experts the most infallible in basketball. Though coached by Walter Powell last year, the team was made up of the same men, and continued to use Evans's system, and annexed another championship.

Van Gent, beginning this year, will, of course, initiate his own ideas as to how the court game should be played. He is a monster man himself and was considered the best forward who ever played at the University of Wisconsin.

FIRST CALL.

As last night's practice was in answer to the first call of the season it is expected that the squad will increase to at least 100 before the week is over.

Stanford has almost completed a $90,000 basketball pavilion where the conference games will be played this year. The structure is the largest and most up-to-date in the West, equipped with a special spring floor for basketball. Stanford court teams have been handicapped in the past by the necessity of using a hard floor with cement foundation which for some unknown reason was placed in an otherwise excellent gymnasium.

PIRRONE'S MAJORS FOR THE IMPERIAL.

Imperial Valley baseball fans have invited Joe Pirrone to bring his major league All Stars down for a series of games. Joe and his famous collection of ball tossers, popular wherever they play, probably will accept the invitation.

DIRECTOR POWELL TO ATTEND MEETING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 30.—Walter Powell, director of athletics at Sanford, will represent the university at the meeting of the Pacific Coast conference at Portland December 10. W. D. Fletcher, graduate manager, will attend a meeting of college athletic managers to be held in Portland at the same time. Coach Gene Van Gent probably will not make the trip.

PRO GOLFERS ARE TO ENTER TOURNEY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Professional golfers from several parts of the United States are expected to enter the annual Northern California championship tournament here January 7 and 8, next. Among the players expected are Bob McDonald, metropolitan champion of New York; Arthur Clerkson, twice winner of the Wisconsin open championship; Alex Duncan, Los Angeles; Al Albrego of San Jose, and Billy Philpott of Fresno.

VARSITY SENDS A DEFI TO WHITTIER.

FOREST GROVE (Or.) Nov. 30. Coach Leo J. Frank of Pacific University football team, said today that he had written to the authorities of Whittier College, proposing a football game to be played in Los Angeles between Whittier and Pacific University to decide Coast nonconference gridiron championship. He said that he expected a reply from the California institution in a few days. Coach Frank said that if the game were played it would be on New Year's Day.

CHICAGO GETS GOLF CLASSIC.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Unofficial word has been received by members of the Skokie Country Club that the classic of American golf, the national open championship, will be played here next year.

Skokie has been the scene of numerous professional matches and the western open championship was held there in 1919. The course is not an easy one. In addition to unusually hard barriers the seventeenth hole has been lengthened to 445 yards and the course improved in other ways.

Last season he injured his arm but hopes to work off the results at Catalina.

DUFFY LEWIS HAS A TALK WITH LANE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 30.—Duffy Lewis, newly appointed manager of the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast League, arrived here today for a conference with President W. H. Lane, respecting the needs of the 1922 club.

Lane and Lewis will leave Friday for the minor league convention at Buffalo, N. Y. Lewis says the club's chief need is two pitchers, two infielders and a utility outfielder.

Rod Murphy Has a Field Day With the Willow.

The old Bengals living true to the traditions of Happy Hogan came through with one of their characteristic ninth inning rallies yesterday, in the game with the Angles and nosed out Hornsby's hired men.

The contest was a nip and tuck affair up to the eighth inning when Sisler's prospective bonus winners assumed the lead. Hornsby then pulled his club together and tried the score in the first of the ninth only to lose out in the last half.

NOT THERE.

Dell heaved for Vernon but lacked his usual effectiveness. Rieger, who projected for the Angels also had an off day, the consequences being that the fans were treated to a heavy hitting game. Murphy and Rieger featured with the willow, each copping a home run.

HOW ABOUT MORE GRID?

money's worth in a high school football game. Not one prep team in a hundred is what you would call a "machine." It is just an aggregation of red-blooded kids out there fighting for all they're worth, holding back nothing and doing the best they know how to mop up the earth with the opposition. From the standpoint of football science the prep games usually aren't much to rave about, but for that very reason the game is that much more interesting. That's why a beaten team like Manual Arts can wallop L. A. High. That's why a still worse beaten team, like Lincoln, can beat Jefferson and likewise why Jefferson could beat Manual.

But college football is of a different variety. The coach, instead of sitting on the sidelines and biting his nails because the quarter has forgotten in the heat of battle everything that he was told to do, is just as prominent as if he were out there playing himself. He dominates the team completely during the game just as much as he does in practice.

Full of football wisdom learned through years of analyzing the play of many teams, he not only teaches the men how to play their positions and gives them plays to use, but he lays out a plan of campaign for each game that is just as carefully worked out and as complete as any plan of battle that Marshal Foch ever dreamed of.

Instead of two college teams marching on the field and being left to their own devices, to play the game and succeed or fail according to their own knowledge and ability, they are sent out under detailed instructions from the coach to play this kind of a game or that kind of a game, to use these plays and not those plays.

THEY DO IT.

High school teams aren't "pointed" to some particular game. They don't play under wraps. They get out there on the field and if they have the physical and mental ability and training to make a million points on the other team they'll do it. When one high school team beats another high school team 21 to 7 you can bet your bottom dollar that on that particular day the score of 21 to 7 exactly represented the difference between the two teams.

But when college teams get out and one team beats another team 7 to 0 you can't be at all sure that that exactly represents the difference between the two aggregations.

For instance, there was the U.S.C.-Oregon Aggie game of recent memory. Just how much better U.S.C. was than the Aggies on that day nobody will ever know. In fact, it isn't necessarily true that U.S.C. was any better than the Aggies, although that's the natural inference.

WAS OUTFOXED.

All that we know is that Mr. Henderson outfoxed Mr. Rutherford to the extent of one touchdown. We understand that U.S.C. was instructed to punt on the first down and wait for the breaks. U.S.C. did that little thing, took advantage of their one chance and made the only score of the game.

Then U.S.C. opened up and started to play football the best they knew how. And they didn't do as well against the Aggies as they did when they punted and waited for the breaks. They scored on the Aggies when they played under definite instructions, but when they got out and tried to score by their own efforts they not only didn't score, but the Aggies got further into U.S.C. territory than they had when U.S.C. wasn't trying to advance the ball; in fact, were only prevented from tying the score by a bad fumble on the U.S.C. 5-yard line.

The U.S.C. rooter will tell you that if Henderson hadn't instructed the team to play a punting game until they got the breaks, they could have trampled all over Oregon and scored four or five touchdowns.

ON OTHER HAND.

On the other hand, the Oregon rooter will tell you that if U.S.C. had tried to advance the ball in the first half the way they did in the second half that Oregon would have won.

As a matter of fact, nobody knows. Some folks think that the Aggies outplayed U.S.C., but that Mr. Henderson outfoxed Mr. Rutherford. Others think that U.S.C. could have beaten Oregon much more badly if they had been permitted to cut loose from the start.

But give us a game between a flock of high school youngsters where, when it is all over, there's no regretting that somebody wasn't allowed to do something or other, but there's a feeling of certainty that both teams did their durndest and that the best team, and not the best coach, won.

MAKE RESERVATIONS FOR GRID BANQUET.

Reservations for the football banquet to be given the Washington and University of Southern California football teams at the Hotel Maryland Saturday evening at 6:30 are being made with the secretary of the greater alumni association, Bert C. Smith. Those who desire to attend are asked to call 13927 or to let the Pasadena alumni know through Kenneth Newell at Colorado 315.

It is the purpose to banquet the members of both teams. James Foley is to be the speaker and the coaches are to be asked to tell why they won or lost the different games during the year.

STATZ LEADS IN STOLEN BASES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—Arnold Statz of the Los Angeles club, with thirteen stolen bases, is leading George Sisler, St. Louis American star, in stolen bases in the California Winter Baseball League. Sisler has ten pilfered bases to his credit. According to unofficial records, Sisler was the leading base stealer in the American League last season.

NEWS NOTES of FLEET

The destroyer Howard has been detached from duty at the destroyer base and ordered to proceed to Los Angeles Harbor to operate with the submarine flotilla of the Pacific Fleet in maneuvers off Catalina Island next week, according to an announcement made in fleet circles at the harbor yesterday. The Howard is due to arrive Saturday.

The mine layer Gannett, tender to the squadron of Navy seaplanes, arrived at the harbor yesterday, accompanied by three of the F-5L type planes, which are to operate with the submarines in antiaircraft gunnery practice.

The naval transport Henderson, bound for Hampton Roads, Va., and New York, with officers and enlisted men, their wives and children, arrived at the harbor from San Francisco late yesterday afternoon. Several officers and men of the Pacific Fleet and the Submarine Base, together with their families, will board the Henderson before her departure this morning.

The flagship New Mexico put to sea just before dark last night to undertake night firing practice and was out until after midnight. The Pennsylvania, flagship of Vice-Admiral W. R. Shoemaker, commander of the battle forces, engaged in night firing practice Tuesday night. The Idaho will take her turn on the night target range tonight.

The supply ship Rappahannock, recently commissioned and assigned to the Pacific Fleet train, left San Francisco for Los Angeles Harbor yesterday. She is expected to arrive at the local port tomorrow. The Rappahannock has just completed the installation of a modern refrigerating plant and will replace the Glacier.

That the Navy Department looks with favor upon the proposal made recently by officers at the Submarine Base to send the flotilla of mine submarines of the L type, now stationed at the base, on a practice cruise to Honolulu and Pearl Harbor, was indicated in official communications which have been received at the base. No authorization for the proposed cruise has come from the department as yet, it was stated, but it is the hope of the officers and men of the flotilla that such permission will be granted soon. It has been pointed out to the Navy Department that, except for trial runs made by individual boats outside the harbor, none of the L class has been on a practice cruise for more than a year.

PENN STATE IN GOOD PRACTICE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 30.—With three days remaining before the game with Penn State, University of Washington's football players, under the tutelage of Coach Bagshaw, are undergoing some gruelling practice. The coach, believing the Nittany Lions have a line almost impregnable, is attempting to make efficient use of forward passes and end runs.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SOCCER PLAY HALF OVER.

With the playing of two postponed soccer games the first half of the Southern California Soccer League will be rounded out. L. A. Uniteds play the Long Beach Uniteds on the latter's grounds at Long Beach, while the Rangers will travel to Tournament Park for their argument with the Crown City squad. All eyes will be centered on the outcome of the Long Beach game. A win for the L. A. Uniteds will place them in first position, nosing out the Overseas, by half a game. The Veterans are idle this week.

To meet the insistent demand of soccer fans, a friendly game has been arranged by the Association for Maier Park, Vernon, between the L.A.A.C. and the Sons of St. George. In making this choice the association is to be congratulated. It would hardly be possible to pick two clubs of more even soccer ability. In their league fixtures they have played excellent football, and but half a game separates them, the Mercury club leading.

The game starts at 2:30 p.m. and will be in charge of Referee Jones.

HARVEY CHURCH NOW ON TRIAL FOR CRIME.

MAN ACCUSED OF DOUBLE MURDER WILL PLEAD INSANITY, IS BELIEF.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30. — Harvey Church was placed on trial today for the murder of Carl Asmus and Bernard Daugherty, salesmen for the Packard Automobile Company. Church confessed after the arrest that he had killed the salesmen in order to get possession of an automobile.

That Church was coerced into confessing the murder was the implication of counsel for the defense today. They will seek to have the confession excluded from the evidence. Church pleaded not guilty after he had been shuffled into the courtroom this morning. He was unshaven and his hair was long and unkempt. His clothes were slouchy and he took no interest in the proceedings.

It was evident from questions asked of the ventriloquism that the defense also will plead insanity. Alienists for the State who were in court decided that Church is feigning insanity.

Kaiser Admirer in Germany and Can't Get Back.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Back in 1917 Albert Fuchs, a Chicago millionaire, was a warm supporter of the Kaiser. At that time he offered to pay $1000 to any one who could prove a German soldier guilty of cruelty or atrocious conduct. In cases of officers he would pay $2000. A number of people tried for the money, but Fuchs's terms prevented collection.

Last September Fuchs sailed for Germany. This was shortly after Mrs. Carleton E. Fuchs, his daughter-in-law, had sued him for $250,000 for alienating her husband's affections. Today Fuchs is in a peculiar position. In Germany, he wants to get back to the United States and has no passport. He sailed without one. His sons have taken up the matter with the passport officials in Chicago, but it may be some time before one can be found. Meanwhile the Chicago millionaire is keen to get back.

HOGS FED CITY GARBAGE BALK.

Objection to Glass, Rags in Mess Reacts on Householders.

The Board of Public Works yesterday instructed City Engineer Griffin to prepare stickers to be attached by garbage collectors to the receptacles set out by householders notifying them that garbage must not contain glass, rags, paper and similar materials, and that no collections will be made when the cans contain this refuse.

C. H. Hopkins, who holds a ten-year contract with the city for the disposal of garbage on a hog-feeding ranch in San Bernardino county, complained to the City Council that the garbage turned over to him is filled with unusable refuse. He asked that this be eliminated or that a 10 per cent reduction be given him on the 60 cents a ton he pays for the garbage to cover the cost of segregating the materials delivered to him.

The Board of Public Works recommends that the request for a reduction of the charge be denied and has advised the Council of the steps it has taken to eliminate the objections made by the contractor.

Embezzlement is Charged Against Plant's Manager

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

GALLUP (N. M.) Nov. 30.—W. T. Christian, manager of the New Mexico Firebrick Company, was arrested today charged with embezzlement. The concern, one of the largest of its kind in New Mexico, was placed in the hands of a receiver last Saturday.

Mrs. J. W. Blackwell, Jr., who, with her husband, was found shot to death Saturday, was employed as a book-keeper by Christian for the last three years. A Coroner's jury found they died from shot wounds inflicted "by a person or persons unknown."

JAILS WITNESS IN I.W.W. CASE.

Official Arrests Man as He Quits Courtroom.

Attempts to Justify Acts of the Organization.

Torture for Refusal to Join Order is Told.

James Fink, the first defense witness in the trial of eleven defendants accused of criminal syndicalism, went straight from the stand in Judge Willis's court yesterday to the County Jail. As soon as he finished testifying John Dymond, a District Attorney's investigator, arrested him as he left the Hall of Justice.

According to the prosecution, represented by Dep. Dist.-Attys. McCartney and Turner, Fink stated in court that he is an I.W.W. and attempted to justify the acts of the organization. He admitted that he had heard of murders having been committed by I.W.W. members. William Lynch was another defense witness.

Joe Arata, who was followed from an Oakland courtroom where he was a witness and attacked, came out of seclusion long enough yesterday to testify to torture he was put to because he refused to join the I.W.W. Because of threats, he has been accompanied by a guard. He immediately left for Oakland, accompanied by his guard.

The case will be resumed today. The defendants are acting as their own attorneys.

Following the arrest of Fink, commotion was marked in the court until the judge stated that unless the defendants remain quiet he will send them all to jail. The sleiest part of the trial was during testimony for the defense by Jack O'Brien, who was forced by the court to answer whether or not he is dissatisfied with the government. The witness said he is not satisfied with society, but has no kick against the government. Clapping by the defendants was stopped by the court.

FIGURES GIVEN ON FRENCH ARMY.

HAD 818,000 ENROLLED OCTOBER FIRST, SAYS REPORT TO DEPUTIES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The strength of France's army was given as 818,000 as of October 1 by the report of the army commission to the Chamber of Deputies, made public today. The report was made public in connection with the government's proposed law calling the class of 1922 to the colors in two contingents, one next May and the other next November.

The report said a considerable part of the class of 1919 had returned to their homes on crop furloughs or on indefinite leave, making the active forces in uniform 600,000 or upwards, with the balance subject to immediate recall recommended for adoption, would through the release of various contingents of the class of 1920 and the incorporation of the class of 1922 during next year, give a strength of 640,000 men in the spring.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Sylvester Rosenthal and Samuel Moskowitz, owners and contractors of the American Theater in Brooklyn, which collapsed yesterday, burying nearly fifty workmen, today were ordered held without bail when they were arraigned on charges of manslaughter.

Later, however, Supreme Court Justice Kelby granted a writ of habeas corpus and the pair were released on $15,000 bail each.

Search of the ruins continued, resulting in discovery of the seventh body. Eighteen injured are in hospitals.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 30.—Charles H. Lee of San Francisco today was ousted from his office as head of the division of water rights of the State Department of Public Works by Austin B. Fletcher of this city, director of the department, following Lee's refusal to comply with Fletcher's demand to send in his resignation.

Fletcher announced that he had named Paul Bailey, chief deputy to W. F. McClure, chief of the division of engineering and irrigation of the same department, to take charge of Lee's office temporarily.

FLASHES.

"MOLLY-O" HERE.

MABEL NORMAND HAS BEST FILM OF HER CAREER.

By Grace Kingsley.

Who has ever exactly defined the arresting charm of "Tom Sawyer," of a Riley verse, or "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch?" Nobody. It can't be done.

No more can the engrossing charm of "Molly-O," be analyzed. It just holds you, and you laugh and cry and pay strained attention to the thrilling moments, that's all.

To try to dissect it would be like tearing a flower to pieces to find the secret of its beauty and perfume.

This may sound a high flown simile, for "Molly-O" is pure comedy. But it is comedy that lies at the heart of human nature.

High brow, low brow, no brow, everybody is going to like "Molly-O," this latest and assuredly best picture in which Miss Normand has ever played, or which Mack Sennett has ever produced. It opened at the Mission last night amid showers and banks of flowers, with the star present, and to an audience which numbered all the best known film luminaries in the city, including Charlie Chaplin, Pauline Frederick, Constance and Norma Talmadge, Fred Niblo, Enid Bennett, Mahlon Hamilton, Miss Dupont, Marie Prevost, Frank Mayo, Jack Mulhall and scores of others. Mr. Niblo made a very clever little speech of christening.

"Molly-O" is legitimate comedy. It rollicks, but it never grimaces. Its humor is never burlesque.

Just how Mack Sennett in the delicious dinner scene, where the young doctor calls on Molly, ever resisted letting the father of the family shoot the Sunday roast into the young man's lap, I don't know; and admirable, too, is the restraint which prevented letting the pies fly during the masked ball!

Momentarily you expected mother to climb to the roof and sail away on Mabel's umbrella; or Mabel slide down in a bath tub. But none of these things happen! Yet you laugh until you cry at the comedy touches; as when father serves the dinner; when Mabel steals the cakes and puts them in her umbrella; when the young rough-neck announces he "likes masked balls, because if there's a rough house nobody knows who started it."

"Molly-O" is a Cinderella tale, but of Cinderella as we know her—the girl who lives next door, and she's a sassy, audacious little Irish Cinderella, too, as Mabel Normand plays her.

Mabel Normand's genius, of course, is at the heart of it all. That slim comedy of hers never fails of response even in its lightest touch. She looks very beautiful; and one cannot but feel that the years she spent with Goldwyn gave her work a polish, resulting in the gem of her talent shining more clearly. Miss Normand in "Molly-O" is the most charming witch of the screen today.

The remainder of the cast—and what a cast!—does very fine work indeed. Included are Jack Mulhall in a part which might easily have been wooden, but which Mulhall makes entirely appealing; Lowell Sherman; George Nichols in the best comedy character of his career; Anna Hernandez in a very real mother part; Carl Stockdale, Ben Deely, Jacqueline Logan, who was very expressive indeed as the young snob; Eddie Gribbon, Albert Hackett in a most convincing role of the young brother; and Eugenie Besserer.

CIRCUIT CHIEF WEDS ORPHEUM STAR.

We're apt to look upon those handsome actors as the fast workers when it comes to lovemaking, but apparently not for nothing has Bert Levey, head of the vaudeville circuit bearing his name, been watching their methods year in and year out.

At any rate a romance has just come to light between Levey and an Orpheum star, Corinne Queenie Tilton, who brings her "Chameleon Revue" to the Orpheum next Monday. Said romance culminated in a wedding in San Francisco a week ago, when Miss Tilton was playing the Orpheum there.

They have been honeymooning ever since in Oakland, but now are to be torn apart by the call of art which insists that Mrs. Levey abandon her home for the stage once more. However, it would not surprise the friends of the pair if Mr. Levey suddenly discovered that business matters in this city needed his attention.

Miss Tilton is a San Franciscan by birth, but after playing child parts in stock and vaudeville in her native city, went East a few seasons ago to make a name for herself. She succeeded so well in vaudeville that the Orpheum management gave her a starring contract.

Daily Wise Crack.

Herbert Rawlinson: "Now I'll have to hire two small boys to punch the Universal time-clock for me!"

Marie's Domestic Tastes.

Not very much longer will Marie Prevost, Universal star, continue to pay rent. No, she's not going to be married. But she's going to build a home of her own for herself, her mother and sister. The house will be constructed on two lots which Miss Prevost owns in Beverly Hills, and will be of the old Spanish style of architecure.

A friend was complimenting Miss Prevost on her good taste yesterday, and she explained: "Oh, it's not that I'm so crazy about that style of building, but I'm very much afraid of burglars and it's the only kind of architecture where you can have iron bars placed over the windows without making the house look funny."

Priscilla Wishes Audibly.

Poor Priscilla Dean, Universal star, is going to be very lonely after today. The reason is because her husband, Wheeler Oakman, is leaving for New York this afternoon.

Accompanying Mr. Oakman is a precious little tin box which contains the miniature celluloid doubles of the players in "Slippy McGee," which Wesley Ruggles made for Morosco.

But Miss Dean is overlooking no bets. Between tears she is wishing audibly in her husband's presence for a nice Christmas present from New York.

Linder Understudies Bee.

If there is anybody who is deserving of receiving a Christmas present bearing the legend, "For a Good Boy," it's Max Linder. He is working night and day to complete his burlesque of "The Three Musketeers." He expects to finish in about two weeks. The film is to be given a preview before being shipped back to the New York offices of Goldwyn, which firm will release the comedy.

Carmel Myers Finishes.

Having completed her Vitagraph serial, Carmel Myers is taking a rest, during which she is considering a number of offers from different film companies.

Finishes Black-and-Blue Drama.

At last Doris May, Robertson-Cole star, is having a little peace of her life. Her husband, Wallace MacDonald, has completed the serial which he was making for Vitagraph and Miss May says she has no longer to be greeted in the morning when she comes down to breakfast with such remarks as:

"Well, I have to go and jump off a bluff today!" Or "I'll have to fight five men and the story says they lick me!"

Lesser Comes Home.

Irving M. Lesser, film distributor, who has just returned from New York, bears the glad tidings to producers that he is looking for two good strong pictures to show at his theaters here. Mr. Lesser, however, cautiously remarks that such pictures need not necessarily be expensive.

"Exhibitors everywhere," said Mr. Lesser, "are demanding good pictures at a reasonable cost. Mobs are no longer a novelty to film fans, and the spectacle appears to have a doubtful appeal—not enough to justify time and money spent on it. Producers make big pictures when they study story values. A walloping situation can be put over with two or three people if sufficient dramatic motive is created."

Mr. Lesser also announces that work on the first of several big specials he intends to make, will shortly be commenced.

Edwin Carewe Back.

Edwin Carewe, the director, is back in Los Angeles after three months of work in New York. While in the East Carewe produced a twelve-reel special for Fox. At present negotiations would appear to be on between Universal and Carewe, as the director is seen flitting in and out of the City.

Pauline Frederick Drives Nails.

There's one star in our midst who doesn't believe in wasting all the shining hours between pictures in slothful sleep or in such vain doings as sitting for photographs and trying on gowns. That star is Pauline Frederick, who helps Robertson-Cole make money.

Miss Frederick has donned overalls and an old hat and sweater, and is busying herself at no less strenuous an occupation than building a small bungalow at the back of her palatial residence in Beverly Hills. Though she has a couple of carpenters to help her, Miss Frederick herself actually drives nails and hammers shingles, as she can prove by showing you her finger nails, which show when the descending hammer misses its mark; but she can't show many of them, because the hammer seldom does miss.

The bungalow is to be used as a sort of picnic dining-room whenever shoals of friends descend on Miss Frederick of a sunny Sunday afternoon, as they often do. At such times Miss Frederick herself aids in cooking the Sunday dinner or supper, and they do say that you never tasted such roast wild duck as she prepares.

Clara Horton in "Penrod."

The wide innocent eyes of Clara Horton are to gaze out from the screen in Marshall Neilan's "Penrod." The young lady has been engaged for the leading feminine role in the film, playing opposite Wesley Barry. She is to play Penrod's "girl," and the role has been enchanced so that she will have an excellent chance to show what a good little actress she really is.

BURBANK REVUE HAS EXTRA SHOT OF PEP.

Providing melody, mirth and a collection of girls who are very easy to look at, the Hi Jinks Revue at the Burbank Theater are offering an entirely new show this week, which is further beautified by new costumes and scenery.

With Al Bridge in the principal role, and a cast including Olga Brooks, Jean Darby, Grace Jennings and the Kimball Harmony Four, a show of the tired-businessman variety is served up in such a fashion as to be acceptable to all comers whether tired or not.

Olga Krolow,
Who will portray role of Chrysis in spectacle, "Aphrodite," next week at the Auditorium.

RADIOS.

WOULD SEE AMERICA.

FOREIGN PICTURE-MAKERS TO VISIT DURING NEW YEAR.

By Edwin Schallert.

That America is to set the model for future foreign productions of films is indicated in the announced intention of various stars and directors from abroad to visit this country in the near future. The report that Pola Negri is to cross the seas is again afloat. It is said that two eastern backers of photoplays, Ben Blumenthal and Samuel Rachman, are now closing a deal with the star of "Passion," "Gypsy Blood" and "One Arabian Night."

It is now definitely known that Ernest Lubitsch, the director of the same pictures, is to sail for New York early in January if his present plans mature. Following the example of the delegation of British film officials, it is said that he will make a tour of inspection and investigation of American motion-picture production and releasing methods.

Another European director, Bochowetzki, who wrote and filmed "Danton," now being released in this country, is to voyage to America early in the new year with the same objective as Lubitsch. It is asserted, incidentally, that Buchowetzki has obtained from the Oberammergau authorities the sole right to make a screen production of the Passion Play.

On his visit to this country, Lubitsch is to bring a print of his latest picture, "Pharaoh's Wife." It is possible also that he may film one feature in this country. Lubitsch has attained some note as an actor as well as director. He appears as the hunchback in "One Arabian Night," which is now showing at the Kinema.

It is denied that Pola Negri is to work for Famous Players-Lasky Corporation while she is in this country.

A report recently appeared to the effect that of the six pictures Miss Negri is to make on a contract, three are to be filmed in America.

Maybe You'll Recall Her.

If your memory for people goes back to the Belasco Theater day you may remember Olga Krolow, who portrays the leading role of Chrysis in the spectacular production of "Aphrodite," which is to show next week at the Auditorium. Miss Krolow is a San Franciscan by adoption. That is—although she was born in Chester, England, she spent her childhood and received her education in the northern city.

When she was a young girl she made her debut with the Belasco Stock Company here as a dancer in the production of Sardou's play "Cleopatra," which was staged at the Belasco Theater. She continued in small parts with the company for some time thereafter.

NOBILITY MARKS MANTELL'S BRUTUS.

"Peace, freedom, liberty" and "not that I love Caesar less, but that I loved Rome more"—the immortal words Shakespeare gives to Marcus Brutus, were read with a rare sincerity and nobility by Robert Mantell last night in the performance of "Julius Caesar" at the Mason.

As in the characterizations of Richelieu and Shylock, Mr. Mantell makes Brutus a living picture of the man who loved his country with a depth that justified, in his eyes, his killing of anyone who did not serve that country with the patriotism that knows no personal ambitions.

Mr. Mantell's speech to the Romans in the forum evidenced a beautiful diction and a suppression that at once bespoke eloquence. And in the tent scene at Sardis these qualities of consummate art were strongly manifest, especially with the muted strings in the orchestra playing a melancholy strain that seemed a re-echo of Brutus's farewell speech to his beloved Cassius and his guards.

To John Alexander as Marc Anthony go second honors for fineness of diction and intelligent, commanding reading of his lines. His big opportunity, of course, came in the scene of the forum, when he brought the body of Caesar, to bury him, but not to praise him" and he made the most of this. Shakespeare's knowledge of mob psychology is convincingly revealed in this act.

Vaughan Deering as Cassius, Guy Lindsley as Caesar, Franklin Salisbury as Trebonius, Miss Agnes Elliott Scott as Calphurnia, wife of Caesar, and Miss Genevieve Hamper as a beautiful Portia lent reality to their roles. Mention of Miss Theresa Colburn's lute quality of singing voice is due, even though the melody she chanted to Brutus in his tent comprised but a few measures.

GUATEMALA BAND HIP HEADLINER.

A sensational story, directed by Cliff Smith, under whom William S. Hart first rose to fame, "Crossing Trails," is at the Hippodrome for a run of four days as the photoplay feature.

The vaudeville portion of the program is headlined by the Guatemala Marimbaphone Band, the same aggregation of performers who were brought to this country to play at the World's Fair in 1915.

Cato S. Keith & Co., with Maude Parker, offer a fast comedy entitled "R. U. Married." Bert and Harry Marks present "The Singing Lesson." Pollyana gives a musical series on the piano accordion. Fields and La Adella in their comedy, "The Broken Elevator," have something which is reported to be different.

Hamper Gives Poetic Grace to Rosalind.

The poignant beauty, the sunny color of passion and poetic significance which underlie all the delicious foolery of "As You Like It," spoke through the lips of Genevieve Hamper's Rosalind yesterday afternoon, giving the part an emphasis that was as new as it was charming.

Many of us have visualized Rosalind from the printed page, seen her as a bewitching blend of the hoyden, and the timid maid, heard her chatter as a bird sings out of sheer superabundance of vitality; but in the flow of words have lost the woman who spoke them. Miss Hamper brought the woman to life upon the stage, and though both the bravado and the timidity were there, they were blended into something more appealing than either—the woman who could assume the one or overcome the other for the sake of her love.

It is a novel conception in a way, and robs us of several cherished preconceptions; but what we gain is more than worth the loss. And her perception of this poetical substratum, together with her ease and finish of portrayal, combined to make a rarely lovable interpretation of one of Shakespeare's most lovable women.

Mr. Mantell, in the meaty, but all too brief part of Jaques, had, of course, small opportunity to show his power. But the quality of his voice and the beauty of his diction gave the role distinction, and in the song, "Blow, Blow Thou Winter Wind," he contrived to couple spirit with an ironical smirk that was irresistible. However, the play was thoroughly Miss Hamper's, and it could not be otherwise.

John Alexander's Orlando lacked verve in places, but made up for it in others. Especially well handled was the duel of wits between him and Jaques in the forest. Agnes Elliott Scott's Celia was a very fine piece of work, indeed. But there again, everything is played into Rosalind's hands.

Touchstone, best of all Shakespeare's clowns, was made into the second best part in the play by Edward Lewers. The Jacques de Bois of Franklin Salisbury was rather wooden, but it's an obviously dummy part, only dragged in for necessity's sake.

Of the other characterizations, Theresa Colburn's success in breathing life into the mechanical role of Phoebe was the most conspicuous.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.

Girls' Auxiliary to Give Cabaret Dance to Aid Unfortunates.

For the benefit of the Children's Hospital a Cabaret Dance will be given at Castle Sans Souci Friday evening by the Hollywood Girls' Auxiliary, which will feature several local pupils and performers.

The program will include exhibition dances by Jack Nelson and Dorothy Gilbert, the latter formerly of the Ziegfeld Follies; dances by La Verna Mae Abbott and Billie Tragler, local children; a gypsy dance by Miss Marjorie Wood, pupil of Orrea Waska, and a number of comic songs, black-face acts and "stunts."

The comic song department will be in the hands of Marion Walker and Billie Bigwood, with Mary Ellen Reed at the piano.

ITALIAN TENOR TO STAR IN CONCERT.

Featuring as soloist Umberto Sorrentino, young Italian tenor who has come to Los Angeles from a very successful appearance with the Grand Opera Association of Portland, Or., the Woman's Lyric Club and the Ellis Club will present a joint concert at the Philharmonic Auditorium on Friday evening.

The program will be divided between the two organizations, the Lyric Club giving the first half and the Ellis Club the second. Among Mr. Sorrentino's selections will be Tosti's "Good-by," in which he was coached by the composer himself as well as Caruso.

Sorrentino received his first vocal training from Ciapini, known in Europe as one of the foremost teachers of the voice. Sorrentino and a number of other young men were out on a lark one night, serenading the girls, when Ciapini, hearing one voice ring out above the others, asked, "Who is that singer?" The result was a long and patient training under the master's direction, which gave the young Italian his present artistic capacity.

FARCE WELL CAST AT BROADWAY PAN.

At Pantages Broadway this week "Oklahoma Bob" Albright's Broadway Follies company are presenting the funny rural farce comedy "In Arkansaw." The principal roles are in the competent hands of Harry Gribben and Max Asher, both of whom are well known for their many successes in comedy pictures on the local "lots."

The entire cast of the Follies appear in this little farce and, as this is the farewell week of Mr. Albright's organization, both the producers, Mr. Samuels, who produces the book for the show, and Mr. Kemper, who produces the musical portion of the program, have done their best to give the patrons a show which will long be remembered. Working between the scenes of the show are "The Four Harmony Boys," who prove to be everything their names implies as to harmony singing. They are a real singing treat and were appreciated in no small manner by yesterday's audiences.

PIONEER RAIL BUILDER DEAD.

Lord Mount Stephen Active in Canada.

Started Life as Clerk in Montreal Store.

Later Was Associate of Lord Strathcona.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Lord Mount Stephen, 92 years old, pioneer railroad constructor in Canada, and first president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, died last night at his country residence, Brocket Hall, Hatfield, Hertfordshire.

Lord Mount Stephen (George Stephen) first Baron Mount Stephen, was born on June 5, 1829, at Forres in Banffshire, Scotland, the son of William Stephen, a carpenter.

The life story of Lord Stephen was a romance of early struggles against poverty, of a rapid rise to eminence after he came to Canada in 1850, of pioneer work in railroad construction which culminated in the connecting of the Atlantic and the Pacific by the Canadian Pacific Railway, of the acquisition of a $6,000,000 fortune, much of which he gave away to relatives, and finally of an old age spent as a peer in a historic home known as Brocket Hall, Hertfordshire, in England, which had at times been occupied by two prime ministers of England, Lord Melbourne and Lord Palmerston.

STARTED AS CLERK.

As a boy, Stephen played barefooted in the streets of his native village, was a shepherd on the near-by bleak moors and then a draper's clerk. Coming to Canada, he entered the store of an uncle in Montreal, a cloth merchant, whom he ultimately bought out. He invested his savings in Bank of Montreal stock, becoming one of its largest shareholders and finally its president.

About this time Stephen came into business relations with Donald Smith, a cousin, who afterwards become Lord Strathcona. Smith interested him in the construction of a railway to the Canadian West, which he knew through his association with it as resident governor of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Smith and Stephen joined forces with the late J. J. Hill, and the trio acquired the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, which had failed and had fallen into the hands of its Dutch bondholders. The line was built through from St. Paul to Winnipeg.

MADE RAILWAY POSSIBLE.

The importance of this early venture on the subsequent development of the Canadian West lay in the fact that it made the building of the Canadian Pacific possible, as supplies for the construction gangs operating in the otherwise inaccessible prairie section passed over it. Acknowledgement of his part in the origination and consummation of the Canadian Pacific came from the shareholders who elected Stephen the first president of the company, and from the King, who, on recommendation of the government of Canada, conferred a baronetcy on him in 1886 and a peerage in 1891. He retired from the presidency in 1888 and soon afterwards went to live in England. Before leaving Canada, Lord Mount Stephen divided his fortune among relatives in Montreal, retaining enough to support him for the rest of his life. Previously he had contributed $1,000,000 to the founding of the Royal Victoria Hospital of Montreal. Lord Mount Stephen, whose title becomes extinct at his death, married in 1853, Annie Charlotte, daughter of Benjamin Kane, of Montreal. She died in 1894. In 1897, he married Gian, daughter of Capt. R. G. Tufnell, R.N., of London.

SHIPPING BOARD MAY OPERATE TRANSPORTS.

EXPERIMENT IS PLANNED IN WEST COAST—LASKER FAVORS IDEA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Operation of the army transport service in the Pacific may be turned over to the shipping board for experimental purposes, it was announced today officially. Chairman Lasker of the board has requested Secretary Weeks to permit his agency to take over the Army transport service in connection with a weekly sailing service it expects soon to begin wit hthe West Coast, the Philippine Islands and the East.

The vessels would be operated under contract by private shipping company, said to be the Pacific Mail and Steamship Company. Chairman Lasker fears the new service will need government patronage when it opens and until it builds up a business of its own. He also is understood to have informed the Secretary that operation of the Army vessels by a single agency rather than by a number of separate companies, would effect an economy to the government in its transportation in the Pacific.

The chairman's request is being considered by Secretary Weeks, who said today the vessels, about five in number, may be turned over to test the theory of economy in an experimental operation of the ships, according to Mr. Lasker's plans.

Girls Dress for Other Girls; Not for the Men.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—"Girls don't dress to attract men; they dress for other girls," said Mrs. Kay Cammack, assistant secretary of the New York Trust Company, in an address to the business girls' classes at central branch Y.W.C.A. yesterday, telling how to apply the budget system to a working girl's salary.

"Twenty dollars can be stretched to $25 by using the budget plan," she said.

"Women are not more extravagant than men, but they are more tempted by the lures set before the window shoppers. They are protected by the conventionality of tailoring.

"Who spends a young girl's salary? Not she herself. It's the blonde pompadour saleslady who says 'Aain't it sweet, dearie?' who spends the girl's money for her."

PURSUED BY POSSE HERMIT ENDS LIFE.

KILLS SELF RATHER THAN FACE ARREST ON CHARGE OF ROBBING STORE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MAHOMET (Ill.) Nov. 30.—Harry Davis, 50 years old, who lived in a cave and had been a hermit for 19 years, committed suicide yesterday afternoon, when pursued by a sheriff's posse, seeking to arrest him on a charge of thievery. He shot himself in the breast as he stood hip deep in a small lake as the posse beat the brush about the shores.

After being accused of murder nineteen years ago, Davis drew himself away from his fellow men. He roamed the shores of the Sangamon River.

Last Monday night a store at Lodge was robbed. The sheriff started out to arrest the hermit. The latter fled from his cave into the timber. In the cave were found a few cooking utensils in addition to canned goods and other articles which the sheriff declared were stolen.

Davis had gone to the lake and attempted to wade through it as he heard pursuers behind. Ahead across the lake he saw other members of the posse. Then he killed himself.

RUM PIRATES GIVE BATTLE TO POLICE.

SEVEN CAUGHT ON SPEEDY MOTOR BOAT; HUNDRED SHOTS EXCHANGED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Seven alleged rum pirates, who the police say gave battle to a police launch yesterday, faced charges today in Tombs Court of violating the prohibition law, and all were held for trial in heavy bail.

The speedy motor boat they occupied dodged police launch No. 8, in a chase along the water front, but was finally caught in a slip, said Policeman Donohue, who headed the police squad.

The police had been warned of a fast launch that was said to be carrying liquor, and No. 8 had been watching the South Brooklyn water front seven hours, when the craft, with lights out, skimmed by. More than 100 shots were fired, Donohue said, in the running battle that followed.

Four hundred bottles of Bacardi rum were captured by the police. Policeman George Brasil in another launch searched a suspicious motorboat which he noticed tied to the steamship Miss A. Ford, at Pier 26, east river. He confiscated seventy quarts of Scotch liquor.

WILL NOT OPPOSE VALUATION PLAN.

FARMERS' BLOC WILL TAKE NO DECIDED STAND, SAYS CAMPBELL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Agricultural members of Congress will not take part in the movement against the American valuation plan in the opinion of Representative Campbell of Kansas, chairman of the Rules Committee of the House.

The Kansas delegation usually has joined solidly in support of any proposition in which the farmers are vitally interested.

Mr. Campbell expressed the belief today that the action of a number of farm organizations, including that of the National Farmers' Union, which adopted resolutions against the American valuation plan at a meeting held in his own State recently, does not mean that agriculture will make an aggressive fight against the American valuation plan. Inasmuch as the farm organizations which have begun to show an interest in the matter are concerned over the proposition from the standpoint of consumers he believes that the members of Congress, who are anxious to help the farmers in their difficulties as producers, cannot be lined up solidly one way or the other.

"The opposition to the American valuation plan emanates from the importers," said Mr. Campbell. "Their propaganda may cause some organizations to adopt resolutions without fully understanding the situation. The agricultural members of Congress in the Republican party are not opposed to the American valuation plan."

How much for this Symbol?

¶ Mr. Huntington, who recently paid a fortune for Gainsborough's picture, "The Blue Boy," perhaps would overlook a drawing we possess.

¶ It is our symbol, reproduced above.

¶ As a work of art it would find no place in Mr. Huntington's rare collection.

¶ But because honest endeavor has made of it a symbol typifying full value and conscientious service, it has to us become priceless.

¶ So this symbol represents our contribution to art—to the art of rendering perfect service, giving equable value, pleasing satisfied patrons.

FIGHT FOR OPEN SHOP BOOMING.

Battle Against Unions in Chicago on in Earnest.

Every Nonunion Job Now is Protected by Insurance.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—The open-shop movement in Chicago, which is now on in earnest, is to be buttressed in every conceivable way to prevent disruption or failure. The citizens' committee to enforce the Landis wage award, fully awake to the fact that a powerful movement is afoot to maintain the closed-shop system, has set about to block and reinforce every possible loophole.

One of the committee's most important moves, the signing of a mammoth blank insurance policy running into millions of dollars, which will protect property owners who are behind the Landis award, from damage by wrecking crews, sluggers and vandals, was announced today.

OFFERS PROTECTION.

The policy will be used to offer recompense for damages which may be incurred during the fight on the Carpenters' District Council, in which craft an open shop basis already is established. It also offers protection fom other sources of danger if the campaign is extended to the other unions which refuse to abide by the judge's decision.

Very small jobs where open shop carpenters are employed at present at $1 an hour are automatically covered by a $25,000 riot and other damage policy. Where the job involved is a larger one a special policy is taken out. The committee also has perfected an elaborate guard system and every job operated under its jurisdiction will be watched night and day.

"We are offering the builder every possible protection against loss," said T. E. Donnelley, chairman of the citizens' committee. "He has everything to gain and nothing to lose when he backs the Landis wage awards.

EVERY JOB INSURED.

"We've insured every job against riot, damage and fire. We've a guard on every job. And the union which refuses to accept the Landis award will have no status with this committee or its successor. We are pledged to keep control of this situation for a number of years, and hope to do in Chicago what was accomplished in Duluth. There they reduced the cost of a $10,000 house to $6000."

The members of the executive group were to meet late this afternoon with representatives of the plumbing contractors, who will be asked to carry the message to the union that it is time to "fish or cut bait."

"They will be asked," said Mr. Donnelley, "to get word to the plumbers' union to abrogate the present $1.10 an hour agreement or they will be outlawed. And if the employers want to continue a combination in restraint of trade, all right.

WILL BREAK TRUST.

"But if we have to go outside this town to get contracting plumbers who will work under the Landis award, we're going to do it."

The citizens' committee received its articles of incorporation from Springfield late yesterday and today stood as a corporation organized "not for profit."

Members of the Mortgage Bankers' Association will be addressed by several members of the executive committee at their luncheon tomorrow noon on the subject of backing the Landis awards through their real estate loans.

A number of representative trust companies, executives and bond brokers expressed themselves Monday as willing to insist that all work proceed under the Landis award as a condition to making a loan.

The action taken at the preliminary meetings is expected to be ratified by the membership of the association at the luncheon tomorrow.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Japan will not withdraw her soldiers and police from Manchuria, declaring their presence there as provided under the Treaty of Peking of 1905 to be necessary and in the interest of the Chinese as well as for the protection of the South Manchurian Railway, but is willing to withdraw her troops for China, exclusive of Manchuria, when conditions warrant their removal.

Officials are confident that an agreement will be reached next week on the naval ratio proposed by the United States.

The question of Shantung is being settled by negotiation between the delegates of China and Japan, with Secretary of State Hughes and Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation, as advisers.

Marines will not be withdrawn from mail trains while the necessity for their services continues, and a letter stating the Postoffice Department's position has been addressed to Gov. Blaine of Wisconsin by Postmaster-General Hays.

Agricultural members of Congress will not take part in the movement against the American valuation plan, according to Representative Campbell of Kansas.

Opposition to any modification of the court decree which prohibits the Big Five packers from engaging in unrelated lines of business will be voiced by Huston Thompson, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission before the Department of Justice committee which is holding hearings on the proposition.

The tendency to crowd the cities and deplete the farms is a problem as important as war or peace and a principal cause of unemployment and unrest, according to Miss Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army.

GARRETT CONDEMNS RECORD OF G.O.P.

HOUSE DEMOCRAT ALSO CALLS TAX LAW AN UNRESPONSIBLE MAKESHIFT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The record of the Republican party in the extra session of Congress is described as a disgraceful failure by Representative Garrett, acting leader of the House, in a statement to appear in an "extra" of the Congressional Record tomorrow.

He called the tax law a makeshift thing for which none should care to take responsibility.

Replying to the Republican claims of achievement, made by Representative Mondell, he says that all of the legislation that was good was nonpartisan, presented as such, discussed as such and passed as such.

"Upon those matters of vital concern to the country, upon those which the party in power had promised relief," he continues, "there has been a disgraceful, a distressing, and, what is destined to be to that party a disastrous failure."

CITY LURE FATEFUL TO RURAL DISTRICTS.

SALVATION ARMY COMMANDER SAYS PROBLEM IMPORTANT AS PEACE OR WAR.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The tendency to crowd the cities and deplete the farms of their population is a problem as important as war or peace and a principal cause of unemployment and unrest, in the opinion of Miss Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in America, who arrived here today to attend the annual national congress of the organization.

"The big cities are being jammed by people from everywhere," she said, "and the rural districts are the sufferers. We come into contact with the situation in about 830 cities and towns, have found that people for some unexplained reason want to turn their backs on farms and farming and the cattle ranch.

FACTIONS OF CHINA MAY UNITE

Movement for Conciliation Toward South, Begun in Peking.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PEKING, Nov. 28. — Foreign legations here, having submitted the Peking government's appeals relative to foreign loans to their home governments, have received almost identical replies refusing to consider China's finances until after the Washington conference. This attitude is taken by officials here as implying that the Washington conference is preparing to discuss China's foreign indebtedness.

Certain members of the Chinese arms delegation are understood to have cabled privately to the Peking government requesting the recall of half the delegates.

A movement for conciliation toward South China is hoped for as the result of a conference of all the northern military elements which has just closed at Pao Tingfu. Reports are that this conference, which was originally called to unite the northern factions and cause them to sink their difficulties for a huge campaign against the South, closed in an atmosphere favorable to unity and peace.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM CONFERENCE PLANNED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—President Harding was understood today to have planned conferences with Congressional leaders with respect to the legislative program for the regular session of Congress convening Monday.

Conversations of leaders today indicated they believed the President should lead the way in outlining a legislative program, since, it was said, it was the desire of Senate leaders to do nothing to interfere with the Arms Conference. This was taken to mean that such subjects as the Allied debt refunding bill would be sidetracked temporarily.

Means was tried at Concord for murder and acquitted.

Eat for Energy

In the old days they prescribed iron tonics for the tired and run-down people. Now doctors know that this iron is contained in certain foods which are easily absorbed, effective and natural.

Of these iron-foods, raisins are the richest; and one should eat them every day. A famous Battle Creek sanitarium serves stewed raisins for breakfast. There is luscious raisin pie, delicious raisin bread, and rich, sweet cluster raisins.

You need but a small bit of food-iron every day, yet this need is vital. So remember

"The Best Investment of My Whole Life."

Feels He Has Been Completely Made Over.

Has Gained Thirty-six Pounds in Weight.

"Judging by the good Tanlac did me, it would have been cheap if I had paid fifty dollars a bottle for it," said Geo. Yates, 1620 Castro St., San Francisco, Cal.

"I regard the little money I spend for this medicine as the best investment I ever made in my life. When I began taking it I had no appetite and had indigestion so bad that no matter how little I ate I suffered for hours afterwards. For a while I thought I had heart trouble, as my heart palpitated awfully at times.

"Tanlac couldn't have made a bigger change in me if it had made me over completely. I eat anything I want now and it all does me good. I have gained thirty-six pounds in weight and feel fine all the time. When it comes to making a man feel good to his finger-tips, Tanlac is a world beater."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles by The Owl Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere.—[Advertisement.

Joyful Family Reunion

"Two of my brothers, a sister, as well as myself have been chronic sufferers from gas in stomach, indigestion, pain in right side near appendix and liver trouble for many years. My sister tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with such good results that we all took a course of it and it helped in each case. Last Sunday we had a family reunion in celebration of our recovery and what we all did eat." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. GERMANS SEEK BRITISH HELP.

Industrial Magnates Visit in London.

Reconstruction Plan May be Arranged.

Would Lift Part of Burden of Reparations.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—I am now able to state that the main object of the visit of the German industrial magnates to London is to arrange a British-German reconstruction plan similar to that made at the Rathenau-Loucheur Wiesbaden conference. I am further informed that these leaders have in sight the completion of the Berlin-Bagdad railway, the construction of the Mesopotamian railroad system, the construction of the Rumanian railroads, for which the British have contracted, and other projects of first international importance.

Simultaneous with the Rathenau-Simons visit is the return of Lord D'Abernon, the British Ambassador, to Germany and Sir John Bradbury, the British member of the Reparations Commission, to London. This unofficial London conference follows numerous private conferences for British and eventually Italian, deals with Germany whereby a part of the reparations burdens will be lifted by Germany giving enormous orders for materials and for work, replacing cash payments.

PUT CAPITAL IN INDUSTRIES.

Inasmuch as the British cannot use German coal and certain other raw materials, British industrial leaders are said to have prepared a memorandum proposing the participation of British capital in German industries. German industrial leaders and diplomats have frowned at the scheme, believing that the British are not sufficiently informed on German industries to participate and that such action would be bound to lead to political complications. Recently proposals have been made for a reconstruction scheme based on Germany delivering railroad materials and reconstructing railroads.

WOULD EXPLOIT RUSSIA.

The plans which Dr. Rathenau and Dr. Simons will discuss at London include besides the Berlin-Bagdad railroad, of which of course Berlin is no longer the northern terminus, the completion of the entire Mesopotamian system, railroad work in certain British possessions, the electrification of certain existing railroads and general construction in Russia.

The last-named project is known as Dr. Rathenau's hobby. Herr Stinnes but recently joined the group of German industrial leaders who believe that Germany's future lies in Russia and that Germany will be able to pay the reparations if Russia is opened to German exploitation. Dr. Rathenau and Felix Deutsch are leading the movement.

FOUR BANKS OUT $128,000.

dramatic pursuit followed, but no captures were made. It is understood that another investigation of the robbery will be made with a view of ascertaining whether the report was entirely accurate.

Superintendent of Banks Dodge issued a statement today giving the details of Berg's operations, which were revealed, he said, when reports showed that he was hypothecating more stock of his banks than had been subscribed.

The statement, after reviewing the "loans" obtained by Berg, says, in part:

PLANNED NEW BANK.

"While Berg was manipulating the stock of both of these institutions, he had secured from the Comptroller of Currency an approval of his application in connection with certain other persons, to open the First National Bank of Quincy.

"Before the charter was granted Berg solicited and received subscriptions to the stock of this proposed institution and pocketed the proceeds. He went further, however, and induced G. C. Brooks, assistant cashier of Sierra Valley Bank, to certify to the Comptroller of the Currency that the full amount of the capital of the suggested institution, $55,000, had actually been subscribed and paid in. This certificate was entirely false and Brooks has since left the State."

CLAIMS WAR SERVICE.

Berg appears to have rather a spectacular record as an adventurer, having, at least from his own point of view, played a significant and very fiery part in the affairs of some of the Central American republics.

He claims to have served in the World War and while in the Sierra and Piumas field he bought a ranch, paying for it far more than its actual value, interested himself in a lumber company and automobile concerns and as one of the latest exploits in his career, opened a gambling den at the only hotel in Loyalton.

His whereabouts at this time is unknown, but the California Bankers' Association has instituted measures to locate him that he may be returned and face the people he has robbed.

Brooks, who made the false certificate, on leaving the State, declared that he was to return to his parents to seek counsel and would return upon request. It is understood that his home is in Illinois.

ADMIRAL BEATTY SAILS FOR LONDON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Admiral Beatty sailed for home today with Lady Beatty after "six weeks of a happy, hectic time" in the United States as guest of the American Legion and naval adviser to the British delegation at the Armament Conference.

Replying to a question as to what action he thought would be likely if Japan should insist on increasing its naval ratio in the limitation program, he said other powers would have to do the same thing.

BAHAI MOVEMENT LEADER IS DEAD.

Abdul Baha Abbas.

Above is shown the first photograph ever taken of the noted religious leader, whose teachings are followed in all parts of the world.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—[By the Associated Press.] Abdul Baha Abbas, leader of the Bahai movement, died at Haifa, Syria, Monday, according to a dispatch to the London times.

[Abbas Effendi, known as Abdul Baha, was born in Teheran, Persia, May 23, 1844. He was leader of the movement which has as its aim world religious unity. The Bahai belief is said to be that universal peace is possible only through harmony of all religions. He visited the United States in 1912. He was the third of the leaders of the Bahai system. For many years, because of his teaching, he was a prisoner of the Turks and Persians.]

OPEN SHOP PRINCIPLE FOR ROADS.

Railroad Labor Board Has New Rules to Govern Six Federated Shop Crafts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—A decision recognizing the "open shop" principle as applied to the railroads, and promulgating 148 new working rules to govern the six federated railroad-shop crafts, will be handed down by the Railroad Labor Board tomorrow.

The decision, which supplants the national agreements entered into by the employees with the United States Railroad Administration, will form the groundwork on which the adjudication of all future wage disputes between the railroads and their employees will be based.

The ruling opens the way for the railroads to ask for lower wages for the shop crafts' employees, the Labor Board having announced it would consider no further wage reductions for any class of employees until working rules for that class had been disposed of.

The new rules will affect approximately 400,000 employees and become effective immediately. When normal conditions are restored it is estimated fully 450,000 men will be affected, and the railroads will have an annual pay roll saving of approximately $50,000,000.

This decision, transcending in basic importance the $400,000,000 wage cut of last July, was unanimous.

AGRICULTURE BLOC OPPOSES SALES TAX.

WILL KILL PLAN FOR ADOPTION AS MEANS TO RAISE BONUS MONEY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Representative Dickinson, Republican, Iowa, issued a warning tonight that the House agricultural bloc was prepared to kill any plan for adoption of a sales tax as a means of raising revenue to pay the soldiers' bonus. The bloc, he said, would place nothing in the way of the bonus measure itself, but would content itself with defeating efforts to raise the money by the sales tax. He declared sufficient votes were on hand to eliminate the tax if it was attached to the bonus bill.

The bloc leaders have half a dozen forms of taxes which they will offer as means of raising the needed funds for a bonus, according to Mr. Dickinson, including taxes on gifts, liquor, inheritance and community property.

BARGES SINK IN STORM, SIX LOST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—The loss of the barges Gov. Robey and Carrie Clark, with six men aboard, off Navesing, in a storm early yesterday, was reported by the tug Neptune on her arrival at New York today, according to word received by the agents here. The barges were in tow of the Neptune from Norfolk for this port.

MARY PICKFORD TO SAIL BACK SHORTLY.

GERMANS ASK BRITISH AID.

Discuss Advances to Cover Reparations Payments; Also Talk Possibility of Moratorium.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Consultations were in progress today at the treasury between Dr. Walter Rathenau, former German Minister of Reconstruction; Dr. Simon, a German economic expert, and Sir John Bradbury, delegate on the reparations commission, and other Britishers.

The Germans also met bankers, with whom they discussed questions concerning the obtaining of advances to cover Germany's January and February reparations payments and also the possibility of a moratorium.

It is understood Dr. Rathenau is also proposing a plan similar to the Weisbaden agreement between Germany and France, looking to the rehabilitation of devastated France, applicable to Great Britain, Belgium and Italy, as well as to France.

RATHENAU ACTS FOR WIRTH.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—Return of Dr. Walter Rathenau to the post of Minister of Reconstruction soon is predicted as a result of the negotiations in London. These conferences are viewed here as complementing recent visits to London of Hugo Stinnes, Director Deutsch of the General Electric Company, and Banker Rothschild and others, whose efforts are expected to result in a radical reversal of the policy of the Allies on reparations.

Dr. Rathenau is supposed to be acting in the interest of the Wirth government in an effort to prepare payments in kind as a substitute for the gold installments for reparations which Germany has been obliged to pay at the expense of currency inflation. It is hoped by Dr. Rathenau to persuade the Allies to permit Germany to make the major part of her obligatory payments in chemicals, dyes, potash and other commodities.

Advices from London report Dr. Rathenau's mission is meeting encouragement. Today's spectacular improvement in the mark was viewed as the first harbinger of coming relief.

Reports of the London negotiations demoralized exchange rates today and resulted in a fall of $1 points on the dollar.

BIG STEEL MERGER IS NEW PLAN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30. — First actual steps toward formation of another giant steel combination, such as would rank second only to the United States Steel Corporation, were taken today in New York. Two meeting were held by representatives of seven concerns, together having a developed producing capacity of 7,400,000 tons of steel, an aggregate present capitalization of $467,000,000, and which, figuring on the three-year average net income of four of them and that of last year for the other three, show earning powers just above $400,000,000 per annum.

The meetings were held in the offices of Thomas Lincoln Chadbourne. The companies represented are the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Company, Republic Iron and Steel Company, Lackawanna ration, the Jones & Laughlin Steel and Tube Company, Inland Steel Company, Brier Hill Steel Company and Steel and Tube Company of America.

Merger of those companies into one corporation would bring together all the chief and several of the secondary concerns in the central industrial territory from Philadelphia, west to Chicago, except the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, the Jones and Laughlin Company and some smaller concerns.

and of effecting the recovery of furs and valuables worth in the aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Conway and "Blonde Lillian" were expensively dressed when taken into custody. They maintained a determined silence when first questioned, but Detective Cahill said he has well-founded evidence on which to proceed with the case.

At an early hour this morning a third arrest was made when Detective Sergeant Cahill returned to the South Flower-street apartment-house and took into custody John F. Lenz, a soda clerk. He was booked on suspicion of burglary.

Railroad Announces Rate Cut.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—A 33⅓ per cent cut in freight rates on the Louisiana Southern branch of the Gulf Coast lines, has been announced here. The cut extends to interstate as well as intrastate shipments. The cut was made voluntarily, it was added, to stimulate business.

STROHEIM LOCATED IN NEW YORK CITY.

"TIMES" GETS TRACE OF FILM DIRECTOR REPORTED HERE AS MISSING.

Erich Von Stroheim has been found. The director and his wife were registered last night at the Claridge Hotel, Forty-fourth street and Broadway, New York. A telegram received last night by The Times gave the information and Mr. Von Stroheim's sister-in-law, Miss F. Germonpres stated she, too, had received a message from the "missing" director in New York.

It seems Mr. Von Stroheim's "disappearance" was carefully rehearsed in advance. He was scheduled to leave Los Angeles on a train that was hired specially to transport a $1,000,000 film to the motion-picture company's headquarters in New York. There has been printed stories regarding differences of opinions between Mr. Von Stroheim and his employers regarding certain sections of the film.

The director and the film were to appear there together. The special train left Tuesday but the director was not aboard and the Los Angeles police were asked to search for him. However, as Mr. Von Stroheim and his wife had left several days before, the local police did not have much success.

Why Your Tiny Wrist Watch Refuses to Keep Time?

A TINY wrist watch that will not keep time is an expensive piece of jewelry. It soon doubles its cost in repairs. It vexes you every time you look at it.

It probably was built abroad—for show, not for service. It was much cheaper than a Waltham. You didn't know that the smaller a watch, the more it costs to make. Greater skill, greater care, if it was made to keep time.

How should you know? You're not a watch-maker. But no watch is better than its "works". And fine feathers do not always make fine birds—at least, not in watches.

You can buy exquisite Waltham Wrist Watches, the works of which are smaller than a dime. They are built to keep time, as long as you live. Of course, they cost more. We've told you why. But they soon save the extra cost in repair bills wasted on watches made for show.

FIREMEN ON VESSEL WALK OUT ON STRIKE.

SEVEN OF FREIGHTER'S CREW QUIT WHEN REFUSED PAY INCREASE.

Seven members of the crew of the freighter Osage, operated by Swayne & Hoyt, and which called at Los Angeles Harbor for the first time yesterday, went on strike at Pier A and left the ship after their demands for an increase in wages was refused by Capt. Benjamin Carlson, her master. The strikers were members of the fireroom force, and declare they are being paid $35 a month, as compared with $72.50 paid Pacific Coast men.

After taking on cargo in the inner basin the Osage dropped anchor at the Outer Harbor, where she will remain until the places of the striking members can be filled, it was said. The crew of the Osage was recruited on the east coast, where, local representatives of Swayne & Hoyt explained, wages are lower.

The Osage is owned by Moore & McCormack of New York, and was recently chartered by Swayne & Hoyt for freight service between the east coast, gulf and Pacific ports.

JAPANESE VESSEL IS OUT OF DANGER.

TOO CLOSE TO SHORE, SENDS OUT DISTRESS CALL; LATER GAINS WAY TO SEA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ASTORIA (Or.) Nov. 30.—The Japanese steamer Saikai Maru, en route from Kobe for Puget Sound, came in close to shore near North Head Wash., today and her captain sent out a wireless message saying he was in danger. Later it proceeded to sea and was safe before darkness fell, according to reports here.

The Saikai Maru is a steel screw steamer of 3709 tons and is owned by the Katsuda Kisen Kabushiki Steamship Company. She was built at Glasgow in 1893 and was originally named the "Oolong." Later she was called the "Bucentaur."

The Japanese steamer Yuri Maru, which departed late yesterday for Yokohama, returned to port terminals today, minus her anchor and chain. The vessel attempted to anchor just inside the harbor last night when the chain broke and she was carried on the sands by a heavy wind. She was hauled off today and returned here. She appeared undamaged.

MORE SHIPS PROMISED THIS PORT.

Government to Furnish Vessels for Oriental Trade, Says Fredericks.

Both President Harding and the United States Shipping Board have promised to do all that may be possible to give Los Angeles sufficient ships to handle the oriental trade, according to a message brought from Washington by Capt. John D. Fredericks, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce. He spoke yesterday at the chamber luncheon at the Alexandria and told of his visit to Washington.

Dr. Remsen D. Byrd, president of Occidental College, was the principal speaker. He said:

"Service to humanity should be the chief aim of all business men and corporations; in fact, business has no other excuse for being."

Dr. Byrd said that he considers himself a business man and Occidental College a business institution as the aim of the college is the development of citizens who shall busy themselves in the welfare of the world.

"The fine personal qualities and efficiency of the business men of the South and are equalled only by the spirit of co-operation manifested by these men," said Dr. Byrd. "However, even co-operation, be it ever so effective, deserves no recommendation unless the purpose of united effort be the happiness and the betterment of society at large. What is the good of business if it stops at business—that is, at money-making?"

The program was opened by President Weaver of the chamber who told of the work being accomplished by Charles P. Bayen, at the head of the newly created intercommunity bureau, and Miss Antoinette Sabel, head of the chamber's bureau of music.

JAPANESE STEAMER OFF NORTH HEAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—The Japanese steamer Saikai Maru, en route from Kobe to Puget Sound ports was reported in trouble off North Head, near the mouth of the Columbia River, in advices to the marine department of the Chamber of Commerce from Portland tonight.

This is the same vicinity as that in which the Red Stack tug Sea Eagle is thought to have foundered. Heavy gales have been reported off the Northwest coast for the past week and many small craft are barbound in the seaports.

PORT NOTES.

Much interest was displayed in local shipping circles yesterday over the announcement by officials of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, that a branch office of the company is to be established at Pittsburg, Pa. The establishment of the eastern office means, according to representatives of the line, that a large volume of steel will be moved from the mills in that city to Pacific Coast ports in the future, via the water route. Steel booked from Pittsburg to the Pacific on the company's intercoastal steamers will be loaded at Philadelphia. At present the company maintains a regular bimonthly sailing from the eastern terminal.

More than 2400 tons of copper, the largest consignment moved from the west coast in several months, was loaded on the Williams Line steamer Willhilo at San Francisco yesterday for Atlantic Coast delivery, according to announcement made at the harbor by representatives of the line. In addition the Willhilo is slated to carry 2000 tons of general merchandise, including canned and dried fruit.

Louis Luckenbach, general manager of the Luckenbach Line of freighters ,arrived on the Pacific Coast yesterday for a tour of inspection of Luckenbach wharves and branch offices. After several days at San Francisco he will come to Los Angeles Harbor, it was stated yesterday.

The Admiral Line steamer Senator, which left Los Angeles Harbor for San Francisco Monday, was several hours late in arriving at the latter port yesterday because of engine trouble that developed at sea. A general survey of the Senator will be made before she puts to sea again.

SHIFT NAVAL PLANS.

San Diego Base Destroyer Crews to be Back for Christmas.

A change in the schedule covering movement of navy vessels will bring the destroyers of Division 34, now at the navy yard at San Francisco, home to their base at San Diego for the Christmas holidays, according to an announcement made at Pacific Fleet headquarters yesterday. The original schedule set December 20 as the date for sailing. Word from the base at San Diego was to the effect that a special effort will be made to have every destroyer belonging to the base in home waters at Christmas time.

Destroyer divisions 27 and 29, plus the Litchfield, of Division 44, will sail from San Diego for the east coast Friday of this week, it was announced. These units include the Coghlan, Preston, Lamson and Bruce of Division 27, and the Edsall, Parrott, Macleish, Simpson, Bulmer and McCormick of Division 29.

DARLING BABY BRIGHTENS HOME

Children's Laughter a Pleasing Sound

Altoona, Pa.—"I am writing to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had six children die almost after birth. From one hour to nineteen days is all they have lived. Before my next child was born I took a dozen bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and I can say that it is the greatest medicine on earth, for this baby is now four months old, and a healthier baby you would not want. I am sending you a picture of her. Everybody says 'That is a very healthy looking baby.' You have my consent to show these few lines to anybody."—Mrs. C. W. BENZ, 121 3rd Avenue, Altoona, Pa.

Mrs. Janssen's experience of interest to childless wives.

Milliston, Wis.—"I want to give you a word of praise for your wonderful medicine. We are fond of children, and for a considerable time after we were married I feared I would not have any. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it strengthened me so I now have a nine pound strong, healthy baby girl. I suffered very little at childbirth, and I give all the credit to your medicine, and shall always recommend it highly."—Mrs. H. H. JANSSEN, Milliston, Wis.

Mrs. Held of Marinette, Wis., adds her testimonial for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She says:

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a nervous condition and very irregular. A doctor advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your books and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It overcame my weakness so that I now have a healthy baby girl after having been married nine years. I am glad to recommend your medicine, and you may use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. H. B. HELD, 330 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

There are many, many such homes that were once childless, and are now blessed with healthy, happy children because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored the mother to a strong and healthy condition, as it acts as a natural restorative for ailments as indicated by backache, irregularities, displacements, weakness and nervousness.

Women everywhere should remember that most of the commoner ailments of women are not the surgical ones—they are not caused by serious displacements or growths, although the symptoms may be the same, and that is why so many apparently serious ailments readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it acts as a natural restorative. It can be taken with perfect safety and often prevents serious troubles.

Therefore if you know of any woman who is suffering and has been unable to secure relief and is regretfully looking forward to a childless old age, get her to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it has brought health and happiness into so many homes once darkened by illness and despair.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE RISES.

Stock Markets Made Up of Downward Reaction; German Mark Continues Strong.

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—On the stock exchange today's markets were made up of a downward reaction, mostly fractional, in stocks and a movement of bond prices more irregular than that of recent days, but part of Wall Street's attention was diverted for the first time this week to the action of foreign exchange in which market sterling rose above the $4 rate again, touching that level for the fifth time in November, while the German mark advanced rather sharply on the highest rate since the middle of the month. The reason commonly assigned for the day's recovery, which was shared by French and Italian exchange, was the announcement from Washington that the reparations commission had asked for an American delegate to confer with foreign bankers and the commission regarding regulation of exchange during reparation payments.

PROBLEM OF COMMISSION.

What the commission has in mind is to devise some means whereby in shifting reparations funds from market to market as in the transfer of some $30,000,000 due or $40,000,000 to New York last summer, the transaction is not again mismanaged. Sterling was selling around $4 when those remittances began in the second week in June, but the forcing upon the market of that mass of London drafts actually broke the sterling rate 15 cents in four days and without a single development in the legitimate situation of the moment making for lower rates.

Today's strength in the German mark, which got to a price of 1 1-2 one hundredths above the low 33 one hundredths price of November 7, was more likely to have been response to the extremely confused overnight talk in London of what might be done for Germany.

Liberty bonds today advanced again; 4 1-4s of 1918 reaching a price only a trifle more than two points under the subscription price.

IRON AND STEEL.

The mid-week reviews of the steel and iron trade contained one interesting sidelight on the course of the industry this year. Movement from Lake Superior iron ore, the raw material of the industry, ended this week; it showed the year's deliveries to have been less by 62 per cent than in 1920 and the smallest since 1904.

YESTERDAY ON THE HOME EXCHANGE.

Price advances were fairly general on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday. Some industrial stocks, recently more or less inactive, came into the limelight again. California Delta Farms was one of these. Opening at 90½, this stock advanced to a closing sale at 97, a net gain of 1½ over the previous quotation. Oils were weaker, Union of Delaware and General Petroleum each losing half a point, going to 39 and 94½, respectively. Union of California continues to be inactive, only one sale being reported and that at the unchanged figure of 152½. Southern California Edison common recovered ¼ from Tuesday and sold steadily at 95¼. Los Angeles Investment gained 1¼ cents and brought 55 cents a share at the close. Adams was the favorite mining stock and sold unchanged at 6 cents. Mt. Diablo gained 10 cents, going to $1.20 and closing strong at that figure.

Following are the closing prices and sales as posted yesterday at the Stock Exchange Building:

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Taking Up Slack Between the Farm and the Table; Dairy Market Slumps; Bank Clearings Grow.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

November bank clearings exceeded yesterday's estimate by more than $2,000,000. They were $376,010,705.67, the greatest volume of business for any single month, except December, 1920, ever recorded by the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association. They exceeded those of November, 1920, by $24,275,290.79, or 6.4 per cent.

While the trend in living cost and commodity prices appears to be slightly upward, attention is being directed to the heavy slack between the prices realized by the farmer for his produce and that asked of the ultimate consumer. Further readjustment seems needed.

The produce market is sagging. Eggs have declined sharply, reflecting eastern demand. Northern California shippers seek to depress home prices. Big consignment of Australian butter affects that commodity.

Trade conditions in Los Angeles more satisfactory than a week ago. All main divisions rated yesterday as good.

Los Angeles port fastest growing on the Pacific Coast. Valuation of exports and imports expand here while they decline elsewhere. Many new firms for the promotion of foreign trade open offices here.

Oil situation improves from every angle and outlook is good.

Glendora bond issue commands good premium. Market trend shown in offering prices which range from 5 to 5.20 per cent.

South American trade, especially with Pacific Coast, is developing rapidly.

LIVING COSTS.

Economists and reviewers are telling us that the bottom in the price decline for foodstuffs and commodities generally has been struck. This opinion is verified by recent increases in average levels. Yet there seems to be a good deal of slack between the prices the farmer is getting for his produce and that which the consumer in the city and town is paying for that same produce.

The farmer is getting very close to the prewar level. The consumer is paying about 50 per cent more than he paid in 1913. Manufacturers tell us they cannot reduce prices further until labor costs come down and labor costs can't come down until the price of food comes down. The farmer is receiving less for the results of his husbandry and paying more for his other commodities. The farmer is the greatest aggregate consumer in the country, yet he cannot buy liberally when the selling price of what he has to offer is out of proportion to the buying price of the things he would like to purchase.

Retailers say they are down to rock-bottom and to substantiate the assertion point to the material declines made during the past year in most food price levels. Just the same, there is something wrong somewhere. There is too much slack between the farm and the corner grocery, and until more of that slack is taken up, it doesn't look as though living would be much cheaper and if living remains at or about its present level the observers and economists will get away with their gloomy predictions.

PRODUCE MARKET SAGS.

Egg and butter prices are declining after having passed their seasonal peaks early this month. F. M. Hudson, secretary of the Los Angeles Produce Exchange, said yesterday that he did not expect the prices of these lines of produce to go any higher this season and that in all probability they would go lower in the next few months.

Even at the 1921 peak eggs and butter were much cheaper than they were in 1920. Eggs sold as high as 68 cents a dozen wholesale last month, but last year they went to 88 cents a dozen. Butter is also from 18 to 20 cents a pound cheaper than it was last year, selling yesterday on the local exchange at 49 cents a pound.

The break in egg prices came early this week and local traders attribute the sharp decline to weakness in the New York market. The East consumes the surplus of California eggs and when prices go down there, California prices are almost immediately affected. San Francisco shippers of Petaluma eggs are beating down the Pacific Coast prices so that they can export to New York with a safe margin at the lowered eastern market. They took heavy losses when the New York market broke last year and they are trying to keep California egg prices down now so that they will not be caught again.

Other depressing features of the egg market are the heavier receipts from the interior and the tendency of dealers to hold off their purchases. While the market is falling, the dealers hesitate to buy until they think the bottom of the decline has been reached. All this week, according to Mr. Hudson, the trading on the local Produce Exchange has been unusually slow.

The chief cause of the fall in butter prices on the Pacific Coast was the arrival of a boatload of Australian butter in San Francisco recently. The Eastern market is now much firmer than the California, since it does not face this outside competition.

Local cheese prices have also been falling for the past two weeks. The amount of cheese held in cold storage here this year is extremely heavy, and this fact probably has an indirect bearing on the market, although the prices for Los Angeles cheese are actually determined in San Francisco.

The turkey market is showing its usual weakness with the passing of the Thanksgiving demand. Mr. Hudson believes that prices for the national bird will be definitely cheaper by Christmas. The birds are maturing late this year, but the supply should be considerably increased by the end of the month.

A GROWING PORT.

Los Angeles continues to be the fastest growing port on the Pacific Coast. In the month of September, which is the latest for which official figures are available, the exports of this port showed a gain of 124 per cent, and imports a gain of 18 per cent. In September, 1920, Los Angeles imports were valued at $744,192; in September, 1921, the valuation was $880,250. During this time San Francisco's imports fell from $18,875,291 to $6,632,640; Seattle from $8,322,961 to $4,229,995, and Portland from $510,222 to $373,554.

IN FOREIGN TRADE.

Foreign traders continue to give Los Angeles a prominent place in their development plans, and while the present is a time of depression in the export and import field they are formulating developments which will give this city a better recognition when the lanes of oversea commerce are again free and unobstructed. A number of eastern houses are said to be looking this way, and during the past three months, in the face of the depression noted, about twenty new firms have opened offices here.

BUSINESS NEWS.

Favorable Trade Balance With South America; Glendora Bond Issue; Clay Craft Potteries.

Announcement from Panama that the trade between the western frontage of South America and the eastern frontage of the United States formed a larger percentage of the 1921 business of the Panama Canal than that of the United States with any other sections of the world, suggests, says the Trade Record of the National City Bank of New York, the wonderful change which has come over our trade with South America since the construction of the canal. In 1913 the value of the trade of the western frontage of South America with the entire United States was but $79,000,000, while in 1921 the trade of that section of South America with the United States was $139,000,000.

These gains in our trade with the Pacific frontage of our neighboring continent at the south, adds the bank's statement, bring sharply to the attention of the commercial world the remarkable change which has developed in our South American trade in recent years. From 1900 up to 1920 the trade of the United States with South America had shown a continuous "adverse balance." The imports from that continent were constantly greater than the exports thereto, but in the fiscal year 1921 the "balance," for the first time in many years, changed in our favor and in the twelve months ending with June, 1921, our exports to South America were $35,000,000 greater than the imports therefrom, the actual figures standing: Imports from South America, $485,250,000, exports to South America, $523,450,000, excess of exports over imports $38,200,000.

The persistency of this "adverse balance" in the prewar conditions is not surprising The United States is a very large importer of tropical and subtropical foods and also of raw manufacturing materials, while her exports are chiefly food, manufacturing materials, and manufactures. As South America was a large producer of coffee, cocoa and other tropical foods, and also of wool rubber, copper, tin, and other manufacturing materials imported by the United States, it was quite natural that our purchases from that continent should be heavy, while the fact that South America did not need our foods or raw material and had the habit of buying her manufactures in Europe kept the value of our sales to that continent much below that of our purchases therefrom.

With the changes of the war, however, and the reduction in the quantity of manufactures offered from Europe, the South Americans made closer acquaintance with our manufactures and liked them, and also found it advisable to buy their coal from us, especially during the period of coal shortage in the United Kingdom from which they had drawn most of their former supplies.

These changed conditions have resulted in the general increase in South America's demands upon our manufacturers, and readily suggest the answer to the query as to how it happens that the "adverse trade balance" which existed for many years in our trade with that continent has now changed to a "favorable balance" amounting to $38,000,000 in the fiscal year 1921.

SELL MUNICIPALS.

An issue of $60,000 water extension 6 per cent bonds, due serially from 1923 to 1962, was sold Tuesday night by the city of Glendora to the William R. Staats Company at a premium of $5261. Blyth, Witter & Co., the next highest bidders, came within $20 of buying the issue, offering a premium of $5243. Other bidders were the California Bank, which offered $4946.44, the California Company, $4440, and the National City Company, $3522.

The William R. Staats Company offered the bonds yesterday at prices to yield from 5 to 5.20 per cent. The bonds mature annually in amounts of $1500.

CLAY CRAFT POTTERIES.

An annual output of $500,000 of finished goods is predicted by the officials of the Clay Craft Potteries, Inc., following the completion of the two new units now in construction adjoining their factory on San Fernando Road. This company specializes in the manufacture of chemical stoneware, decorative tile, garden pottery and kindred vitreous products. An increasing demand for these products during the past year has necessitated the addition of these two new units.

The basis of the company is the ownership of a mine in Death Valley which, it is said, contains the only known clay deposit west of the Mississippi suitable for the manufacture of chemical stoneware and which enables it to sell this line of goods on a practically noncompetitive basis. According to the official circular of the company, issued recently, the clay from this mine, not only is suitable for chemical stoneware, but makes, even when adulterated with cheaper clays, very superior clay products of the common variety.

TICKER TICKS.

Better investment issues are being pushed by the tide of easy money. There may be further hesitation in the industrial issue due to immediate financial problems and lean earnings, but on the whole higher prices are looked for.

A rediscount rate of 4 per cent is said to be within the possible developments of the near future. This would have a tendency, should it come to pass, of putting Liberty Bonds at par.

Marks were stronger yesterday, due probably, to the visit of Dr. Walter Rathenau, former Minister of Reconstruction, to London.

According to a Tampico correspondent, increase in export taxes on petroleum ranging from 20 per cent to nearly 40 per cent for the oils moving in November has been announced in Mexico City.

Pure Oil's strength is reported to be due largely to buying of stock on new discoveries in the rich Mexia field of Texas, in which it is said to be substantially interested.

The Railroad Labor Board is ready to consider applications of railroads for cuts in pay. The working rules are due for promulgation today. This opens the way for a further discussion of wage reductions.

At a meeting of the Royal Dutch shareholders held yesterday, the director-general of the company said he was unable to state whether the proposed payment of the dividend in shares would be applied this year. He indicated that important extensions of the company's operations were under consideration.

United States to be represented, probably by Federal Reserve Board agent, at the international gathering to be held in Paris or London soon, to discuss exchange rates.

October report of eighty-six railroads shows net operating income of $60,011,167, against $54,210,121 a year ago.

A Financial Authority on November 25th said, "It is practically certain that there will be no great flood of new industrial securities thrown in to check the present strong bond market. There is little likelihood that in any section of the bond market, the supply will greatly outweigh the immediate demand. In our opinion, investment securities will continue to outclass speculative stocks even as speculations."

Legal Safeguards Complete

It would be difficult to conceive of a safeguard which has not been provided to render California Road Improvement District Bonds secure. Each step in the procedure of issuing them is carefully defined with the prime purpose of protecting the purchasers.

In fact, there is a bulwark of court decisions and opinions of leading bond attorneys upholding the law and approving the legality of issues under it.

We shall be glad to send you upon request, an interesting treatise on the essential features of this subject.

In addition to the legal protection, these bonds are a tax lien upon the community. You may easily feel, therefore, that your interests are safeguarded to the utmost.

Such is the case with—

Kern County Road Improvement Dist. No. 10 6% Bonds

Combined with such a high degree of safety, the yield of 5.75% from these bonds is decidedly attractive. Especially in view of exemption from all taxes in California and all Federal income taxes.

We recommend the purchase of these bonds for even the most conservative investments.

'Three New Issues' That Merit Investigation

City of Seattle Municipal Light & Power

$3,205,000, 6% Serial Gold Bonds

A direct obligation of the City of Seattle, the principal and interest being payable from the GROSS REVENUES of the entire Municipal Light and Power System. The estimated gross revenues for 1921 are equivalent to about four times the interest requirements. Yield 5.70% to 5.65%.

Cities of Lyons, Marseilles and Bordeaux.

6% Non-Callable Gold Bonds, Due 1934

Each of these issues is a direct obligation, and is the only external loan of the city issuing it. These three cities were not injured during the war and are in sound financial condition. If bought at today's prices, these bonds will yield 7.65%.

G. R. Kinney Co., Inc.

$2,500,000 15-Year, 7½% Gold Notes

These notes are a direct obligation of the company, which operates the largest chain of general shoe stores in the U. S. In the last fiscal year, the earnings of the subsidiary companies, the shares of which are pledged as security, after full allowance of depreciation, etc., but before interest and taxes, were more than four times the interest charges on these Notes. Yield about 7.75%.

Send for detailed circulars on these attractive issues.

"Good-will"

Good-will is undoubtedly an Asset; frequently it represents enormous sums spent in advertising a Trade Name or in general publicity.

When it appears upon a Balance Sheet it may have arisen through suah actual expenditure, but more often it was originally set up to offset "watered" Stock—against which there were no real Assets.

Sometimes it has been merged with the Property Account, and is no longer separable.

At best it is an intangible asset of such a nature that the Investor should entirely disregard it.

When the "earning capacity" of a Company is being measured, the value of Good-will is automatically given full consideration; it deserves no more.

"Successful investing is a difficult problem. Competent, disinterested advice is helpful."

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Bonds were the only stable features of today's active but inconclusive stock exchange session. Liberty issues, almost without exception, added to their sustained rise, and other seasoned bonds continued to strengthen, but the share list was hesitant or reactionary.

Oils, steels, equipments, chemicals, fertilizers and food specialties made gross recessions of 1 to 5 points. Prominent miscellaneous issues were lower by 1 to 3 points.

Heaviness of oils, which did not extend to Standard Oil of New Jersey and the European group, was accentuated by reports that Mexico contemplates an increase of the export tax.

Selling of rails seemed in the nature of a professional maneuver to create weakness in seasoned industrials. Reactions of 1 to 2 points in transportations were partly retrieved in the final hours. Sales, 750,000 shares.

Money rates were firm in connection with December disbursements, call loans opening at 5 per cent and advancing to 5½. Some easement of time funds was indicated by more liberal offerings of thirty and sixty-day accommodations.

Leading foreign exchanges rose substantially on announcement that the United States intends to participate in the proposed meeting of European bankers, which has for its object the stabilization of international credits. Sterling demand bills rose a fraction over $4 and all the continental quotations were higher by 7 to 15 points, the Dutch rate alone reacting.

Advances among Liberty Bonds ranged from 10 cents per $100 to more than $1, final prices easing, however, on profit taking. The same was true of the general bond list, in which realizing seemed a strong temptation. Total sales, par value, $22,850,000.

DAILY TALK ON TRADE, FINANCE

for the promotion of foreign trade in a wide range of commodities.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

A week ago Bradstreet reports from Los Angeles registered wholesale and retail trade good with manufacturing, industry and collections fair. A round-up yesterday by Trade Talk based on purely local conditions tends to remove the fair items from the list and substitute therefor the term good. In the Los Angeles district current conditions warrant the good rating for wholesale and retail trade, manufacturing, industry, collections and crops.

OIL SITUATION.

The oil situation continues to show signs of improvement from the standpoint of the producer and middleman as well as from that of the investor whose interest is purely speculative. Crude has been steadily rising in price, and the end is not yet in sight. The field difficulties in California have been settled, and production is again on an ascending scale. Gasoline consumption has failed to show as much of a seasonal decline as had been expected, the lubricating market is strong, and the export trade is better.

AS SEEN BY OTHERS.

Most stocks have continued to display inherent strength on light transactions. A great part of the flow of business has been between traders who entertain opposing views as to the immediate future of the market. Reluctance to make fresh short commitments has, however, been shown, it having been demonstrated that the market is not well supplied with stocks, and that any concentrated buying movement easily brings a rally in prices. Under the circumstances it seems unlikely that the general level of prices will suffer any retrograde movement of importance, as plenty of buyers appear whenever stocks are offered at moderate recessions. As a matter of fact, nine stocks out of ten are still cheap, based on the better trade outlook, the more courageous attitudes of the buying public and the vastly improved credit situation.—[Henry Clews.

PLANES HIT HIGH IN AIR; FOUR KILLED

Disaster Takes Place When Army Aviators Attempt to Make Maneuver.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LAWTON (Okla.) Nov. 30.—Four Army aviators, two officers and two privates, were killed today when the two airplanes in which they were practicing combat duty, collided while at an altitude of 2000 feet, and crashed down a half-mile east of Post Field, Fort Sill, Okla.

The dead are Capt. Loomis, Lieut. A. T. Lanfall and Privates Tubbard and B. A. Smith.

As the airplanes struck the earth their gasoline tanks exploded, enveloping the wreckage in flames. Ambulance attendants were unable to reach the bodies until after they had been charred beyond recognition.

According to officers the two machines had been in the air for some time when they attempted to execute a difficult maneuver. As they swooped toward each other their wings met and both airplanes fell in a helpless tangle.

The Tale of a Coat

It's cold
on the moon.
No life,
no cheer,
no heat.
And the man in the moon
has rheumatics.
And Kate, his wife,
has lumbago.
And the man in the moon looked down one day and saw things.
"Quick, Kate," he called.
And Kate dropped the hot water bag and came to him.
"Gaze down there on the earth," said he.
"Spot up that fellow just leaving Scott Bros.'
in a big, fine, storm coat!
I'd like to kill him and grab his coat.
I'd wrap the collar around my kinky neck and cover my rheumatic knees with the warm, woolly material and I'd sit up all night and watch the world go 'round."
And Kate sniffed a bit and rubbed the pole of her back to keep her hands warm.
N. B.—Now, the inhabitants of the earth,
will you appreciate me?
No you won't, till you get me on your backs!
Then life will look sweet to you.
And you'll feel for the man in the moon and for all those who go around half frozen, trying to look happy.
And this I'll tell you:
If you saw me in the magnificent creations that I come in at $25, $30 and $35
you'd get a rawhide and scourge yourself for not having bought me and used me long before this.

ANGELENO HERO OF SEA TRAGEDY

Letter of U.S.C. Graduate Tells of Horrors.

Sees Ship Sink in Double Midnight Crash.

Saves Woman and Baby in Fight With Waves.

A midnight collision in the Irish Sea, rescue of a woman and her baby after seven hours in the water, watching a stricken passenger vessel sink and taking the wheel of the deserted craft on which he was an ordinary seaman, were some of the experiences of Joseph Marchetti of Los Angeles, who shipped last August as ordinary seaman abroad the United States Shipping Board vessel West Camak in search of adventure.

Mr. Marchetti is a graduate of the University of Southern California law school. He intended to specialize in maritime law and decided that a sea voyage would be excellent training to fit him for his profession. He shipped from San Francisco last August, and letters received from him by his father, Charles Marchetti of 932 Beacon street, indicate that experiences piled up thick and fast.

WOMAN AND BABY SAVED.

The West Camak rammed the stern of the Rowan, a passenger vessel, off Corsewell Point at midnight last October 6. The Rowan sank and the crew of the West Camak spent hours rescuing the survivors. Among those who plunged into the ocean to the rescue was Mr. Marchetti. He succeeded in bringing back to his ship a woman and her baby who had gone down with the Rowan.

The West Camak was crippled by the collision, but a Glasgow freighter, the Clan Malcolm, arrived at the spot shortly after the collision. The Malcolm's advent was marked by her ramming the sinking Rowan, sending it to the bottom five minutes later. The freighter, however, stood by the American ship through the night.

ENGINEER POOR HELMSMAN.

After the collision and before the American crew had returned to the ship from rescue service an engineer was detailed at the wheel to guide the vessel. He proved unequal to the task and when Mr. Marchetti returned aboard the West Camak was almost unmanageable. He took the helm and soon brought order out of the chaos aboard.

According to messages received by his folks here Mr. Marchetti decided he had sufficient sea experience after he arrived in Boulogne and there he was paid off. He set sail for New York and

BURCH AND JURY VIEW MURDER SCENE IN GLEN.

Prisoner Jokes and Laughs When He is Taken to Death Spot; Bereaved Father Follows.

Arthur C. Burch and the jury selected to try him yesterday stood on the spot where J. Belton Kennedy was murdered on the night of last August. Under cold, gray skies the jury was shown the physical evidence in Beverly Glen through which the State will seek to convict Burch of the crime.

Burch, calm, collected, the same Arthur Burch he has been since his return to Los Angeles to face the murder charge, accompanied the jury from spot to spot, smiled and joked with those around him and showed no visible sign of the full appreciation of his position.

TO RESUME TESTIMONY.

The case will be resumed in Judge Reeve's court this morning. The first witness for the State will lay the foundation for a line of testimony with which the prosecution will trace the activities of Burch while in Los Angeles and lead up to the actual slaying. The proprietor of the Russell Hotel, the maid, the clerk and other witnesses will be called today, it was expected.

Yesterday's inspection of the glen was by far the most dramatic session of the case. The trampling of scores of feet on the dry leaves and twigs, some of which were trampled and brushed aside by the murderer who lay in wait on the night of the slaying, broke the tense silence of the canyon and the dusty, deserted cottage.

The twelve regular and one alternate jurors, Judge Reeve, Clerk Rugby Ross and Bailiff Clark Reeder, Dist.-Atty. Woolwine and his deputy, Charles Fricke, Attorney Paul W. Schenck, Richard Kittrelle and John J. Sullivan—and the perfectly composed Burch visited and inspected every point of importance in the case.

FATHER FOLLOWS.

And following the jury and the defendant, but keeping at a distance, as if loath to live over again the sad, bitter facts, was John D. Kennedy, the stern-faced father of the slain man.

He watched the small crowd of officials, jurors and reporters climb over the railing of his dead son's property. Saw the board that barred the way to curiosity seekers torn down to permit the jury to enter the premises, gazed upon the solemn activity of the jury and the court, and continued his pilgrimage of sorrow until the very end.

Always in the rear, he was never out of sight of Arthur C. Burch, and his eyes remained on Burch throughout the unusual proceedings.

Burch, never actually looking at Mr. Kennedy, knew it.

Dr. William A. Burch, father of the accused man, did not accompany the jury. Sad faced, silent, he left the courtroom and went to his hotel.

The jurywomen and the two men selected to try Burch paid minute attention to every detail called to their attention.

The voices of the attorneys and the judge, the clear, strong voice of Frank W. Stoddard, deputy county surveyor and prosecution witness, who explained the position of the various locations on the maps prepared by him, and the occasional remarks of the bailiff sounded strangely in the vicinity where two shots rang out in quick succession on the night of the murder, and where Mrs. Madalynne C. Obenchain, co-defendant with Burch on the murder charge, was heard to exclaim, "Speak to me, Belton," shortly afterward.

COURT SESSION.

The visit to the glen was a regular session of the court. Elmer L. Kincaid, the official reporter, followed the jury from place to place and recorded the remarks of the attorneys and Judge Reeve. Most of the conversation was in the form of testimony by Mr. Stoddard, who pointed out to the jury the contour of the road, the position of the Kennedy cabin, and the other houses close by, the steps on which Mr. Kennedy's body was found by the deputy sheriffs, the turn in the road, the Kennedy garage and the wash where the State will try to show Burch parked his automobile while waiting for Mr. Kennedy.

While the women jurors were examining the marks made on the four young sycamore trees by stray shots from the slayer's shotgun, while every person in the vicinity was tense with the appreciation of the situation, Burch picked up a wild flower and placed it in the buttonhole of his overcoat. A few minutes before that, while the jury was examining the locations of the cottages further up the road, from which the State's witnesses are said to have heard and seen things that may mean death to him, Burch attempted to play with a puppy whose barks broke sharply through the air.

Through suggestions made by Mr. Woolwine and approved by Mr. Schenck and Judge Reeve, the jury was shown the dark spot on the steps where Mr. Kennedy's life blood left an imprint still distinguishable, the bushes, trees and other points—all vital links in the prosecution's case.

But the jury was also shown the path from the house to the back of the canyon, the path over which Mrs. Madalynne C. Obenchain says she saw two roughly dressed men run after the shooting, the stretch of road over which the murderer would have had to run to catch his car, and the porch of the house from which a defense witness looked down the road a few seconds after the shots rang out and failed to see either the slayer or his car.

CRIME ESTABLISHED.

Earlier in the day the prosecution, through five witnesses, established the corpus delicti, which means the State has shown that a crime has been committed and that Mr. Kennedy came to his death through criminal means. In this testimony, friends of the defense pointed out, the attorneys for Burch brought out some points in their cross-examination with which they will try to show that the prosecution's theory of the slaying is wrong.

The afternoon session was opened in Judge Reeve's court at 2 o'clock. Bailiff Reeder was sworn in to take charge of the jury. A sight-seeing bus waited outside. The jury was seated in it, and Judge Reeve and the other court attaches, with the exception of the bailiff, took seats in county automobiles. Mr. Woolwine, and Mr. Kennedy, accompanied by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fricke and several reporters, rode in the District Attorney's car. The attorneys for the defense and other press representatives rode in the remaining automobiles.

Burch, attired in a stylish gray overcoat with a black velvet collar and a gray cloth hat, rode in the Sheriff's car, in charge of Undersheriff Biscailuz and Deputy Sheriffs Fox, Nolan and Dewar. In the lapel of his coat Burch wore a pink flower. He waved at the reporters as the strange procession left the Hall of Justice for Beverly Glen.

ARRIVE AT COTTAGE.

The long motor caravan drew up alongside the Kennedy cottage. The jury left the bus and walked up toward the steps. There they were met by Judge Reeve and the court attaches.

The blue-print of the map prepared by Mr. Stoddard was unrolled. The jury gathered in a semicircle, facing the entrance to the cabin, and standing exactly where Mr. Kennedy's automobile stood at the time of the slaying. Burch was close by.

"Now, Mr. Stoddard, will you get your map out," said Judge Reeve. The map was flattened out and Stoddard, looking around to see if all the jurors were within hearing, began his testimony.

STAIN ON STEPS.

A highly dramatic scene was enacted shortly before the jury was ready to walk down the road to inspect the wash where the murderer's car is said to have been se-

Loss Eestimated at Four Hundred Thousand; Arson Plant Suspected.

Fire of undetermined origin started in the basement of the Broadway Department Store warehouse at East Second street and Central avenue at 6:30 p.m. yesterday, and after sweeping through the five-storied brick structure for more than three hours, destroyed the contents, including a large supply of Christmas toys, valued at about $300,000, and at a late hour last night had gained such headway that the building, valued approximately at $100,000 was also considered a total loss.

Harry G. R. Philip, manager of the store, placed the above valuation on the contents and assetted the loss is covered by insurance.

The flames burst from the basement through each succeeding floor with such rapidity that the efforts of ten engine companies were unable to check their progress.

The cause of the fire was being investigated at a late hour last night by fire and police officials, it being asserted that evidence of an asserted incendiary plant was found under the loading platform at the south side of the warehouse where smoke was first noticed by employees in the Adrien Loeb Company's grocery establishment.

More than 100 lines of hose were strung over the streets and carried into the burning building. For the first time in many months the hose tower was used and large streams of water were poured into the flaming upper stories. Fire Chief Scott and Assistant Chiefs McDonald, Johnson and Moore directed the work of the fire fighters assisted by Police Sergeants Krug and Fletcher and twelve policemen.

FEDERAL POST FOR GOODCELL?

Judge is Recommended as Successor of Collector of Internal Revenue Here.

Judge Rex B. Goodcell of the San Bernardino Superior Court has been recommended as successor of Internal Revenue Collector Carter of this port, it was learned yesterday from Republicans familiar with the situation.

"I have no word from Washington," was Judge Goodcell's sole comment last night.

Statements that Joseph Burke of Santa Ana would succeed U. S. Atty. O'Connor were confirmed yesterday to the satisfaction of all in the Federal Building. Somebody, it was said, has received a telegram from Washington to the effect that Mr. Burke's appointment has been mailed so it should reach here today or tomorrow.

Mr. O'Connor yesterday got a letter from Atty.-Gen. Daugherty informing him that his resignation, to take effect today, has been accepted, and will become effective with the appearance of his successor. The Attorney-General did not inform Mr. O'Connor who his successor will be.

INCREASE IN POSTAL RECEIPTS.

Country's Revenue in All Lines Shows Big Boost in Local Federal Offices.

According to a compilation made yesterday the November receipts of the local postoffice show an increase of nearly $50,000 over the figures of the same month last year.

The receipts for November, 1921, were $407,603.90; for November, 1920, $357,487.69; increase, 14.02 per cent.

The November report of the Collector of Customs shows an increase in receipts of almost 100 per cent, compared to November, 1920.

The imports for the month just closed were valued at $990,200; for the same month last year, $669,556; exports, November, 1921, $956,184; November, 1920, $1,605,287. The receipts leaped from $80,727.85 in November, 1920, to $147,495.85.

The shipments to Porto Rico amounted to $6654; to Hawaii, $472,999. The cotton exports for November, 1921, were: To England, 2259 bales, or 1,131,508 pounds, valued at $220,959.

Heavy payments on account of the capital stock tax boosted the figures in the office of Internal Revenue Collector Carter for the month just ended. The total collections were $2,198,200.32, made up as follows: Income tax, $878,840.22, miscellaneous, $1,311,360.10.

The collections for November, 1920, amounted to $1,893,225.64, consisting of $945,600.24 on account of income tax collections, and $949,625.40.

The payment of over $300,000 by one of the stock corporations of this city accounts for the increase in the receipts of the past month as compared with November, 1920.

FAUN PICTURE CAUSES STIR.

Bring Primitive Form Photo into Valentino Case.

Not Questionable but Art, Declares Cinema Star.

Court Names Two Doctors to Examine Jean Acker.

There has been a shift in the wind which had been blowing the Guglielmi separate maintenance-divorce action along on a smooth sea in Judge Toland's court, and yesterday afternoon the sea ruffled up.

The storm was created when Attorney Neil E. McCarthy showed Rudolpho Valentino a small kodak photograph, and the cinema star admitted he was the man in the picture, and that the woman was Natacha Rambova, former dancer and art director. But, instead of being a questionable picture, Mr. Valentino said it was taken in the preparation of a screen play entitled "The Faun Through the Ages."

Attorney Gilbert, through Mr. Valentino, presented to the court the small kodak picture, a larger one showing a portion of a scene, and the scenario. The pictures were not offered in evidence, but were put in envelopes in the custody of the clerk.

Jean Acker, who is seeking separate maintenance, tried to show through the kodak pictures that her husband was paying too much attention to the dancer. She had Miss Rambova subpoenaed but pending the court's decision on the relevancy of the pictures, the dancer was not called yesterday.

PUT TO THE TEST.

Mr. Valentino testified that he first met Miss Rambova when she was art director for Nazimova. He admitted he had called at her home, where he discussed mythological stories, and in the course of this discussion, a test had been made showing the primitive form. The kodak picture had not been retouched, he said.

Miss Rambova had taken charge of his "fan" mail, he testified. Judge Toland had to be told what "fan" mail was. It means mail received from admirers of Mr. Valentino. He denied that he had not paid Miss Rambova for taking care of this fan mail.

"The maid gets the benefit of what comes in the mail," he said. It was at this stage that he was shown the picture. Attorney Gilbert objected, holding it was not relevant.

The court said: "This is going

FREE CLUB WOMAN.

Jurors in Insanity Case Fail to Reach Agreement.

Mrs. Martha G. Brown, Sierra Madre club woman, who was charged with being insane, was discharged last night by Judge Weyl when the jury failed to agree after several hours' deliberation. Mrs. Brown was tried because of startling accusations made by her against fellow-club members in the foothill city and her charges that "one-half the population of Sierra Madre are German spies."

Many of Mrs. Brown's charges were introduced as evidence. It was said that she accused waiters in some of Pasadena's most exclusive cafes of being spies and that nearly every one in Sierra Madre who did not meet with her approval was believed by her to be an employee of the German government.

START COTTON FOR PRAGUE.

Toll Plan is Being Tried by Growers.

Six Farmers in the Arvin District in Pool.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 30.—One hundred and fifty bales of Egyptian, long staple cotton, the product of Arvin farmers, has begun the first leg of a journey that will carry it to Prague, Czecho-Slovakia.

The cotton will be fabricated in that industrial center and is later to be marketed through the great English markets at Liverpool and Manchester. The selling arrangement, worked out with the aid of the United States Department of Commerce, is known as the toll plan. By this method cotton of the highest quality grown in the United States is sent into central European countries, impoverished by war, where it is made into expensive cloth and laces, finally being distributed from world market centers.

Until the raw material has been transformed into cloth, and final sale made to retailers throughout the world, growers do not receive compensation direct from the transaction. They are, however, granted loans from the War Finance Board of 14 cents a pound, running for a period of six months with renewal at the end of that period if final returns from the cotton have not been made.

EXPECT BETTER PRICE.

Exponents of the toll plan claim that cotton growers are thereby afforded an opportunity of selling their cotton at a much higher price than in the event it were sold in the open market at prevailing prices. Local growers expect to receive a price ranging from 32 cents a pound to $2.44 per pound, the price to be governed entirely by the quality of goods manufactured and marketing conditions at time of sale.

Mills in central European states are idle today, due to the fact that their credit has been destroyed and they are unable to go into the market and obtain raw materials. By extending mill owners individual credit under the plan outlined they will be enabled to start their factories, providing thousands of workers with employment, and take their cotton for fabrication in raw material. Numerous safeguards are thrown around the transaction to insure fair treatment of the producers in the United States, it is said.

FIRST SHIPMENT.

Kern county's shipment, the first to be made from California, was loaded on motor trucks at the Arvin gin, and in this way it is transported to San Pedro, where it is loaded in the hold of a ship and carried to Hamburg.

Kern county cotton planters who have placed cotton in the consignment leaving today, are: W. R. Nourse, H. G. Clardy, C. R. Landers, R. S. Rostzong, G. G. Rose and A. T. Nelson, all of the Arvin district.

WASCO GIN.

Ginning operations at the Wasco gin will be started about December 1, according to J. S. Townsend, who has returned to Bakersfield from South Carolina. Owing to the greatly reduced acreage the Wasco gin will operate but a short time. Cotton on the Hoover farm and a few scattered fields in that district comprise the entire acreage grown in that part of the county this season.

Must Hang but Thanks Court; Denies Guilt.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 30.—"I am not guilty. You can sentence me" was the stoical retort made by Luis Guillen, alias Vincente Melgosa, when brought before Judge George R. Freeman today for sentence on the charge of murder of Deputy Sheriffs Henry Nelson and Theodore Crossley on September 22 last.

"I thank you all very much," was his response to the court upon being sentenced to be hanged. The prisoner was started for San Quentin shortly after receiving his sentence.

Sheriff Wilson has received a letter from the Mexican Consul at Los Angeles, stating that he had received a statement signed by thirty-nine Mexican residents of San Bernardino county, charging that Guillen had been treated with great cruelty while incarcerated in the San Bernardino and Riverside jails. The Sheriff has replied to the Consul, denying the allegations and asking for the names of the signers.

Efforts are being made by officials here to clear up the mystery of the death in a local hotel last night of H. E. Stewart, aged 40, who registered yesterday afternoon, giving Los Angeles as his residence.

Investigation shows that every effort had been made by the dead man to conceal his identity. A laundry mark furnishes the only clue to possible identification. The supposition is that the stranger swallowed mercury tablets or some other drug with suicidal intent.

Carpenter is Held as One of Bandit Band

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 30.—Believed by the police to be one of the three bandits who held up V. P. Turton, 3101 East Sixth street, the night of October 26, robbing him of $160 in travelers' checks, a gold watch and $2.50 in cash, and also declared by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sebastian of Glendale to be one of five men who robbed the Sebastian general store in that city the night of November 2, securing $280, Vernon Grace, 29 years old, local carpenter, today is held in the City Jail on charges of highway robbery and forgery.

Grace was arrested through the issuance of a worthless check which he wrote to pay a $10 bill at a local pool hall, it is claimed. The check was returned to the hall operator as being worthless. He framed it and hung it on the wall of his shop. V. P. Turton, who was robbed by auto bandits last month, appeared at the police station and asked the police to return to him four of the eight $20 travelers' checks which had been taken from him during the robbery. Turton's name had been forged on each check. All had been cashed and then sent through to the Ramsey County Bank at St. Paul, Minn., being subsequently returned to Mr. Turton by the bank. The robbery victim had given the checks to the police for use in their effort to apprehend the highwaymen.

As the checks were being turned back to him, Detectives J. B. Worley and J. Z. Helm asked to see them. Investigation showed that the forgery of Turton's name was done in a script that corresponded closely to that on Grace's check to the pool hall owner. The latter check was secured and comparison with the forged name on the travelers' check proved similiar, according to the police. Turton stated today that he had stopped his automobile the night of October 26, just beyond Signal Hill, on Cherry Boulevard, and as he was adjusting the carburetor of his car, three young men in a machine robbed him.

While Detectives Helm and Worley were checking back in the stores where Turton's checks had been cashed, they heard of the Glendale robbery. They investigated and Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian stated that Grace was one of the five who robbed their store and later engaged in a gun battle with the authorities while escaping, the police assert. According to the police, Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian and their four clerks were closing the store for the night, on November 2, when five men entered through the front door, all armed and masked. The proprietor, his wife and the four clerks were lined up against a rear counter with their backs to the bandits, one of whom rifled the cash register, taking the day's receipts, $280, in currency and silver. The bandits started to leave. One of them, as he backed toward the front door, still covering the store owner and his clerks, stumbled against a crate of merchandise and his mask fell from his face. That bandit, Sebastian has declared, according to the police, was Grace. As the robbers left the store they were seen backing out with drawn weapons by Deputy Sheriff J. L. Brown of Glendale as he was passing the grocery, located at Kilson and Glendale avenues. Brown opened fire. The five men immediately shot at him, thirteen shots being fired, four by the deputy and nine by the bandits.

GIRL TELLS PITIFUL STORY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 30.—A pitiful story was told in Judge W. H. Ellis's court this afternoon by 16-year-old Marguerite Jacobs of Corona, in connection with the charge of abduction brought against Archie E. The girl, who said she was always kept locked in her room in the cities where they stopped, including Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago and New York, declared Blake kept her intimidated in order that she might do his bidding.

A grilling cross-examination of the girl was conducted before the adjournment of court by Attorney W. J. Ford of Los Angeles.

INTERURBAN CAR LINES ARE ISSUE.

Pasadena, San Bernardino and Other Communities to Give Views of Service.

What Pasadenans and residents of territory in the San Gabriel Valley think of the service and existent rates of the Pacific Electric interurban lines, including suggestions for betterment, is due for a hearing today, at the fourth conference between officials of the tracton company, engineers of the State Railroad Commission and representatives of the interested localities.

Because of the number of motor transit concerns operating in Pasadena, and between that city and Alhambra, a large delegation of automobile bus operators is expected to participate in today's discussions. The traffic situation, as it affects Hollywood and Edendale will be threshed out tomorrow.

The views of Riverside and San Bernardino residents on transportation in those districts were given yesterday. Speaking for Riverside, City Atty. M. Estudillo commended the present service afforded by the Pacific Electric system. This sentiment was echoed by Attorney Guthrie of San Bernardino. Manager Marshall of the Arrowhead Water Company protested, abandonment by the electric car company of the line connecting Arrowhead and San Bernardino. D. W. Pontius, manager of the Pacific Electric lines, and Chief Counsel Karr of the company explained that no immediate discontinuance of service on this branch is contemplated.

KIND TO THE EYES

Riding in the crowded car, going along the dusty street, sitting in the stuffy office, theatre or school, you are bound to inhale the germs of disease. These germs lodge in the soft tissues of the mouth and throat and if unchecked, may develop into a dangerous ailment.

Formamint, the germ-fighting throat tablet, can be conveniently used at any time or in any place you may be. At the first sign of a sore throat, or when you are exposed to germs, take a tablet and let it dissolve slowly in your mouth. Can be beneficially taken every half hour until throat is relieved.

Formamint mixes its powerful, pleasant tasting antiseptic with the saliva, bathing the infected membranes continuously; combats the germs and keeps them at a safe minimum.

The tablets are so convenient to carry with you, that they can be used unnoticeably wherever you may be. Buy a package from your druggist today, and be prepared to ward off sore throats, tonsillitis and influenza. Men find them very helpful in easing "smokers' sore throat."

TO MEET TODAY ON POWER ROW.

Council Committee Expected to Act on Charges.

Three Courses Open in Task of Getting at Facts.

Service Board Wants Expert to Examine Books.

The Public Service Committee of the City Council is expected to meet today to outline a course of action to be recommended to the City Council for the investigation of the charges made by Councilman Mushet, chairman of the Finance Committee and formerly City Auditor, that the Board of Public Service Commissioners had presented a misleading report covering the operations of the city's hydroelectric power plants.

Three courses of action are now being considered by the committee. The first is to have the Mushet charges investigated by an expert accountant selected by the City Council and whose services shall be paid for by the Board of Public Service Commissioners. This plan was suggested by the board in a resolution read to the City Council yesterday and referred to the Public Service Committee.

A second plan is for the Council to appoint a committee to investigate the board's operations. Councilman Mushet suggested that, as his charges are being investigated, he be permitted to name one member of the committee, that the City Council or the board name a second member and that these two select the third member.

A third plan is for the Council to instruct the Public Service Committee to investigate the Mushet charges and the correctness of the Board of Public Service Commissioners' report.

As President Criswell and Councilman Wheeler, both well known as municipal ownership advocates and defenders of the board, constitute a majority of the Public Service Committee, it is expected that Councilman Sparks, the third member of the committee, who has publicly stated that he desires the public to know all of the facts as gathered by an unbiased disinterested committee or investigator, will oppose this plan, as will Councilman Mushet.

Oil Operator Sankey Ends Life in Texas.

John S. Sankey, 39 years old, of Los Angeles, one of the most successful operators in the West Texas oil fields, committed suicide by shooting himself in his hotel room in Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday, according to press dispatches.

No intimation for his act was left by Mr. Sankey. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sankey of 960 Third avenue, were at a loss to understand what influenced him to take his life. His financial affairs were in good order. He maintained offices in Los Angeles, Tulsa, Okla., and Fort Worth.

Mr. Sankey leaves a widow and a 12-year-old daughter, Eleanor, by a former marriage. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Buys Berries at Rate of Ten Bucks an Ounce

Strawberries at $10 an ounce were purchased yesterday afternoon in Police Judge Chambers's court by T. Kiyota, a Japanese truck gardener. He bought two ounces and left his $20 with the clerk of the court.

Kiyota was arrested and taken into court by Inspectors Didie and Haynes of the Department of Weights and Measures and charged with having sold a quantity of strawberries in small boxes which were two ounces under weight. He was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $20.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN ANSWERS LAST CALL.

HERO OF THIRTEEN BATTLES IN AMERICAN STRIFE DIES AT HOME.

Alonzo I. Gage, who as a lad of 14 rode the high horse to a cannon in thirteen battles of the Civil War, died Tuesday at his home, 1513 Magnolia avenue. Funeral services will be conducted by the G.A.R. tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the chapel of Draper & Engemann, 1125 South Grand avenue, and the body will be buried in the government cemetery at Sawtelle.

When the great American struggle began Alonzo Gage was parentless, a barefooted Illinois boy. In deciding to enlist he spurned the post of drummer, and insisted upon a "man's job." He could ride, and soon was perched on a plump horse of Battery I, First Illinois Light Artillery. He served two years in major campaigns. Mr. Gage died at the age of 73.

For several years he conducted an undertaking establishment in Oregon, Ill., later residing in Dixon, Ill. He came here nine years ago.

He leaves a widow, two sons and one daughter, all of this city—Alonzo I. Gage, Jr., Lyman J. Gage and Miss Marion A. Gage.

STRIKES WICKED BLOW.

Constable's Fingers Break When He Hits Unruly Man.

Constable R. W. Witherspoon, for thirty-seven years an officer at Downey, strikes a wicked blow with his fist. Yesterday he demonstrated this by breaking the finger bones of his right hand, when he hit J. G. Gillingham, who is said to have resisted him. Justice A. S. Gray committed Gillingham to the County Jail for one day for talking back to the court. In spite of his broken bones, the constable took his prisoner to jail.

FAST PACE SET BY VAN NUYS.

Bank Organized, Built and in Full Operation in Short Time.

Van Nuys has broken the record for community development in four ways, according to a report submitted yesterday to the Chamber of Commerce.

The city organized a bank, first; in six days secured purchasers for $100,000 in stock at a premium of $25,000, being oversubscribed, in twenty-one days constructed a bank building and then procured 853 depositors on the opening morning with deposits totaling more than $100,000. No record previously made in the San Fernando Valley has exceeded this, W. P. Whitsett, president of the new bank states in communications to the Los Angeles chamber.

CROOKS NOT PLACED ON POLICE LIST

Crime Record Aspirants Barred, Civil Service Board Asserts.

The Board of Civil Service Commissioners, in a statement issued yesterday, takes exceptions to published statements made by Police Chief Jones that "of twenty-six men who recently passed an examination for policemen he had found the photographs of six of them in the rogue's gallery."

The commission says it had the records of the 100 men who were taking the examination investigated while the men were being examined, and that the commission found that ten of the candidates had criminal records that included forgery, grand larceny and other offenses. These men, it is stated, were eliminated at once and were not certified to the police department as eligible.

"The commission," the statement continues, "is thus using every possible means to weed out undesirables and to obtain only the highest type of men for the city service, rejecting those whose record is not clear."

FREIGHT RATES CUT BY SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

RUBBER TIRES, MACHINERY AND BOTTLES AFFECTED BY REDUCTIONS.

Reductions in freight rates on both east and westbound transcontinental shipments on a number of commodities, including solid rubber tires, road-making machinery and bottles, averaging as high as 14 per cent were announced yesterday by J. T. Saunders, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific. The new rates apply from points east of Chicago and are subject to the concurrence of the eastern lines before publication. As soon as the eastern lines concur and the rates can be lawfully published they will be put into effect, Mr. Saunders states.

The new rates on solid rubber tires from eastern territory to Pacific Coast points range from $2.40 from New York to $1.76 from Colorado points per 100 pounds. The old rate ranges from $2.66 to $1.95.

The new rates on road-making machinery in carload lots range from $2.78 to $2.07, compared to the old rates of from $3.30 to $2.19.

On eastbound shipments of returned empty ammonia cylinders a reduction will be made in both car lots and less quantities. The new carload rate will be from $1.75½ to Chicago to $1.30 to Colorado points, compared to $1.83½ and $1.30, respectively. The less carload rates will be from $2.92 to $2.50, compared to the old rate of $3.45½ to $2.50.

The package provisions covering shipments of bottles from eastern territory to western points will also be amended so as to permit bottles to be shipped in bulk.

LAWYERS AND ORTON MIX IN FIST FIGHT.

WIFE CHANGES TESTIMONY AGAIN AND HUSBAND IS GIVEN RELEASE.

What threatened to be a free-for-all fight in the office of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts yesterday resulted in the former commander of the California department of the American Legion coming out as victor, according to reports.

For the third time yesterday, Mrs. Ruth Orton, who accused her husband, Day B. Orton, of assault with intent to kill her, changed her testimony and said she was not sure who shot her. She at first stated she had done it. Then she accused her husband. Mr. Fitts asked her to go to his office to learn the reason for changing her statements.

A. E. Lane and Justice Farrell of Alhambra, defense attorneys appeared and demanded that Mrs. Orton be allowed to go with her husband. This was refused and an altercation followed in which blows were exchanged between Mr. Fitts, Mr. Lane and Mr. Orton.

Walter Hunter, an investigator, and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark arrived, and the two attorneys and Orton were escorted from the office.

Justice Hinshaw dismissed the case against Orton because of the insufficiency of evidence.

HELD FOR STORE THEFT

Suit Box Contrivance Said to Have Been Used by Youth.

Although Antonio Gossu, a well-dressed young man, appeared innocent enough in a downtown department store on November 21, according to testimony yesterday in Justice Baird's court he was hiding his light under a bushel.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello adduced testimony indicating that Gossu was observed in the store carrying a gray suit box. Becoming alarmed, it was stated, he set the box down and tried to flee. He was arrested and it was charged the box had a hole in the bottom through which a dress suit, valued at $125, had been thrust. A newspaper was used to cover the hole.

Gossu was held to answer for grand larceny. He provided $1500 bail and was released pending trial.

far afield. I would allow this picture in rebuttal. This brings into the case three more pictures and a scenario."

FINANCIAL CONDITION.

With reference to his financial condition, Mr. Valentino stated he owns three automobiles, has $1500 in cash and has no life insurance. He is 27 years of age and came to this country Dec. 24, 1917.

Helen Chadwick, cinema star, testified that Mr. Valentino told her he had tried to get his bride back, but that everything was all over between them.

Mrs. Bella Edwards said that in conversing with Mr. Valentino "he talked about his future, of things he dreamed and planned. I was not interested at that time, because I had not met Jean Acker. He said so far as he was concerned, the thing was absolutely closed; he was through."

Jean Acker, known in private life as Mrs. Rudolpho Valentino Guglielmi, is not in good health. In order to determine her condition with reference to her ability to work, the court appointed Dr. Joseph E. Cowles to make an examination of her with her physician, Dr. Frederick Speik. When this report has been received the court will give his decision in the case. Attorney McCarthy stated late yesterday afternoon he had no further evidence.

The physicians will report to the court the 16th inst., at which time the attorneys will argue the case.

The Pretoria government recently tried an experiment with a view to producing rain by dropping dust on clouds. An airplane ascended to a height of 5000 feet, but the dust failed to cause rain.

Seeks Divorce from National Guard Officer.

Capt. Clarence O. Hively, acting regimental adjutant of the California National Guard, was sued yesterday for separate maintenance by Emily Mae Hively, who charges cruelty.

In her complaint, which was prepared by Attorney Frank G. Collier, she states that Mr. Hively spoke to her only in monosyllables; that he asserted on a number of occasions that he did not love her and that he continually stayed out late without giving her any explanation. The Hivelys were married, the complaint states, in Texas in 1909 and separated here last Tuesday.

A GRAVE MATTER.

Gamblers were running a series of poker games in a West Virginia cemetery when interrupted by the police. When a man has to pretend to be a pallbearer in order to get into a game he must have the bug. Wonder the sports didn't worry about the dead hands.

THE RED MAN.

It seems that the Indians are not disappearing, after all. It is set forth in the census that there are some 36,000 more Indians in the United States than there were ten years ago. This is an increase of over 10 per cent, which is almost as well as the colored race is doing. With nearly 250,000 red Indians on hand there is no immediate need for grief over the loss of our first citizens.

USE OF THE CORKSCREW.

The household efficiency expert has found that a certain type of corkscrew can be used as a clothes hanger. This should help the national program of thrift materially. Lots of folks were wondering what to do with their surplus corkscrews. They don't mind the prohibition amendment so much as the fact that it left them with a few corkscrews on hand. Now that a man realizes that he can screw the thing into a closet shelf to keep his pants up he will spit on his hands and take fresh courage. Save your corkscrews.

WOULD MAKE FARMS.

There are still about 60,000,000 acres of swamp lands in this country. These moist acres would furnish the best of farm lands if drained, and reclamation projects are in order. Private capital should be available for this purpose. The profits are large and it should not be necessary to rely upon the government for the initiative. Good farm lands are not plentiful for the homesteader or the pioneer. The United States may yet need all her tillable acres. There are over a billion acres that cannot be touched by the plow.

THE UPLIFTERS.

It is pleasant to note that the club women of America are finally arranging to take command of the "movement for better films." Doubtless they will begin the crusade by having their executives photographed for publication. These photographs will show the stunningest creations in evening wraps and reception gowns and will of themselves inspire the movie queens to nobler and better work. In this way a spirit of wholesome co-operation may be established. The films will be purified. Virtue will be rewarded and vice punished in the most approved manner. The outlook for a sweeter and better world is fine.

CRIPPLING AN INDUSTRY.

It seems too bad when the government interferes with some of the most promising industries. In Chicago a prominent physician was manufacturing twenty-year-old whisky in twenty minutes. He had sold more than $300,000 worth of his juicy product when heartless representatives of the government came in and took possession. Just because it was illegal. Until this time it has not been possible to endow whisky with twenty years of age in twenty minutes—and now it is illegal. This seems tough. The doctor is said to have had the most beautiful still that the officials had ever seen and with it they took more than 300 gallons of the twenty-year-old whisky that had been made the day before. The use of oxygen and ozone tanks and electric coils did the purifying and aging. The electric coils would add years to the stuff and at the same time bring the fusel oil to the top. This would be drained off and oxygen introduced, thus purifying the liquid. It only took about twenty minutes to produce a whisky that would pass for twenty-year-old bourbon. The doctor had labels for all the fancy brands as a part of his stock. He could give a man a case of Old Crow or Oscar Pepper—just as was preferred—on a half-hour's notice.

AERIAL ARMAMENT.

We are told that battles of the future will be largely decided by air forces rather than naval. When we look back over the accomplishments in the development of aviation during the past ten years and consider what another ten years may bring forth, would it not be wise for the Disarmament Conference to take up the question of limiting aircraft as well as battleships?

It is conceivable that the attention and much of the expenditure now devoted to naval defense might be turned to the production of dreadnaughts of the air which would be quite as formidable as any dreadnaught of the sea ever known. If we are to advance toward any real peace the proposed holiday in naval preparedness must include army and aerial limitations as well. A nation might conceds all that is asked by the conference and still make her aerial defenses a menace to other nations, which would defeat the great purpose presented by our own country and accepted by the powers represented in Washington. The multiplication of danger and horrors made possible by aircraft may act as a deterrent of war, it is true. But the knowledge that the nations of earth had voluntarily put away all offensive armament of whatever nature would lift the clouds of dread which must forever hover over the masses of men while "preparedness" for attack and conquest still goes on, whatever form it may take.

MARSHAL FOCH'S VISIT.

The visit of Marshal Foch to Los Angeles on Sunday will be one of the great events in the history of the city.

As the victorious chieftain in the greatest struggle in the history of the world, he ranks with Alexander, Cromwell and Napoleon as one of the master strategists of the ages. In him the tactics of the offensive and the defensive were more effectively blended than in almost any leader of armies. He possessed Cromwell's capacity for standing punishment and Alexander's fury in launching an attack. Like Napoleon he had the gift of divining his enemy's weak spot and hurling overwhelming numbers against it.

Alexander inherited a superb fighting machine from his father, Philip of Macedon, and did not have to be diplomatic toward powerful men under him or regardful of any legislative group or council. He was a despot, with unsurpassed resources for warfare at his disposal. Cromwell led an army which was so fired by fanaticism that its members became almost fiends in the hour of battle. Napoleon hurled the best troops in Europe against a coalition divided against itself and singularly unfortunate in most of its leaders.

But Foch had to correlate and centralize against a closely organized and ably led enemy, troops speaking more than a score of tongues and scattered over a battlefield surpassing in extent anything of which strategists of other eras had even dreamed.

His was the task of wielding a league of democracies, always at a disadvantage in time of war, against a despotism which could instantly concentrate its resources toward a given end. He took command in the darkest hour of the war, when the initiative was still in the hands of the enemy, and when the demand from the Allied peoples for swift achievement was so great as to threaten to deprive a commander of the freedom to properly time his blows. He was answerable to the Supreme Council, which, in turn, was the voice of those democracies which were impatient for victory and ignorant of the seriousness of the military situation which their generalissimo had to face.

He had to be diplomat, statesman, politician and a man of war all at the same time. All of these, both in the hour when defeat seemed so near and when he had the enemy completely at his mercy, he proved himself to be. On a scale which has been equalled by no other man who has ever lived, he was the organizer of victory, the directing genius for the resources, the devotion and the heroism of millions upon millions of people.

In him there was none of the bestiality of Alexander, the sourness of Cromwell or the diseased egotism of Napoleon. Simple in his manners, fervent in his faith, totally unsullied by his success, he delighted, when given a short respite from his labors, to commune with his God, or, silently and with understanding, to hold the hands of little children. Flowers and peasant-folk and peace he loves—this mightiest warrior of the modern world.

France reared him and helped to mould his lofty soul, and yet he is no longer a Frenchman merely, but a citizen of the world. As the triumphant leader of free peoples, he made himself one with the lovers of liberty in every land.

For decades those who see him while he is in this city will remember it with enthusiasm and speak of it with pride. It will be an experience which will take on added value with the passing of the years. Half a century or more from now men and women who as children shook hands with the great marshal will tell of the experience in the same exultant manner in which those who shook hands with Washington or Lafayette spoke of it to their grandchildren and their great grandchildren. Therefore, every man, woman and child who wants to see him should have the opportunity of doing so.

Toward that end the plans for his entertainment here should be shaped. No attempt should be made to hitch him onto any institution or sect, or to have him as the special guest of any man or group of men.

Marshal Foch is coming as the guest of all the people of Los Angeles and Southern California. Let him be so received.

THE BIGGEST POLE.

Speaking about Poles, there is our venerable friend, Stanislaus Zybszko. He has a name that sounds like a bowl of crackers, but in reality he consists of some 340 pounds of red meat. He seems also to be the unquestioned king of the mat. For the 940th time he has taken the world's wrestling championship. He has again outstrangled "the Strangler." If Zybszko would let his whiskers grow they would be a foot long and pure white. He must be nearly a thousand years old. Anyhow, he has been wrestling for a couple of generations. Stanislaus must take pretty good care of himself or else goulash is good stuff to train on. Frank Gotch, the Iowa farmer, was the only man who was able to hold him down for any length of time. When an athlete can embark in a wrestling match every other night for twenty or thirty years he may be said to be in good condition. That is about the way it is with the big Pole. He is still going strong and will probably wind up by being the champion mat man of the League of Nations.

A bit chilly these nights to don a bed sheet shot full of holes to pose as a subject of the "Invisible Empire." It is time to laugh the organization out of existence.

The Letter to Santa Claus.

OUT OF THE CHAOS.

When the debris of a demolished structure is being cleared away the sight is not pleasing. All the senses are offended by the litter, the noise and confusion. It is difficult to visualise the future structure which in time will rise over the scene of wreck and ruin. Now and then an artist, or one gifted with vision, can hopefully survey the removal of the wreckage, knowing that it must be cleared away before work can begin on the new structure. He can patiently tolerate the slow and laborious preliminary work which must be done, for he can see in imagination the noble building which will rise in symmetry afterward.

The nations today are standing in a hush of shame and sorrow before the chaos which warfare has produced. Few of them have the vision. They are almost paralyzed, dazed by the awful wreck and ruin. They are weary of war—very weary indeed—and they hope that some time war will be no more. They are standing amid the chaos, groping blindly for the recovery of their lost possessions, not realizing that the mere recovery without re-creation would end in the same old way. They must learn that the grasp of power is a two-edged sword.

If they could for a moment visualize the noble civilization that would arise to bless the earth if they would but unite in clearing away the wreckage of the old they would lose no time in beginning the task. It is a tremendous one and will tax the powers of the keenest minds. The highest intelligence of the age must be brought to bear upon the problem. There will be many details to be worked out—national and international questions to be settled before the dream of world peace can be realized.

With the realization that the war-god must be deposed from his throne among the nations the first step will be taken. The second step—the limitation of armaments—must be taken soon or there will be no civilization in the near future to be considered. The world will revert to barbarism and chaos. The destructive forces have been long loosed upon the world. The constructive work must now begin in earnest. Public sentiment must be awakened to the need of world peace—to the grave dangers confronting civilization unless the nations cease their preparations for war. The world is perishing for lack of peace—the true peace which the Master promised.

Limitation of armaments is but a preliminary measure in the world movement for true and lasting peace. The truth must be pressed home that if one nation has the right to arm to the limit, so have all the others. All radical changes involve certain difficulties of readjustment. It will take time to divert the stream of warring elements into peaceful channels—to turn the activities of the military hordes to the pursuits of peace.

It has been suggested that complete disarmament would greatly increase the flood of unemployment menacing the nations. The disposal to their advantage of all the naval and military forces would without doubt tax our resources to the utmost—but that would be a small price to pay for world peace. This is one of the problems which our solons must solve. The pursuits of peace should furnish employment and a living for all. If they do not, there is something radically wrong with our civilization. There is a vast amount of constructive work to be done in our cities and towns. Fields are waiting to be tilled, deserts to be reclaimed, nature forces to be conquered and utilized. Science has given us many hints of discoveries that may be made—of things that may be done when the faculties of man are turned Godward and the working energies of the world are properly directed. Humanity cannot be trusted with the secrets of nature until the mania for killing dies out forever.

Between the years 1789 and 1920 four-fifths of the United States coinage went to maintain the army and navy. Appalling thought! Yet we boast of our civilization! We have really deified the god of war and have rendered him servile and abject homage. We have depleted our treasury for him and have robbed our citizens of the comforts of life in doing so. Four-fifths of our treasury spent for the purposes of warfare! What a splendid humanitarian work could have been accomplished by even a portion of this outlay! How nobly our citizens could have been encouraged in their various vocations, in their aspirations and worthy ambitions! With a small portion of the appropriation used for military purposes a State or national fund could have been maintained for the encouragement of the arts and sciences. Many of our brightest minds have been greatly handicapped in their creative efforts by the lack of some timely provision for material needs. They have found it difficult to create, explore or discover when the wolf is howling at the door. Would it not be well, for a change, to spend a little of our national income in silencing the wolf, even at the expense of the war god? The appalling amount spent for military purposes is a good argument for disarmament.

During the process of readjustment—in the epoch between the old and the new—there will necessarily be confusion. It rests with those who have the vision to blaze a trail through the litter and debris to the finer civilization that hope visualizes. This splendid future civilization must rest upon a different foundation from all preceding ones. The spirit of war must die out from the heart of man. Then war between the nations of the earth will be an impossibility. Always, in the last analysis, we are brought face to face with this fact. We cannot escape it, because it is a principle inherent in the deepest part of our divine human nature.

No surface peace will ever avail. No negative peace—which is merely cessation from warfare—will ever be true and lasting. We must get back to first principles and recognize the underlying unity of our common brotherhood. The preliminary work must be done now. Everything that stands in the path of progress toward that goal must be cleared away. Then, as the nations learn to build instead of destroying—learn to help instead of grasping for selfish power—there will be no desire for war.

THE PILGRIM PAGE OF HISTORY.

The celebration of the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth has, aside from its pageantry, a serious message to the people of today. It turns the mind to those early times when men thought it worth while to brave any hardship, to endure any fate, rather than to deny the God of their belief.

In the history of these stern and rigid people are many pages that do not redound to their credit. The quality of mercy did not temper their justice. But they were strong in one thing: They had the courage of their convictions. They believed in a God to be feared more than a God to be loved. They believed that all wrong-doing merited punishment and they had the hardihood to carry out the decrees of justice as they saw it.

They were honest; they were courageous, they were just; but they were not, when all is said and done, a lovable people.

They have passed and their descendants are growing fewer as the years go by. It is not alone the Mayflower descendants who are rearing the future citizens. It is also those of many races who have come across the seas on a mission much like that which animated the Pilgrim Fathers: The desire to attain a greater liberty, a larger freedom.

The Puritans were the trail blazers. They did their work. To be descended from them in blood is something to cherish. To be one with them in ideals is within the reach of all.—[Lynn Item.

LONE STAR SNAP SHOTS.

Some men's idea of a musical instrument is the brewery whistle.

Another good thing about gum-chewing is that you can learn it in a few easy lessons at home.

As we understand it, the way to settle a strike is for everybody to agree that it is silly.

And there are so many people looking for work you can hardly locate one of them when you want your wood sawed.

It has just about gotten so in this country that an actress won't pay the photographer if he didn't put her legs in the picture.

The old-fashioned bad man who used to see the crowd scatter when he reached for his hip pocket now sees them come up close and smack their lips.

The Question of Dreadnaughts.

We would have fewer dreadnaughts to maintain on the oceans if we had more dreadnaughts in Washington. — [Columbia Record.

OUR SUNNY FRIEND

The Little Brown Hills.

Everest, Greyback, Whitney, Lowe,
I think when the good God wished to show
The might of his power he built them high
And hung them up 'twixt earth and sky;
For to show the sons of Ham and Shem
And Japhet painting, he painted them
With a mighty brush, with gorgeous hue—
But the little brown hills He made them, too.

Oh, the mountain it is a changing thing
With the shifting colors the seasons bring,
As up its great gaunt reaches crawl
The green of springtime, the brown of fall,
Marking their coming, marking their flight,
The yellow of summer, the winter's white,
While the little brown hills lie close to ground
And keep one color the whole year round.

The mountain belongs to who has sight
Of its high-flung peaks, or day or night,
And the mariner, out where the black waves comb,
Claims it, steers by its snowcap home,
And the wanderer follows it through the sand
Of the desert wastes to a kindlier land,
But the little brown hills belong to those Who live within their shadows close.

There are beautiful flowers in France, they say,
I like those best in my own doorway.
There are beautiful boys beyond the sea,
But I love him best who's the son of me.
There are big, fair girls on the River Rhine,
But fairer to me this wife of mine.
There's a lure that lurks in the far peak's crest,
But—I love my own brown hills the best.

Where Ignorance Was Bliss.

Professor Dink Bosson says there's something about attics that makes them appeal to people, especially kids, and especially on rainy days.

He wonders what the poor kids do now to realize this instinctive feeling, kids who are raised in apartment-houses where every room is made use of for practical purposes.

They didn't have any real attic in his family when he was growing up, for the upstairs was in constant use quite like the downstairs and one room was Aunt Mag's room and one was the boys' room and one the girls' room and one was pa and ma's room.

There was a loft in Maxwell's blacksmith shop, though, and they fell back on that on rainy days.

It was windowless and you had to find your different treasures there by feeling and the apples you kept there had to be covered up or they would get gritty and uneatable from the sparks and soot that floated up from the forge, but, with the rain on the roof and enough boys with enough stories newly memorized from "Arabian Nights" to pass the time away, it was a pretty enjoyable place.

Especially if you had some candy to mix with your apples or black walnuts and stories.

Cocoanut candy used to be the prof's favorite. It was made in strips and looked quite a bit like breakfast bacon. Then one day the boys decided they didn't want any more cocoanut candy.

John Maxwell had a big grindstone in the shop with a shaft that four boys could pump on, two abreast. One afternoon he called them down to turn it while he sharpened tools. Their cocoanut candy was only half eaten at the time.

When they stopped for a rest they slumped on the floor and reached in the sack for a helping of candy around.

Alas, they found the confection that had been so toothsome when eaten in the loft closely flecked with small white worms.

A "Type."

Professor Dink Bosson says when he was a young man and went anywhere he was always looking out for some person or thing typical of the place, and the last day of his first visit to San Francisco he took a stroll around the Barbary Coast looking for types.

Well, he did the streets of the coast block by block, he saw prosperous-looking rounders and poverty-stricken rounders, drunken rounders and sober rounders, but none for some time particularly different from what he might have seen in a stroll down the streets of his own home town of St. Louis.

And then, just as he was about to give up, a man swaggered into sight. He was dressed in a mackinaw coat, pointed shoes and he wore a fuzzy hat.

His red sweater had the collar turned back above the mackinaw collar far enough so you could see that his green and purple necktie was held in place with a horseshoe-shaped stickpin.

The prof was ready to go. He had a letter written on St. Francis Hotel stationery. He would mail it at the postoffice and then, home.

Who should step up to the general delivery window of the postoffice just as the prof entered the swinging doors but the rounder of the fuzzy hat.

The prof came within earshot just in time to hear the rounder ask the clerk when the next mail would get in from Pomona and then, "Oh, fudge, I wish it was here. Dad's a-sending me money to come home on."

Why She Knew.

The speaker was Gen. Horace Townsend. He said:

"I had in Tours a French servant girl who was preparing to migrate to our shores. In buying her outfit she wanted to go in heavily for furs and fur linings, but I said to her: 'Why so many furs? It isn't as cold as all that in the United States.'

"'Indeed it is, there,' said the girl, and she tossed her head. 'You can't fool me, monsieur le general. Isn't it the United States that all our frozen meat comes from?'"—[Washington Star.

PEN POINTS

They are debating the Ford-Newberry case in the Senate—but even this shall pass away.

The limit of worthlessness used to be expressed so: "About 30 cents." Now it is the German mark.

Ostrich plume garters are the latest in fashionable Los Angeles society—and we hope to see more of 'em.

Jess Willard has quit the ring for good—the good of the suckers who laid wagers on his fighting prowess.

Pictures of Sir James Craig ordering a new suit appear in the daily press. Did the suit include an Ulster?

And there was the old-fashioned man whose amusements were confined to the concerts of the Allegheny Bell Ringers.

The marines seem to have settled the local disarmament question, so far as the robbing of the mail trucks is concerned.

It is often the case that a man can have his hat blocked by keeping it on his head. And we are mentioning no names.

There is no room in this town for a "Spit and Argue Club." That was one of the causes of the fall of the Roman Empire.

And there used to be a fellow who made a specialty of reciting "The Face on the Bar-room Floor." What has become of him?

One of these days there will be a line of successful candidates for the jobs in the Federal Building whom the office did not seek.

The navy plan of Secretary Hughes is vigorously attacked in Germany. But why should they worry? They have no navy to speak of.

A Manchurian war lord offers to loan the Bank of China $1,500,000 to tide things over. The war lording business must be a good graft in Manchuria.

Will Germany be able to pay 500,000,000 gold marks January 15? If she can't, what will happen? The situation offers a fruitful field for the pessimist.

Postmaster-General Hays has asked the postmasters of the country to assist in locating missing persons. Gosh all hemlock, is Al Burleson missing?

Why should there not be policies of insurance guarding against bad marriages? A policy doing the same service for the appearance of twins would also help.

December 5 is the date now fixed for the visit of Marshal Foch to Los Angeles. If the soldier attempts to kiss you on the one cheek turn to him the other.

We often wonder where they get the young men to pose for the collar advertisement. There would be fewer old maids if it were possible to find the specimens.

David Lloyd George and the English people would give thanks with more unction if there were no such things on earth as the Sinn Fein and the kicking East Indians.

Quarantine has been lifted on the local celery and those who like it can now give an imitation of a horse chewing corn that is life-like enough to get them on any hippodrome circuit.

They are putting the ketchup bottle back on the table in some of the rapid-fire lunch places. We are getting back to normalcy by degrees. The dish of crackers will be the next thing.

The scientists at Copenhagen express the opinion that the ascent of Mt. Everest will be successfully made. But was it not this same bunch of highbrows who testified to the "proofs" of old Dock Cook?

It is understood that some of the savages in Africa, to whom we send missionaries, are saying that they cannot understand why it is necessary to have armed men to guard a mail train or the trucks carrying mail to the trains. They have a lot to learn.

One of the features of the new tax law will be hard on the average newspaper man. A man with a net annual income of $5,000,000 will have to pay $1,593,180 a year income tax, which is an increase of $400,000 a year. It was bad enough under the old rate.

VANISHED FRIENDS.

Behind me, long the shadows grow,
As fleeting years go by;
And friends that once I used to know
No longer catch my eye.
Their face and voice to me remain
The same as yesteryears;
But space and time have cut in twain
Our mingled joys and tears.

We stop and wonder where they are,
And why they left us so,
To find abode upon some star?
There's none of us that know.
The mental plane on which they live
Is separate and distinct;
'Tis only thoughts, we them can give—
Other greetings are extinct.

They're only stripped of mortal sense
And free from all its pains
Enjoying spirit's recompense
For losses, now their gain.
They've made some milestones more than we
Along the eternal trail,
That yet remain for us to see
While passing through the vale.

MARSHAL FOCH REACHES COAST.

War Hero Heads South After Fete in Seattle.

Plans Whipped Into Shape for Welcome Here.

Expect Many Children to Join in Celebration.

Marshal Foch reached the Pacific Coast yesterday. He was feted in Seattle and Tacoma and is now headed down the Coast. Today he will be the guest of Portland and is due to arrive in San Francisco Saturday morning, his special train leaving for Los Angeles at 9 p.m. and arriving here Sunday morning.

Last-minute details of the program here were whipped into shape yesterday by Chairman O. M. Souden of the general civic committee and by Leo D. Daze, head of the American Legion activities. The latter appointed twelve subcommitteemen to handle details of the reception on West Adams street and the luncheon at the Ambassador.

Superintendent of Schools Dorsey highly pleased over the compromise adjustment of the program, authorized under the sanction of the Board of Education, an announcement in all schools of the city that children are invited to assemble in the oval of the race track at Exposition Park promptly at noon Sunday. The invitation is in no way compulsory, but it is believed that more than 40,000 school children will be present to sing "La Marseillaise" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

CHAIRMEN BUSY.

J. W. Sutphen, as chairman of the press and publicity committee, found his hands full of preparatory matters, as did Grand Marshal Roller of the parade committee, on whose shoulders will rest the important detail of promptness, policing and a clear field of travel throughout the day.

One hundred uniformed Red Cross nurses are to be a feature of the celebration at Exposition Park. Many of them saw service in France during the World War and all have been active in the drive of the Red Cross roll call.

The memorial services of Los Angeles Lodge No. 99, B.P.O.E., which were to have been held in the Mason Operahouse at 2:30 p.m. Sunday have been postponed from that hour to 8 p.m. in honor of Marshal Foch. An Elks' massed band composed of all the bands of that organization in Southern California will lead the parade under the direction of Frank Marsales.

GIRLS GREET MARSHAL.

Frank Keenan, veteran actor, received a letter yesterday telling of the part his little grand-daughters, Betty and Hilda Sloan, aged 6 and 7 years, respectively, played at the tribute to Marshal Foch at the Army and Navy Club in New York City last week.

The girls are pupils of the Holbrook School for Girls and are in New York with their parents, Maj. and Mrs. Frank C. Sloan. They presented Marshal Foch with a bouquet of American Beauty roses, making the presentation speech in French. The marshal replied in French, saluted and gave each tot a kiss.

Marshal Foch is being paid one of the greatest compliments of his career by the railroads. The American Legion, which is conducting the special train bearing the marshal, will have a total bill of $9 for the entire transportation cost.

Each of the eight railroads involved takes over and operates the special train for a total charge of $1.

MARSHAL FOCH USES STEEL MAGNATE'S CAR.

Marshal Foch on his western trip is occupying a private car so comfortable and convenient that only the jogging over the rails makes it different from a hotel suite. It is the car of Charles M. Schwab, the man who dominates the steel industry, lent by him for the French soldier's use.

The car, Loretto, has a telephone arrangement, so that as soon as the train stops in a city, connection is made, and local and long-distance service at once is available. The marshal is much interested in the speedometer. He can sit in the car and tell the speed of the train just as a motorist does of his automobile.

Marshal Foch need not undress and dress while lying in lower 6; instead, he has a three-quarter width brass bed in a roomy compartment. In the morning he takes a bath in an illuminated needle shower. A French cook and a French waiter are on duty, and with him as passengers are his aide, Gen. Desticker and Capt. C. E. McCullogh of Baltimore, who is in charge of the trip. The conductor is Joseph L. Ray of Bethlehem, Pa. The Loretto is an all-steel car, with the interior finished in Cuban mahogany.

ENGINEER IS SUED.

Wife's Complaint States Other Woman Came Into Lives.

Charging that another woman had entered their lives, Mrs. Billie Ann Hulse yesterday sued Marion W. Hulse, chief engineer of the International Dehydrating Company, for divorce. The complaint, which was prepared by Attorney Ben S. Hunter, states that Mr. Hulse deserted his wife and that later she discovered there was another woman. Mrs. Hulse asks for alimony and custody of the couple's child. She also asks for a division of property, including a home in West Adams Gardens.

DEPENDS ON WHO CUSSES PUBLIC.

Suing Wife Says Husband Was Lazy and Copied Rail Man's Remarks.

A railroad magnate once became famous by saying: "The public be damned" and so when Charles E. Van Gundy was asked by his wife why he did not go to work driving a jitney buss he made a similar remark, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Mrs. Beatrice V. Van Gundy. Mr. Van Gundy's exact remark, according to the complaint, was "I won't cater to any damned public," but it didn't make him famous.

Besides the fact that her husband would not go to work, Mrs. Van Gundy charges that he swore at her and did other things. The complaint recites that the couple were married in Decatur, Ill., June 17, 1919, and separated in Long Beach last November 12. Mrs. Van Gundy is represented by Attorney Newell of the beach city.

MANY PAY TRIBUTES TO FLYER.

Airplanes Shower Flowers From Sky at Funeral of Emery Rogers.

A squadron of six airplanes, circling low over a chapel, a shower of white carnations falling from the sky, droning of mighty engines, broken by the hum of propeller blades and the silent tribute of a concourse of many people marked the funeral services yesterday for Emery Herman Rogers, president of the Rogers Aircraft Corporation.

This Army aviator, known for his splendid service during the World War, was killed last Sunday when his plane crashed to the ground at Crescent Field during a race with Kenneth Montes. The planes were circling the field at a speed in excess of 100 miles an hour. It is believed that Mr. Rogers fainted. His monoplane zoomed, turned on its side and fell.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes about the casket was an airplane of white carnations, eight feet from tip to tip. The chapel of the Los Angeles Crematory Company was crowded to the doors for the services. The remains were cremated.

Mr. Rogers leaves a widow, a son and Mrs. Florence H. Gorham, his mother, all of Santa Monica.

Hold Funeral Rites Tomorrow for C. C. Davis.

Funeral services for Carlyle Channing Davis, newspaper man, author and president and treasurer of the Phillips Printing Company, will be conducted tomorrow at 10 a.m., at the residence, 802 North Avenue 64. Burial will be in Hollywood Cemetery. Mr. Davis died Sunday at his home after a long illness.

Beginning with the boom days at Leadville, Colo., Mr. Davis was for many years owner and editor of the Democrat and the Evening Chronicle of that city. In 1895 his health failed, and he came to California. For a time he was editor of the Morning Herald of this city. He was author of "The True Story of Ramona," "Olden Times in Colorado," "A Trip Through the Orient," and several other books.

FUNERAL OF MINISTER.

Service for Rev. M. A. Plumb, Retired Pastor, is Conducted.

The body of Rev. Marcus A. Plumb of 410 North Avenue 65 was yesterday shipped to Palatine, Ill., for burial after funeral services had been conducted at the chapel of the Cresse Undertaking Company. Rev. E. E. Helms of the First Methodist Church, assisted by the Revs. Ralph Moore, C. A. Bunker, Guy McBride and J. B. Albrook, conducted the service.

Mr. Plumb, who died Tuesday at his residence following a gradual decline due to age, was a retired minister of the Methodist church. He served as pastor of churches in Chicago and vicinity for more than forty years before coming to Los Angeles, where he had occupied different pulpits the past twenty-five years.

Mr. Plumb's last active charge was the Grace Church, Long Beach, from which position he was retired about two years ago. He was for sixty-five years a member of the Rock River Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and of the Knights Templar more than a half-century. He was born in New Haven, Ct., Jan. 23, 1836.

Mr. Plumb leaves a widow and two daughters who reside in Chicago.

VICTIM REPORTS LOSS.

Robbed of Money by Newly Found Friends, He Says.

Charging that he had been lured to a hotel near Eighth and Main streets and then held up and robbed of $200 in checks, Edward B. Dahl of Klamath Falls, Or., yesterday asked the police to begin a search for the robbers.

According to Mr. Dahl's story he met a stranger on the streets shortly after he had arrived in the city and was taken to a hotel on Main street to register for a room. When they arrived at the hotel they were met by a second man and all three went to a room. Then Mr. Dahl was held up and robbed.

VIEWS OF SOUTHLAND ARE ASKED.

Photographs of Scenic Spots Sought for Use in Advertising the State.

The advertising committee of the All-Year Club of Southern California sent out a call yesterday for Southern California photographs. It wants the best possible pictures of scenic spots in the Southland, for use in the All-Year 1922 advertising campaign, and it believes that there are many amateur photographers here who would welcome the opportunity of furnishing unusual pictures that would help in bringing home the attractiveness of Southern California to the visitor and the homeseeker.

"There are, of course, many pictures of Southern California available," said C. G. Milham, the All-Year executive secretary, in explaining the needs of the committee, "but the committee knows of only a few that will exactly suit its purposes. What are required are photographs of distinctively Southern California scenes or places—pictures that couldn't be taken anywhere else—and that will lend themselves readily to use in half-tone illustration. You see, we not only want to tell people about the delightfulness of a sojourn here, but we want them to see pictures of our beautiful canyons, or gorgeous trees and flowers, or golf links in their unrivaled scenic setting, our magnificent roads, our charming suburban townsit and the striking bits that are found along our Coast.

"The right pictures will help in carrying the message of the All-Year Club and will aid in upbuilding the Southland. Pictures found available will be paid for."

Photographs are to be sent to the All-Year Club at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, with a descriptive word or two, and with the sender's name and address, and will be promptly returned if found not available.

Vejar of 1122 Euclid avenue, Santa Monica, when he was fined $10 yesterday by Justice Hinshaw in the County Speeders' Court for parking his car without leaving an unobstructed space for other vehicles to pass, decided to appeal the case to the Superior Court. The defendant asserted the car, so parked was not his own, while Motorcycle Officer Riley stated Vejar had caused a second car to park in a position on the road that stopped other machines.

Th court assessed fines totaling $1200, ninety cases being filed, compared to from 200 to 250 two months ago.

FIVE GIRL FLYERS TO RACE AIRPLANES.

LOS ANGELES AVIATORS PLAN SPEED CONTEST FOR NEXT SUNDAY.

Five Los Angeles girl aviators, considered the most skillful in the West, will compete Sunday at the Daugherty flying field in a twenty-five-mile race. The prize will be the honor of hearing President Harding's voice transmitted across the continent by wireless telephone in greeting to guests at the ball of the Aero Club of Southern California to be held at the Ambassador next Thursday night.

Word was received from Washington yesterday that President Harding would comply with the request of Aero Club officials to lend his official presence by wireless to the local affair if it were possible, and immediately there was a scramble for the honor of being the recipient of the Presidential message. It was finally decided that girls who have qualified as active pilots of planes would alone be eligible for the post, with the winner of a special race to be the final choice.

Mrs. Errol Perry, Miss Meta Snooks, Mrs. George H. Hand, Miss Edna Warde and Miss Aloisa McLintick are the contestants. They will pilot the fastest racing planes in this part of the country, and it is expected a new record for women aviators will be established in their twenty-five-mile brush.

Society girls competing in the race for the honor of being crowned queen of the air at the Aero Club ball are not eligible for the speed contest, despite the fact that several of them have become proficient during the past few weeks in handling an airplane. Miss Emeleen Childs now leads in the aviatria balloting, with Grace Brown Thomas, Miss Mae Wild, Mrs. Herbert McGaffey and Miss Caroline Winston separated by narrow margins. The others are also well up in the race.

IN BANKRUPTCY COURT.

J. W. Schultz, a merchant of Pasadena, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday, giving his debts as $2795.53 and his assets as $70. John J. Fries of Fresno, filed a pauper affidavit in connection with his petition to be adjudged bankrupt in the local Federal Court yesterday. His debts amount to $2541, and he has two five-ton Packard trucks, stated to be worth $4000 to pay the same. The story of a speculation in potatoes and onions that went wrong is told in a bankruptcy petition filed in the United States District Court Tuesday by Jim I. Osuga of Santa Maria. His debts amount to $36,863.28, nearly all of which are open accounts for onions and potatoes. Of this sum $24,363.28 are unsecured. The assets are given as $1175.21, a part of which is listed to be exempt. J. R. Hufbauer of the Owens Valley Lumber Company, doing business at Bishop, was the subject of a petition for an involuntary bankruptcy filed in the District Court Tuesday. The petitioning creditors are E. U. Wheelock, with a claim of $7370.71; Show & Hamer, $516.39, and Val Haresnape, $1249.13. Various acts of bankruptcy are charged against Hufbaker.

HOLD YOUTHS FOR AUTO SALE FRAUD.

ONE NABBED HERE, OTHER'S TAKEN IN ARIZONA; SAY MACHINE STOLEN.

A bill of sale for an automobile which is said to contain several irregularities yesterday brought about the arrest here of C. W. Chase, 21 years of age, and landed J. W. Faulkin in the City Jail at Flagstaff, Ariz. The two young men are charged with having obtained $3200 in cash from C. L. Johnson of this city by fraud and, officers say, probably will be indicted by the Federal government for driving a stolen automobile from one State to another.

Chase was taken into custody by Detectives Ervin, Hickok and Raymond of the Automobile Club of Southern California after they had examined a machine and a bill of sale in the possession of Mr. Johnson. A changed number on the engine led the officers to wire to Peoria, Ill., and they discovered that the automobile was stolen in that city more than a month ago.

The officers say they learned that the two youths stole the automobile in Peoria and drove it to this city, changed the engine number, forged a bill of sale and then sold it to Mr. Johnson, who made the purchase in good faith.

The People and Their Daily Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

A Charm That Always Works.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

A voice is heard crying in the wilderness warning against the danger of psychoanalysis for women because, it is alleged, the female patient almost invariably falls in love with the practitioner.

Naturally, of course. Inevitably. For if there ever was anything that met a long-felt want with women it is psychoanalysis because it gives them an opportunity to talk endlessly about their secret thoughts, and to tear their emotions to tatters to somebody who will listen to them, because he is paid to listen.

The one sure road to a woman's heart has always been through taking seriously what she thinks she thinks. That is why preachers have always made such a hit with the fair sex. Other men have regarded women as ornaments, as plaything, as servants, and pitched their conversation on these planes, but clergymen were bound to regard them as reasonable and responsible human beings, and to talk to them accordingly, and this serious discourse has invariably proved a three-times-winner.

Perhaps the reason that women are so keen about their souls is because they are more or less of a luxury to them. The so-called heathen still deny women a soul, and even among Christians, women were only accorded the possession of souls by a few votes after a long and acrimonious debate on the subject in a church council.

Be that as it may the fact remains that a woman's soul is the most interesting thing on earth to her. Her favorite indoor sport is vivisecting it, and she will fall in love with practically any man who will assist her in the operation.

Men think that the thing that a woman likes to be praised for is her beauty, and so when one wants to capture a fair one's fancy he tells her that her eyes are like violets drenched in dew, that her hair is like midnight or sunshine, as the case may be, and that her figure has the lithe grace of a willow wand, all of which is good as far as it goes, because any sage that chants our charms is music in our ears.

But this kind of praise is mild 2.75 tipple, pleasant to the taste but with no kick to it, for every woman knows that every man says the same thing to every female he wishes to please. Moreover, every woman is accustomed to having her looks praised. It's old stuff, but the flattery that has the punch to it, that is strong drink that goes to her head and sweeps her off her feet, is when a man talks to her about her real self, and betrays an interest in knowing what she really thinks and feels.

There are very few men who ever have intelligence enough to find this out, but the few who do are lady-killers for fair. It doesn't make any difference how old they are, how fat, and bald-headed, and bay-windowed they are, or how long-haired, and shabby, and unsuccessful they are, they have a charm to conjure with that no woman can resist.

A woman's good time in the world depends pretty much upon the favor of men. As a girl, she must have beaux and dancing partners. As a woman she must marry. As a middle-aged woman she must be the sort that men like to take in to dinner and find congenial to talk to. It is a very dull woman who does not discover early in the day that she must adapt herself to men, and not expect men to adapt themselves to her, unless she wants to be a wallflower as a girl and to become a bachelor maid.

Also she discovers that if her conversation is going to interest men it must be exclusively about them, and that she must put the soft pedal good and hard on her own ego. After they have handed her a few compliments about her looks the talk fest must be concentrated on their own hopes and aspirations, and experiences. They haven't the faintest interest in hers, and don't pretent to have.

And a woman's husband is equally incurious about what is going on in that never-ceasing workshop under her marceled hair. It's odd, when you came to think of it, that a man never tries to find out how marriage and motherhood have reacted on the woman at his side, or investigates what spiritual changes are taking place in her as the years go by.

I have talked this subject over with hundreds of married women and they all say the same thing, that their husbands are satisfied as long as their houses are well managed, and they are pleasant and amiable. The husbands show no interest in their wives souls.

Practical and sensible women accept this as one of the disillusions of matrimony. Weak and temperamental women make fools of themselves over their clergymen or doctors, or create scandals by running off with some rascal who will talk to them about their emotions and in whom they think they have found a soul mate.

All of which is a pity, and makes one wonder that men do not think it worth while to recognize that woman cannot live by bread alone. She must have spiritual sustenance as well as bodily.

Certainly husbands would find the game of psychoanalyzing their wives a novel and a thrilling one, for it would surprise many a man to find out what the woman who sits across the table from him three hundred and sixty-five days a year really thinks and feels, and in many a case he would be amazed to find out what her real opinion of him is.

Once upon a time I interviewed a bigamist who had had fifty-seven wives, each of whom he had robbed of her little fortune and deserted. I asked him what was the secret of his ability to win a woman's heart. "Aw," he said, "it's no trick. I just talk to them about themselves. Every Jane falls for it. And if you ask her advice you've got her sewn up in a sack. She's yours whenever you want her."

So it is. Try psychoanalysis on the girl you are courting. And keep it in the house for home consumption after you are married.

LETTER TO "THE TIMES."

Early History.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the issue of The Times (November 28) was a most interesting article relating to the sale of valuable books recently found concerning the early history of California. This appeals to every student of history, but especially so to those interested in California.

Among the documents is the "Bear Flag" article written by Robert Semple. I have been told by his niece, daughter of John S. Bradford, who was a member of the first Legislature of this State, that her uncle, Robert Semple, wrote the first Constitution of California and that he with her father whittled out of wood the type upon which that constitution was printed and that this constitution is preserved somewhere in the State. John S. Bradford left a diary giving an account of those early days which is now in the possession of a grandchild living in Chicago. Mr. Bradford was a resident of Springfield, Ill., and I personally knew him there. The name of Robert Semple will ever be associated with the early history of Illinois.

MRS. HARRIET S. WALKER.

Blames the Climate.

SAN GABRIEL, Dec. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There seems to be so much discussion about the women of Los Angeles having such poorly-shaped ankles—and dressing in such atrocious taste—that I feel like adding my wee voice to the multitude and giving what I deem a partial explanation of the same.

If you will observe the store windows, you will see only "calf" shoes. The ankle must be supported through childhood to woman hood—especially with stout people—if it is to remain trim and well-proportioned—and the good climate of Los Angeles enables the women to indulge in low shoes the year around—to the detriment of the ankles.

In all sunny climates the love of bright color predominates and it is so much easier to demonstrate the lack of good taste in combining bright colors than in somber colors that the cold climates demand. The uniforms during the war for example, prevented many a man from showing his poor taste in dressing—as he was obliged to conform to a well-chosen garment. So much I regret to say it, we must blame this glorious climate for the "poor ankles" and "atrocious taste" or at least for the opportunity of exhibiting the same.

G. A. COOPER.

Still Sticks to It.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28.—[To the editor of The Times:] I am satisfied that Miss Mary F. Pearson in her letter of November 22, in answer to my letter published in The Times issue of November 12, mentions the name of Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt was not an abstainer. He, a character and a true type of American, was a lover of liberty as much for himself as for his neighbor, rich or poor. I think he would have fought prohibition—any way I can say that his two sons, Kermit and Archibald Roosevelt, are both members of the "Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment," whose founder is Capt. Stayton; its place and address is Washington, D. C., at 511 Eleventh street, N.W.

Its aim is the immediate appeal of the Volstead Act and the fight to a finish against prohibition in order to curb fanaticism, the rule by the minority and to restore liberty, prosperity and self-respect to America.

I have no doubt that a noble lady such as Miss Pierson, ready for any sacrifice for a noble cause, will, when enlightened, acknowledge heartily her error of doctrine and join as a member of the women's division of the association. It is a matter of pride for any one to be a member of such an association when you know its aim and the quality and distinction of its members.

To protect the weak! That is great indeed—but to protect them at the expense of virtue and character, that is excessive!

If a nation must take care of the weak, it must always live up to the standard of the strong; striving to develop virtue among the weak. When a person is sick, would it be reasonable to force the healthy one to adopt the regime of the sick? No, of course not.

To those who pretend that nature is bad and that art being its imitation serves its bad influence and consequently asks its abolition, the great moralist orator as a comparison, says: " . . . it would be the same as to forbid the use of drinks because there are numbers of individuals who become drunk, or that the sun is bad for all because it hurts weak eyes." So it is with liquor.

If we supposed for an instant that the drys were capable of inforcing their law, what kind of a people should we have? Abstainers by force or ignorance, they would become an easy prey for the conqueror. No use for him to have cannons, guns or poisonous gases. Barrels of whisky would do the work easily among a population of ignorant, incapable of virtue of self-control.

I am not ashamed to tell what the Master did and if I referred to the sayings of the Pharisees, it was as a proof of my assertion that Christ really used wine, not grape juice.

EUGENE ALKER.

Too True to Life.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Permit me to call the attention of the Los Angeles public to a motion picture that is showing at one of our playhouses. This picture is "The Affairs of Anatol" and was recently prohibited in Pasadena by the worthy board of censors of that fair city.

Now, this action of the Pasadena censors is of especial importance to the people of Los Angeles at this time, when an effort to establish a censorship of pictures in our city is being pushed so zealously by certain factions, so let us sit up and take notice while the rare opportunity of watching the operation of such a board in a near-by city is available.

Go and see this picture if you have not already seen it; study it critically and not, if you can, a single feature that any person possessing a sane, normal mind could adjudge capable of harming an individual of the public. Then picture to yourself, if possible the minds of the censors who condemned it, and if you succeed in doing this you will have a very quaint and comical mental picture to add to your recollections of the bizarre types that are occasionally encountered even in the most highly cultured communities.

As a matter of fact, the photoplay in question is one of the most artistic productions that has graced our screen. The story, while devoid of any unusual strength, is sprightly and entertaining and is featured by acting that is distinctly above the ordinary, while the whole is so utterly devoid of objectionable features that one can only hazard a guess as to what the objections of the talented censors were based upon. And our guess would be that it was the failure of Anatol in his attempts to reform the little blonde butterfly whose part was acted so inimitably by Miss Wanda Hawley that aroused their ire.

This dainty episode constitutes the one piece of fine realism in the play and is most natural and commendable. If this character had carried out her good resolutions and established her feet firmly upon the narrow path of respectability—if she had thrown all her gew-gaws into the river and turned her back forever on her bachannalian tempter, the censor would doubtlessly have been appeased, but the story would not have been so true to life.

Now, right here lies the clew to some questions that have vexed the artistic minds of the world for years. What is at the bottom of this craze for censorship? Why is the United States teeming with people who spend their lives looking for "objectionable features" in every piece of artistic work that is put before the public, and what is it in the concrete, that they seek to condemn?

It is not "immorality;" it is realism. No literary artist in this country ever succeeded in giving us a convincing piece of realism without arousing a storm of protest from our long-haired brethren who persist in finding muck everywhere except in their own narrow and distorted minds.

A.: In thirty-four States there are laws which are regarded as satisfactory for death registration, since at least 90 per cent of all deaths are registered. In eleven States there are laws under trial, which will probably be found satisfactory, while in South Dakota, Nevada and Arizona, the laws do not secure good death registration. Agreement between the coal operators and miners, do the nonunion fields have a right to cut wages before March 31, 1922?

A.: The so-called Washington Agreement is not involved in this question, as that agreement was to run until the end of the war, or until March 31, 1920. The agreement now in effect is that established under the award of the Bituminous Coal Commission following the strike of November, 1919, and it runs until March 31, 1922. The question of its application to nonunion fields is a matter of controversy. The West Virginia nonunion operators have generally held that the award of the com-

My breath cannot last long." A little later he said: "I feel myself going. I thank you for your attentions; but I pray you to take no more trouble about me. Let me go off quietly. I cannot last long." He gave instructions to his secretary regarding his burial, felt his own pulse and died without a struggle.

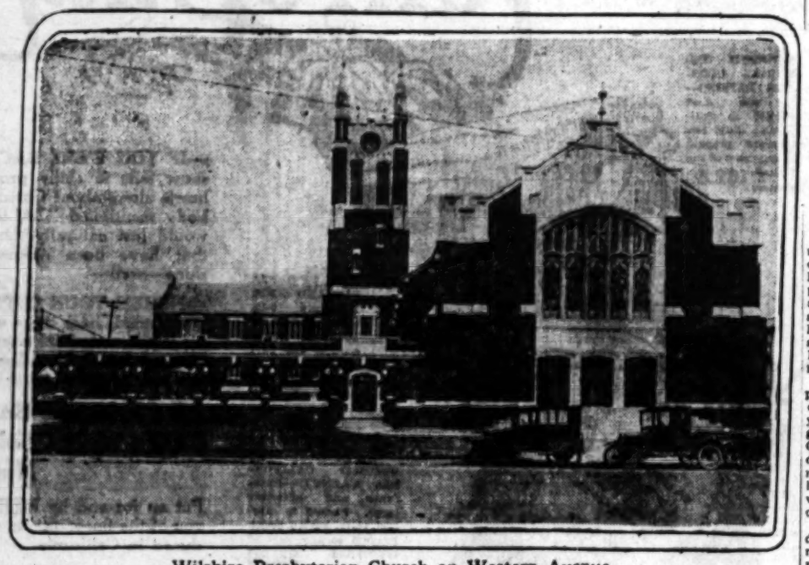
NEW .. CHURCH .. WILL .. OPEN .. SUNDAY.

Dedication Ceremonies to Be Held in Recently Finished Structure.



Wilshire Presbyterian Church on Western Avenue.

THE new Wilshire Presbyterian Church at Third street and Western avenue will be opened Sunday for the first of ten dedication ceremonies, it was announced yesterday. The structure was completed this week, and is now ready for occupancy.

Presbyterian ministers from Seattle, Pasadena, Santa Ana and other cities will assist at the services, which will continue through the week ending Sunday, the 11th inst., with three great meetings. The 11th inst. will be dedication day, and Presbyterian congregations throughout the city have been invited to attend the gatherings at which all Presbyterian ministers of Los Angeles are expected to be present.

Dr. John Albert Eby, pastor of the church, will preach the opening sermon next Sunday. Other ministers who will preach at the meetings during the week will be Dr. Mark A. Mathews of Seattle; Dr. Robert Freeman of Pasadena; Dr. J. A. Stevenson of Santa Ana; Dr. Hugh K. Walker, Dr. Herbert Booth Smith and Dr. Campbell Coyle of Los Angeles.

The opening service will be at 10 a.m. Sunday. A community rally of all Wilshire churches is scheduled for 3 p.m. Services will be conducted each evening of the week, except Saturday, and a Presbyterian rally will be held at 3 p.m., on the 11th inst., in which all Presbyterian churches near Los Angeles have been invited to take part. Dr. Mathews will preach at the final rally, where dedication of the new structure will be completed.

The building was completed at a total cost of about $300,000, under direction of Robert H. Orr, architect. The location and architectural beauty of the structure are considered unsurpassed.

The building has two distinct units, one a Bible-school building of forty rooms, finished and furnished in most modern style to accommodate a school of five departments. There are three floors and more than 1000 students can be given instruction. There are women's parlors, Boy Scouts' rooms, girls' clubrooms, restroom, church offices, choir room, session and trustees' room and a banquet hall in which 300 can be seated with auxiliary dining-rooms seating 200 more. Two large kitchens complete the equipment.

The auditorium contains more than 800 seats. The finish is quarter-sawed oak, as are all the pews and furniture. Provision has been made to install a $30,000 pipe organ which will be fully concealed.

The church tower and the cloister are considered two of the distinctive features of the structure. The tower rises to a height of 100 feet, built largely of white terra cotta. It contains a mammoth clock with four dials, each with a diameter of six feet. Large searchlights illuminate the tower and the clock dials.

The cloister connects the two arms of the L-shaped building. It was constructed of brick and terra cotta with openings along its entire length. Its architecture is similar to that of the old missions.

Woman, Long Ill, Ends Life in Park Lake.

Believed to have been despondent because of a long illness, Mrs. Sarah Bailey, 58 years of age, of 523½ South Daley street, ended her life by drowning in the lake in Lincoln Park. The body was discovered by police officers at dawn yesterday. It was removed to the John R. Paul undertaking establishment.

Mrs. Bailey was reported missing Tuesday evening after she had left her home without telling her relatives. A search of the city made by the police failed to reveal any trace of her until the body was found floating in the lake.

Coroner Nance declared a certificate of suicide will be signed today. No inquest will be held.

DEATH TAKES SLAYER OF PICTURE BRIDE.

M. Takimo, 129½ East First street, who shot himself in the body after having killed his wife early last Sunday, died in the County Hospital yesterday morning. Takimo, according to the police, shot his wife, a picture bride, following a quarrel and then shot himself. The body was removed to a Japanese undertaking establishment and will be buried today. No inquest will be held.

BACK TO OLD JOB.

R. H. Charlton, who for fifteen years was supervisor of the Angeles Reserve, but who in March, 1920, was promoted to the post of inspector of the Angeles, Santa Barbara and Cleveland national reserves, yesterday resumed his old place, succeeding Shirley Allen, who has retired to go into business in Eagle Rock.

JURY VIEWS MURDER SCENE.

Burch Calm on Visit to Beverly Glen Where He Is Accused of Slaying Kennedy.

erected. Mr. Stoddard was pointing out the different trees and objects in his map and finished his sentences by saying, "And the stain on the steps is visible and you can note it as you walk down, about half way down the steps."

Mr. Woolwine: The bailiff has just said, "This is the stain." Is there any objection.

Mr. Schenck: None whatever.

The Court: It has already been called to the attention of the jury.

The bailiff: Judge, the jurors want to know if there has been any test made of the stain there, whether they have established the fact that it is blood or not.

The Court: It will have to develop later in the testimony.

Then one by one the jurors stepped over the stain and walked down the road, toward the spot where Attorney Schenck wanted them to glance down the boulevard and note the fact that there is a straight sweep of the road for more than 100 yards.

FOUNDATION LAID.

Five witnesses whose testimony laid the foundation for the State's case and gave vague hints of what is expected to be brought out in subsequent sessions were on the stand during the morning.

Chief from the standpoint of heart interest was the father of the slain man. His name was called dramatically by Mr. Woolwine, who opened his case without the customary statement to the jury to outline what the prosecution hopes to prove. The actual taking of testimony on the sixth day of the trial began after a motion by Mr. Schenck to have witnesses excluded from the courtroom was denied by Judge Reeve.

Mr. Kennedy's story to the jury as brought out by questions from Mr. Woolwine was substantially as follows:

"My name is John D. Kennedy. I live at 2859 Francis avenue.

"My business is insurance with offices in rooms 416-418 Laughlin Building, on the south end of the building, with the rooms facing on Broadway. The signs on the windows can be seen from Broadway, and three windows face on that street.

"I have been in Los Angeles for nineteen years. I am the father of J. Belton Kennedy and I last saw him at 12:30 p.m. on Friday, August 5, when he left the office. I never saw him alive again, but I viewed his body. He was the only son and the only child. He was 28 years old."

Mr. Woolwine then paused while he selected two photographs from among the State's evidence. They showed the head and shoulders of J. Belton Kennedy as he looked in death.

"I will show you these," Mr. Woolwine said, "and I am sorry I have to. But are these photographs true likenesses of your son?"

Mr. Kennedy slowly looked at the pictures, and in a low voice, replied, "They are."

"What was your son's business?" he was asked.

"He was a clerk in my office and had been there for four or five years, possibly longer."

Mr. Kennedy then identified as correct likenesses two other photographs, one of the Laughlin Building and the other of the interior of the Kennedy office, showing the room formerly occupied by the younger Mr. Kennedy.

When this examination was completed, the prosecution passed the witness to the defense, but Mr. Schenck waived the right to ask any questions. Mr. Woolwine announced that Mr. Kennedy probably will be recalled to the stand later in the trial.

UNDERTAKER ON STAND.

W. H. Strother of the Strother & Dayton undertaking establishment, was the second witness. His testimony was that he had been called about 9 p.m. on August 5, and that he went to the Kennedy cottage in Beverly Glen, where he found the body of a man, later identified as J. Belton Kennedy. Several persons, including two deputy sheriffs, were there. The body was on the steps, leading from the road to the cottage, he said.

During his direct examination by Mr. Woolwine, Mr. Strother identified two wads from a shotgun shell and a single small shot. These three exhibits were taken from the body, he stated. The shot came from the wound on the left side of the neck; just below, and a little behind the left ear, and there, too, was sticking one of the wads. The second was in the wound.

On cross-examination, Mr. Schenck questioned the witness carefully about the time element. Mr. Strother was unable to fix definitely when he was called or when he arrived at the cottage. His recollection is that the first call came shortly before 9 p.m.

County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner followed Mr. Strother on the stand. He also identified pictures of Mr. Kennedy, described the wound and declared the young broker had been killed by a charge of shot in the neck. The wound was of such a nature, he declared, that death was instant. The spinal cord was severed—it "was minced," the witness said. He described the victim as being five feet, seven inches tall and weighing 150 pounds.

The cross-examination was directed chiefly to establishing the course of the shot through the neck, Dr. Wagner testifying that some had gone completely through. There were no powder marks, he stated.

R. Stagg, a photographer, identified the pictures introduced as the first four exhibits for the State. They were then admitted—over the objection of Mr. Schenck—as exhibits.

An additional picture, showing the Russell Hotel, was also introduced at this time. The prosecution contends, that Burch occupied a room in the Russell Hotel from which he could look into the Kennedy office and that he kept a vigil there several hours each day for more than a week preceding the murder.

Frank W. Stoddard, deputy county surveyor, was the fifth and final witness. He displayed two maps, drawn to represent the immediate vicinity of the Kennedy cottage, and spent more than half an hour explaining all the points to the jury. At the conclusion of his testimony in the morning, final arrangements for the trip to the glen were made and all other witnesses were excused until this morning.

FOR TAB ON AUTOS.

Ordinance Planned to Force Tourists to Register.

The Public Welfare Committee of the City Council yesterday afternoon agreed to recommend to the City Council that an ordinance be adopted compelling owners of automobile tourist camps to maintain a register of the tourists at the camp, together with descriptions of their automobiles. The police asked for the measure to assist them in tracing stolen cars arriving in Los Angeles.

THREAT TO BURN HOME IS DIVORCE CHARGE.

Ida L. Wade threatened suicide and then declared she would burn down the house, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Archie Wade. The complaint, which was prepared by Atty. Edward Gilbert, states that the couple were married Nov. 2, 1920, and separated on last November 29.

FACTORY WORKER ENDS LIFE.

Domnick Pisciotta, aged 27 years, employee in a macaroni factory here, ended his life in his room at 514 South Eastlake avenue early last night by firing a bullet into his brain, according to a report at the Lincoln Heights Police Station. The body was found by Pisciotta's landlord, F. E. Cornish. A note in Italian was found with revolver beside the body.

BURCH SORRY FOR KENNEDY.

Murder Suspect Expresses His Sympathy for Father of Slain Man.

"I am very sorry for him. It must have been a hard thing to do. Those grewsome pictures brought heartaches to him, I'm sure."

This was the comment of Arthur C. Burch immediately after John D. Kennedy, father of the man for whose murder Burch is being tried by a jury, left the witness stand in Judge Reeve's court yesterday morning.

Grim-faced and still as death, Burch sat at the counsel table and watched Mr. Kennedy testify. His usually mobile face was set and his lips tightly pressed.

Half an hour later Burch was smiling.

This is very funny, this map business. It is all as clear as mud; everybody is looking on and no one knows what it's all about," he said when maps of Beverly Glen and the murder cottage were placed in evidence.

TUMOR FOUND IN POST-MORTEM

Surgeons Discover Cause of Loughery's Troubles.

Pasadena Hopes to Have a Glimpse of Foch.

Jury Trial Demanded Upon Film Issue.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Nov. 30.—A post-mortem examination by surgeons of George H. Loughery, who died here yesterday at the home of his parents, former City Commissioner and Mrs. W. B. Loughery, revealed a tumor inside the skull and is believed to solve the mystery of the strange disappearance of one of Pasadena's most promising young men.

George Loughery, scion of a prominent Pasadena family, captain of the football team during his years at Pasadena High School, graduate of Oregon Agricultural College, suddenly and mysteriously dropped from sight at the beginning of a successful business career, leaving no word to his beautiful wife, Mrs. Mabel Siebert Loughery, or his parents.

Young Loughery and his wife, daughter of a pioneer Pasadena merchant and an heiress, were apparently most happily married. Loughery was an athlete not long out of college and was thought to be in perfect health. It was a baffling mystery.

Months, then several years elapsed. Mrs. Loughery sued for divorce on the ground of desertion.

George Loughery served eighteen months in the 319th Engineers in the World War. He went to Texas and there started a career anew, rising to be manager of production for the Gulf Production Company.

Several weeks ago he became ill in Texas and was subsequently brought to his parents' home here. His malady was puzzling and did not yield to treatment. Death came this week. An autopsy revealed the cause and explained a mystery.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Turner & Stevens, conducted by Rev. Robert Freeman.

MAY SEE FOCH.

Pasadena may catch a glimpse of Marshal Foch late Sunday afternoon. Local American Legion officials have completed tentative arrangements to drive the war hero from Los Angeles here, pass over to the Colorado-street bridge and down Orange Grove avenue to South Pasadena, where he will lay the corner-stone of the new clubhouse of the Legionnaires of that post. The present schedule provides for the arrival of the marshal at the Colorado-street bridge at 4:30 o'clock. He will board his special on the Santa Fe tracks, South Pasadena, after the corner-stone laying.

D. H. Schuhmann, assistant general manager of the Turner, Dahnken & Langley theater circuit, demanded a trial by jury when arraigned in Police Court today on a charge of violating the local censorship ordinance in showing "The Affairs of Anatol" at the Raymond Theater in defiance of the censors. The demand for a jury trial was made by Phillip Cohen, attorney for Mr. Schuhmann. Police Judge F. C. Dunham set the trial for December 16. The theater magnate was not required to put up bail for his appearance.

PISTOL EXPLODES.

Marcellus Meredith, a student at Pasadena High School, is in the Pasadena Hospital, as the result of the accidental explosion of a revolver. The bullet passed through his left leg, causing a painful injury. He was trying to extract a shell when the weapon was discharged. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. M. R. Meredith of Lake avenue and Mendocino street.

Many distinguished divines of the Baptist church will be here tomorrow to take part in the funeral services for Dr. Augustus H. Strong, noted Baptist theologian, educator and writer, who died here yesterday. He was president emeritus of the great Baptist theological seminary at Rochester, N. Y., and a close friend of John D. Rockefeller.

Taking part in the funeral services will be Dr. James A. Francis, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Los Angeles; Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, Los Angeles, and Dr. John Marvin Dean, the new pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pasadena. The body will be taken to Rochester for burial.

STANDARD OIL BUYS IN PACIFIC COMPANY.

CALIFORNIA COMPANY ACQUIRES MINORITY INTEREST; BRITISH IN DICKER.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—K. R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Company of California, announced yesterday that his company had acquired a minority interest in the Pacific Oil Company. He declared that for many years part of the oil from the lands that were transferred to the Pacific Oil Company on its formation had been delivered to the Standard Oil Company of California for use in its refineries, and this fact, coupled with the desirability of strengthening the American ownership of Pacific, had led his company to purchase the interest referred to.

It is reported that British interests, represented by the Royal Dutch Company, also had been negotiating for the property.

Give me HOLSUM please!

Everywhere the people are asking for quality.

In the times just passed, when money was more plentiful, we did not care so much what things cost, as long as we got what we thought we wanted. But now that times have changed, we are more concerned with what we get for our money.

Today a Parisian label in a garment is not what most of us are looking for. We want something that will wear. Motor cars with fancy trimmings are not so much sought after as those that will stand up under hard driving.

It is the same with the more staple things of life. In bread, for instance, PEOPLE ARE BUYING HOLSUM TODAY BECAUSE THEY KNOW THEY GET THEIR MONEY'S WORTH.

They know that FOOD VALUE, not price, makes bread cheap or expensive. HOLSUM, judged by food value, actually costs less than lower priced breads.

HOLSUM, scientifically made of the very best materials, ranks first in food value and quality among 192 of the nation's finest breads.

Let your money buy real food value for you—Say HOLSUM to your good grocer

What Women's Organizations Are Doing.

GOOD PICTURES SHOW PROFITS.

Eliminate Criminal Things, Says Club Head.

Film Reforms Advocated by Women's Leader.

Silent Drama League Urged for Action Here.

BY MYRA NYE.

"'It will hurt business!' That is the cry we heed too often, when we club women start in to see what we can do to improve the kind of pictures that are shown," said Mrs. J. B. Stearns, president of the Woman's City Club yesterday. "It is a specious argument for it has been shown again and again that the good kind of pictures such as we want are the ones that bring the biggest office receipts." Mrs. Stearns enumerated a dozen or more pictures which have made money for their producers and are at the same time clean and wholesome.

The meeting at the Ebell Clubhouse was a gathering of women representing the clubs, the women's organizations in the churches, the public schools, the W.C.T.U. and the Congress of Mothers, called to form a league for the silent drama similar to the Drama League of America.

"The wasteful, salacious and criminal things in pictures must be eliminated," Mrs. Stearns continued. "We can spread a good propaganda by showing the good."

OPPOSING VIEW.

"I do not agree with Mrs. Stearns on that point," said Mrs. Martha Law. "There is a proper place for evil on the screen. I wish I could take every boy and girl who has taken the first glass of a drugged drink to see Pauline Fredericks, where she pictures the degradation of a human being by drugs. But evil should never be fascinating. It must be depicted always as terrible and horrible as it is.

"Another thing worse than pictures is to have a procession of virtually naked bathing girls go through the audience and the nakedest one win a prize, as they did at one of our big theaters a short time ago. Someone ought to tell those foolish girls that that is not the path to fame, but to infamy," said Mrs. Law.

OTHER SPEAKERS.

Among others who spoke of the need for film regulation were Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley, vice-president of the C.F.W.C.; Mrs. Charles Holland, chairman of motion pictures for the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs; Dr. Jessie Russell of the Woman's City Club; Mrs. Nettie Stiefel of the Council of Jewish Women; Nellie Peck Saunders, who presented plans for a similar organization, which was organized in Detroit, and Miss Clara Morley.

Mrs. Stiefel made the motion for organization and Mrs. Holland, who was temporary president, authorized to appoint a nominating committee named Mrs. Exley, Mrs. Law and Mrs. Bruce Case; committee to draw up constitution and by-laws, Mrs. Charles McKelvey, Mrs. Arthur Wier, Mrs. Stearns, Mrs. T. B. Bowling and Mrs. Fred Kuck; ways and means, Mrs. George Pettingal. These committees will present their reports at a meeting December 19 at 2:30 p.m. in the Walker Theater Building.

Mrs. John Osgood acted as parliamentarian yesterday and Mrs. Cass as temporary secretary, both members of the Woman's City Club in which the idea originated.

Long Beach Ebell.

Plans are complete for the Long Beach Ebell Christmas shop, to be held at Hotel Virginia the 1st, 2nd and 3rd inst., for the benefit of the building fund for the new clubhouse soon to be erected.

The 1000 members of the club are busily engaged in final preparations for the many attractive booths. Afternoon entertainments are being planned, card tables will be available and tea served. One of the unique features in connection with the shop will be a dolly fair, in which every little girl in Long Beach may participate. They are to dress their dolls to represent many different countries and premiums will be awarded to the best doll in each section. Mrs. E. C. Jones, president of the club; Mrs. W. E. King, chairman of the building fund, and Mrs. Ray Millett, chairman of the shop, are sparing no pains to make this one of the biggest affairs of the kind in Long Beach for the season.

European postwar conditions were analyzed in a lecture given Monday by Dr. Lewis Thurber Gulid, who recently returned from a trip abroad. Other features of the program were a group of songs by Dudley Chambers, tenor, and a piano solo by Miss Mae Gilbert.

"The Essentials of Americanism" is the subject of an address to be given tomorrow by Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam, pastor of the Church of All Nations of Los Angeles.

The women of the County Farm were the guests of the Ebell Thanksgiving Day. Cars with drivers were sent out to the farm and the guests were brought in to a fine chicken dinner. An entertainment followed and the visitors expressed their appreciation of this yearly celebration. The affair was under the supervision of Mrs. Carrie E. Rankin, chairman of the social service committee.

Postponement Notice.

The public meeting announced by musical organizations and educational leaders of the State, county and city for the 3rd inst. on the mezzanine of Pantages Theater, Seventh and Hill streets, has been postponed one week to prevent conflict with preparations for the civic reception to Marshal Foch. Among those to be present at the meeting the 10th inst. are Mrs. Margaret McNaught, State commissioner of elementary schools, County Superintendent of Schools Keppel and Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, superintendent of city schools.

Three Arts Club.

Lady Korbyski Edgerly will be the speaker at the regular Saturday afternoon tea of the Three Arts Club at the clubhouse at 1001 West Washington street this week. Other December dates for teas are the 3rd, 10th and 17th.

THE NEW.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

They Are Wearing:

Wristlets or "pulse warmers," as our grandames called them! So writes Aimee from Paris. Ah, no! Banish your picture of knitted, six-inch, broad, practical affairs for preventing Jack Frost's nipping. Nothing so sensible as that. These latest developments of an old-time idea are of fur or of velvet and are merely ornamental, or first of all so. They are, in fact, a sort of oversleeve, drawn on gauntlet fashion, above the sleeve of the blouse or frock. If you elect, you may wear a collar to match these accessories, which are a passing Parisian fad.

The extremely long vestee of white suede or velvet, to enliven the extremely plain tailleur which is a necessary part of milady's winter wardrobe. This underling is often permitted to occupy the center of attention, extending below the coat or jacket and enhancing, by its daintiness, the entire suit. It is not for the woman who seeks economy in her expenditures.

Patriotic Gifting.

Have you thought how you may make your Christmas gifts doubly effective? Possibly in the past, you have been led to purchase those lovely California gift boxes, containing fruits and nuts of native raising; but you have done this simply because you believed them the best gift for the money, the most pleasing to recipients. This season, give a thought to the fact that in sending these, you are also boosting our beloved Southern California. Therefor, double the number of such gifts, as you go over your list of Christmas sendaways. Adopt a new motto for this loving presentation. "Let it speak of California."

This Week Buy:

Your own gift and by it take heed to your Christmas dressing. Not turkey dressing, but your own attire for the many social functions certain to be upon your lists for the festive season. There are genuine bargains in the offing just at present; frocks, gowns, coats, evening wraps and even millinery and underthings at so many fractions off that one would believe it the week succeeding Christmas, did not one scan the calendar.

The one more article of furniture for Christmassing the home. Entertaining one's friends at holiday times should mean that the day is set for furbishing the living-rooms and the chambers, as well as dining-room and kitchen. The dinner will taste better when served amid new and interesting surroundings, don't you think?

Home Brew Glasses.

Not spectacles through which you view some makeshift to create the mental impression that it is the real stuff. No, I refer to that lovely stem ware, glasses through which one looks darkly or lightly, as the case may be, at the home brew made by the latest zippy recipe. The man tells me he sells more sideboard glasses than ever before. Draw your own conclusions, and your own ale or other decoction.

Ivory and Simu-ivory.

Real carved ivory for your purse, if that purse be so inclined. If, on the other hand, the purse be less lavish in its contents, you may content yourself with a simulated ivory, carved by machinery. But, either way, these purses are lovely and look like treasure trove for future heirlooming.

Beauty Warning.

Whatever you may do toward beautifying your complexion, be certain, absolutely sure, that the cream you use contains no lanoline. This base is certain to produce a nice thick set of "burnsides" along your jaw, or a delicate mustache or chin-burns.

How Baby Sleeps.

Is baby snugly wrapped in footed slumber garments these chilly nights? The best of these were invented by a physician who knew well the wants of little ones and the care needed for their protection from cold at night. Bare knees are all right when at play, but after the sandman's visit warmth is a positive need for health.

Metal Cloth Cleaner.

It is not always the cost of an article which proves its value. There are those metal cloth cleaners for use in cleansing and in polishing the woodwork. Any housewife would greet one of these with joy, as she unwrapped her Christmas gifts. Saves work and accomplishes the end efficiently. They are, one might say, an enlargement of the magic mit idea.

Silver Fringed.

Ornaments for evening slippers include buckles or discs of silver, with silver fringe all around.

By the way, no girl but would like a set of slipper buckles from off the Christmas tree.

The Gift Aluminum.

Nothing save aluminum could have put the tea-kettle and its sister stew-pans in the class of gifty boxed Christmas things. Once you see those practical articles, in their holly sprigged habitats, you wonder why it was not thought of, long ago; for truly they are beautiful as well as useful. Growing upon her branch of the Christmas tree, or for the going-to-housekeeping bride, a set of these shiny utensils would be sure to give happiness.

Abloom on Fashion's Tree.

A blouse of ivory white charmeuse is buttoned high and trimmed with fine pin tucks.

An uneven hem, high neck-line and long armhole are features of a dinner gown of crepe.

A striking gown of black crepe has enormous white crepe chiffon sleeves wide and long.

The short jacket introduced earlier in the season is having a tremendous vogue in Paris.

A new sleeve is slashed from shoulder to wrist and is caught into a cuff of metal or embroidery.

A dinner gown of white chiffon is worn over black charmeuse and trimmed with fringe of monkey fur.

Very charming are the bouffant lines of a dance frock with slender seamed bodice and full, gathered skirt.

Afternoon frocks are lavishly trimmed with long silk fringe and fringe of narrow silk braid, or chenille.

The skirt of a frock of black crepe de chine has velvet motifs to which are attached sections of pleated chiffon.

Very often the sleeves of a dress are of a contrasting material, and may be of different color from that of the dress.

A frock of black brocade is embroidered in terra-cotta, has huge, long Japanese sleeves, and drapery in the front.

BOYS' COAT.

A durable woolen material should be chosen for this pattern which shows a sensible style for a boy's overcoat. It is a single-breasted style and may be worn with or without a belt.

FAIRY FOOTBALL.

This may be as exciting as a game played on a regular football field. As it is to be fairy-size, several small objects must be prepared in advance. Chief among these are two eggs (in case one should break)—brown eggs—which represent the footballs. The eggs must be emptied by making a small hole at each end and blowing the contents of the egg into a bowl. The sections and lacing of a real football are indicated with pen and ink.

Miniature goal posts are made by sawing two spools in half and inserting a small round stick in the center of each half spool. Two goal posts, which may be painted for more realistic effect, should be placed at each end of a long table, with a "gridiron" on lines of a football field, chalked between the opposing ends. One end may be called Army and the other Navy, in which case Army and Navy colors should be fastened to the respective goal posts.

One player is chosen for Army captain and another for the Navy team. Each captain selects his own players. The first player blows the fairy football toward the opponents' goal. Next a player from the other end blows the ball back, and so on, a player from each team in turn blowing the ball back and forth until one side sends the football through the opposite goal. This scores six points. Then the ball is returned to center and play starts again. The captain of the team having highest score at the end of the tourney may be awarded an Army or Navy pennant.

School Motors Stolen; Pupils Get Vacation.

Blessings and misfortune came at the same time yesterday to the Willowbrook School, according to a report to the Sheriff's office by A. Herskind, a trustee of the institution. The misfortune was to the school trustees who have to find two new one-horsepower motors for the heat distributing system. Burglars entered the school during the previous night and took the motors and various small articles.

The loss of the motors resulted in the school being closed until new motors can be secured. The children went home on an unexpected vacation. Supt. Manning of the criminal department of the Sheriff's office is investigating the burglary.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 14—Here's a Magical Sex Indicator.

The performer introduces a finger ring with a string attached to it. He holds the end of the string with the ring dangling beneath. Without any motion on the part of the performer the ring begins to swing in a circle. At the request of a spectator the ring stops and hangs motionless. If a lady places her hand beneath the ring it will swing back and forth; if a gentleman does so it will swing sideways. As soon as their hands are removed the ring will again swing in a circle.

There is really no deception to this interesting little experiment; it depends entirely upon nerve control or unconscious muscular movement. When the performer relaxes his muscles the invisible vibration causes the ring to describe a circle; by tightening his muscles and setting his mind upon it, he can cause it to stop or swing like a pendulum in whichever direction he desires.

Says She Went Home and Found Drunken Party.

While Evelyn I. Olson was escorting her mother to the train, a number of friends of Edward A. Olson dropped in and when the wife returned to the family home she found a drunken party in progress, according to a divorce suit filed yesterday by Mrs. Olson. Other incidents in the couple's married life were cited to show that a divorce is desirable.

The complaint states that the Olsons married July 26, 1913, and separated July 7, 1917. Mrs. Olson says that after the party at which she unexpectedly appeared, she heard her husband "date up" another woman on the telephone. Mrs. Olson told her husband that if he went out with the unknown woman, she would leave. Mr. Olson went out and Mrs. Olson left. The wife is represented by Attorney Leonard G. Shelton.

ARMED, MASKED PAIR HOLD UP CAFE MAN.

Armed with revolvers and wearing masks, two bandits early yesterday morning held up and robbed F. McGiffick as he stood behind the cash register in his cafe at Santa Monica Boulevard and Western avenue. They escaped with $125 in cash. Mr. McGiffick told police detectives that the bandits drove up to his cafe in a large automobile and after the robbery leaped into their machine and sped away.

LONE VOYAGER LOST, IS FEAR.

Mariner in Yawl in Path of Gales, Say Ship Men.

Six Vessels Report No Sight of Small Craft.

Fear for the safety of HARRY Pidgeon, interpid mariner, who set sail alone from Los Angeles Harbor in the thirty-four-foot yawl Islander on November 18, for the Marquesas Islands, was expressed at the harbor yesterday. It is feared by local shipping men that Mr. Pidgeon's frail little craft may have encountered the heavy storms that have been playing havoc with Pacific Coast shipping.

Belief that Mr. Pidgeon may have been lost is heightened by the fact that the captains of six cargo vessels that have entered the local port in the past few days declared upon their arrival that they had not sighted Mr. Pidgeon's yawl. All six of the vessels covered the same course that Mr. Pidgeon announced he intended to follow, but in the opposite direction, and shipping men believe that at least one of these vessels should have sighted the lone mariner in the Islander.

NAVIGATION STUDENT.

Because of his lack of practical experience in navigation and because he acquired his knowledge of nautical things at the Public Library at Los Angeles Harbor, Mr. Pidgeon had been dubbed the "Public Library Navigator" by shipping men, and there were many old-time mariners at the harbor who predicted at the time of his departure that his lack of experience would cause him to fail in his attempt to reach the South Seas.

Mr. Pidgeon, it is said, spurned the offer of a sextant with which to determine his position from day to day and declared that he would depend solely on his compass in steering the 3000-mile course to the Marquesas.

PLANS OF VOYAGE.

Mr. Pidgeon set sail from the harbor with the expectation of making the trip in forty days. He was to rely on westerly winds to take his little craft over a southwesterly course to the equator, where he planned to strike directly west with the trade winds.

Last year Mr. Pidgeon made his first sea voyage when he sailed to Honolulu in the Islander with a companion, the trip requiring twenty-eight days. On the return trip the craft struck heavy weather and it required forty-three days to bring his boat back to the California coast.

CIVIL SERVICE BODY TO ACT ON PORT JOB.

ATTORNEY NOTIFIES HARBOR BOARD OF CITY LAW IN HEFFNER CASE.

C. Y. King, secretary of the Board of Civil Service Commissioners, announced yesterday that the board undoubtedly will take action at its meeting next Tuesday regarding the steps taken by the Board of Harbor Commissioners to employ, without a civil service examination, E. A. Heffner as assistant to President McKee of the port board at a salary of $300 a month.

City Attorney Stephens and Assistant City Attorney Leach, who acts as legal adviser of the board, yesterday notified the commission of the charter provisions that to hire anyone for services of "an occasional or exceptional character, without civil serivce examination," the approval of the Board of Civil Service Commissioners must be secured, which action must be ratified by the City Council.

The harbor board meets tomorrow morning, when it is expected to take action on the letter from the City Attorney's office.

The board at its meeting on Tuesday, by the votes of President McKee and Commissioner Kibbis and over the objections of Commissioner Richards, instructed the City Attorney to prepare a ninety-day contract between the board and Mr. Heffner, who was one of the active campaign workers for Mayor Cryer last June. The preparation of the contract by the City Attorney has been held up until the harbor board instructs the City Attorney about the action to be taken.

The harbor board at its meeting tomorrow is expected also to take action in accepting the resignation of Capt. Ingr Pedersen as traffic manager of the port. Capt. Pedersen asked that his resignation take effect today, but he will remain at his post until the board has acted on his resignation.

FOSSIL TO BE DUG UP.

Work of Uncovering Bones of Huge Whale Begins Today.

Work of excavating from the Palos Verdes Hills west of Los Angeles Harbor the petrified portion of what is thought to be a prehistoric whale discovered there forty years ago by Roman D. Sepulveda of San Pedro, is to begin this morning, according to an announcement made yesterday by Prof. William A. Bryan, paleontologist of the Museum of Natural History at Exposition Park.

Following an examination of the gigantic skeleton Saturday, Prof. Bryan estimated its age to be more than 2,000,000 years. A half-dozen men will be employed to dig up the bones, which will be carried to Los Angeles on trucks and there reassembled in the museum at Exposition Park.

WILL DISCUSS SITE FOR SEWER FARM.

The city engineers of Pasadena, South Pasadena and Alhambra will confer with the County Supervisors this morning regarding the location for the new sewer farm. It is stated no definite step will be taken at this conference, but that maps will be presented and studied and a decision made later.

LONG AGO the dandy of Los Angeles cultivated an extravagant beard rather than be bothered with unhandy shaving utensils.

THE modern man makes his morning shave a pleasure with a dependable razor and Colgate's "Handy Grip" Shaving Stick.

There is a variety of Colgate Toilet Waters and Extracts for all perfume lovers. Among favored scents are Monad Violet, Splendor and Lily of the Valley.

"The Aristocrat of Soaps"

Cashmere Bouquet Toilet Soap

PERFUMED with sentiment and romance, the crystallized fragrance of the flower-scented breezes of Cashmere, quaint as a Cashmere shawl—the soap her grandmother treasured, the soap she will treasure as a gift.

Large size twenty-five cents per cake, 3 cakes in box

Medium size ten cents per cake, 6 cakes in box

(Other Colgate Soaps in attractive boxes at prices from twenty-five cents to one dollar and a quarter.

A Personal Thought for His Personal Needs

By way of thoughtfulness isn't it a good idea to anticipate everyday needs of brother, uncle, father, or "himself"? This box of toilet needfuls is called "MEN'S COMFORT PACKAGE". Its attractive contents are Colgate's Talc Powder, "Handy Grip" shaving stick, a "Refill" stick, a large tube of Ribbon Dental Cream and a bottle of Lilac Imperial Water.

"Handy Grip" Shaving Stick

A USEFUL gift with an ever-renewing "thank you" every time it lends its luxurious convenience to a man's morning shave. A "Handy Grip" Shaving Stick with Refill Sticks is a man's size gift.

Lilac Imperial Toilet Water

A SHAVING afterthought that is a gift with forethought—a rather subtle appreciation of a man's fastidiousness.

Colgate's Shaving Cream

NINE out of ten chances, if he uses shaving cream, Colgate's is his favorite and the tenth chance is that he will make it his favorite as soon as he makes its acquaintance.

As we make Shaving Stick, Powder and Cream we can give this impartial advice: For luxurious, moist lather which means an easy shave, there's nothing like Colgate's Shaving Stick—and the "Handy Grip" adds greatest convenience and economy

In Stocking Tops—

Ribbon Dental Cream

To every laddie and lassie some little gimcracks of course—but always a tube of useful Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream in its cheery red box. The delicious flavor is Mother's best helper in forming the important habit of regular tooth brushing.

POLICE ISSUE STILL ON DECK.

Council Body Again to Take Up "More Men" Pleas.

Will Consider Letters from Several Organizations.

Agree to Buy Additional Motor Equipment.

The "more police" question will come up again before the City Council this morning, members of the Finance Committee having disagreed yesterday afternoon on the disposition of petitions from the Lions' Club, Business Men's Co-operative Association, Greater Los Angeles Improvement Council, Morals Efficiency Association and other organizations asking that the department be increased by the employment of more men.

Chairman Mushet stated at yesterday's meeting of the committee that he is opposed to burying these communications in the files, and that he is in favor of adding 200 more patrolmen to the department at once.

President Criswell and Councilman Mallard agreed to recommend that the communications asking for more policemen be filed "without prejudice" for later consideration.

URGES ATTENTION.

Councilman Mushet, in his minority report, which will be read to the Council this morning, declares that as the City Auditor has reported that there will be sufficient funds available during the remainder of the fiscal year, 200 patrolmen should be added to the force at once.

Six votes are required to adopt Chairman Mushet's recommendation. When Councilman Mushet recently proposed a similar resolution, it had five votes, and citizens have since been urging Councilman Sanborn to favor the resolution so that it can be adopted. Councilman Conaway, who voted in favor of Mr. Mushet's resolution, has been absent from the city, and should he return in time to attend today's session, and should Councilman Sanborn vote for it, with Councilmen Allan, Conaway, Langdon, Mushet and Sparks, the additional patrolmen which are being urged by the Board of Police Commissioners, Mayor Cryer and Chief Jones, as well as civic organizations, will be added to the department.

TO BUY MOTORS.

The Finance Committee unanimously agreed yesterday afternoon to recommend the appropriation of $9600 for the purchase of eight new motorcycles, the rebuilding of twenty-one motorcycles, and the purchase of four Ford automobiles for the use of the Police Department.

The Finance Committee also agreed to recommend the appropriation of $1140 for the installation of sixteen fire hydrants in the Westgate district.

Seventy New Policemen on Beats Today.

Seventy new police officers were added to the Police Department yesterday afternoon and will be patrolling beats today. They spent yesterday learning how to make arrests, investigate accidents and present cases in court from Police Capts. Adams, Spellman and Heath. The new officers were also addressed by Inspector of Police McDowell and Chief Jones. Today the men will be sworn in as peace officers and given police badges.

Former Head of Chicago Transfer Firm Dies Here.

Frank Parmelee, member of the pioneer Parmelee family of Chicago, and formerly president of the Parmelee Omnibus and Transfer Company, died at the Ambassador yesterday following an illness of several months.

He was 74 years old and, according to his widow, had been declining in health for more than a year. Heart trouble, aggravated by a touch of pneumonia, caused death.

Mr. and Mrs. Parmelee have resided in Los Angeles the major portion of the last ten years. Mr. Parmelee disposed of his heavy interests several years ago and retired from business. He gave generously of his wealth to charity. Prior to taking up their residence at the Ambassador, they lived in their spacious home in Mabery Heights.

Mr. Parmelee leaves a widow and Mrs. Charles W. Wheeler, a sister in Chicago. The body is at the Pierce undertaking rooms, and probably will be sent East for burial.

STADIUM CAMPAIGN IN SAN BERNARDINO.

RESIDENTS URGED TO BUY SEATS IN PASADENA ATHLETIC PLANT.

A campaign for the sale of seats in the athletic stadium to be built next year by the Tournament of Roses Association in Pasadena was opened yesterday in San Bernardino by Frank G. Hogan, who is conducting the drive in the Los Angeles district with the co-operation of A. J. Bertonneau and George H. Frost.

Mr. Hogan was one of the speakers at the annual duck dinner given Tuesday night in San Bernardino by the committee in charge of the National Orange Show to be held there in February. Mr. Hogan discussed the plans for the Pasadena stadium and urged all of the residents of Southern California to support the movement to make the project a success.

Seats for the stadium will be on sale this week until Saturday noon in the lobbies of the First National Bank and the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank. The drive in this city will continue in other banks for three more weeks for the convenience of local patrons of the Tournament of Roses, who desire to purchase stadium seats.
